

BOARDMAN

Mrs. Guy Barlow suffered a painful injury recently when a kettle of boiling water was spilled on her ankle. She has scarcely been able to get about but it is healing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson of Ellensburg, Wash., stopped recently at the Ballengers on their way home from Gladstone. Mr. Anderson is agent for the Standard Oil company at Ellensburg and his wife will be remembered by many of the old timers here as Bertha Burns, daughter of Professor Burns who was one of the first principals.

Neal Bleakney of Echo was pretty badly hurt last week when his shoulder was struck by the fly wheel of a gasoline engine. At first it was thought it was fractured but an X-ray examination disclosed a dislocation. Mr. Bleakney is a son-in-law of Mrs. H. H. Weston and has often visited here.

Kenneth Boardman was severely burned on one hand Thursday evening while tinkering with the gas lamp. He opened it enough so a small quantity of gas escaped and ignited. He carried the lamp out of doors before it exploded but was pretty badly burned while doing so.

Mrs. Glen Hadley and baby returned Thursday from Oregon City. Glen remained there until the highway is cleared so that he can drive the car home. Hadleys went down before Christmas and were one of the motoring parties who had their plans changed by the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spring were dinner guests at the Herelms Saturday night. Five hundred was played in the evening.

Mrs. Leo Root and her committee entertained at the Silver tea last Wednesday at Root's hall. It was a most delightful occasion and the 16 ladies who braved the slippery walks were more than repaid. Routine business was transacted. A most delicious luncheon was served by Mesdames Root, Guy Barlow, Fortier, Harvey, Huff and Claude Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Smith extended their hospitality on Thursday evening, having three tables of 500. After a spirited game it was found that Mrs. Jack Gorham received high score for ladies. An elaborate luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Johnson. Present were the Gorhams, Rands, Springs, Prices and Ballengers.

On Tuesday evening, January 24, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Blayden will be honored with a party given in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. This is a community gathering and all the grown-ups are invited to attend. Those who cannot leave their children at home will have places provided at some of the homes in town where they may be left for the evening.

Dan Ransier has been working in the office at Irirrig for some time. They are getting statistics compiled, making out tax lists, showing those who have paid and those who have not.

Nick Falier and wife and R. Wamer, who went to Portland to spend New Years, became snow bound by the storm.

Mr. Darr, who spent the holidays at Moscow, Idaho, returned this week. He found on arriving at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Martin Anderson, that he had become a grandfather, a baby daughter having arrived the early part of December. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were married at Heppner about a year ago. Mr. Darr also visited his other daughter, Faye, who is teaching at Sanders, Ida.

A congenial group played 500 Saturday night at the J. C. Ballenger home. A most delightful luncheon was served. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price, Miss LaVelle Leathers, Miss Alice Falk and S. H. Boardman. The latter received first prize and L. G. Smith, consolation.

Mrs. O. B. Olson was quite ill with an attack of flu last week. Mrs. L. E. Marschat has been suffering with a badly infected leg as a result of iodine poisoning. Some time ago she bruised her leg badly and slight infection resulted to which she applied iodine which poisoned the wound and necessitated a trip to the doctor.

Miss Leathers was an Arlington visitor Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kunzie and children were guests Sunday evening at the Paul Smith home for dinner. Five hundred was the diversion of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson were hosts at a beautifully appointed dinner Friday evening. Covers were laid for eight. Present were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Johnson and little Buddy, Delbert and Rachael Johnson and the host and hostess.

Boardman friends were interested to hear of the arrival of a baby daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Macomber at Condon on Sunday, January 8.

A double header basketball game will be played in Boardman on Saturday night with boys and girls teams competing against Ione. Last Saturday Boardman and Fossil met here with disastrous results to the Fossil team. The score was 33-7 in favor of Boardman.

Dexters have moved from the Hatch place to the Albright place. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spagle and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Packard and son were guests Sunday at a lovely dinner at the J. L. Jenkins home.

Several Boardman Grange members motored to Ione Saturday in spite of the icy roads to attend Pomona.

The Home Economics club met at the home of Mrs. Erice Dillaugh on Wednesday, January 11. An excellent repast was enjoyed by those in attendance.

Bert Richardson was taken to Hermiston Thursday to be under the doctor's care. He has been ill for some time with bronchial asthma. Mrs. Richardson accompanied him and remained for several days.

Much interest was shown by local farmers in the farm account school held under the direction of Professor Besse of O. A. C. cooperating with County Agent C. W. Smith, last Friday at Roots hall. A number of the ranchers took the books home conscientiously expecting to keep track of the income and expenditures for the coming year. The chief difficulty here seems to be that of making the income exceed the expenditures.

Lee Mead feels that he is justly entitled to a large share of the Hickman reward by virtue of having loaned his typewriter to one of the reporters on the train which carried the captive to Portland. Said reporter carried the typewriter on to the city and forgot to return it. After wiring to the railroad office, the newspaper office, and in fact every place but the office of the sheriff and chief of police, it was located at the Western Union office and returned a few days later. Lee Mead without a typewriter was like a ham without eggs, or apple pie without cheese.

WILL FINISH T. B. TESTS.

Dr. H. H. Green, assistant state veterinarian will be in the north end of the county Saturday, Sunday and Monday to complete the tubercular testing for this section, we are informed by County Agent Smith.

MONTH'S MIND FOR LATE

REV. THOMAS J. CANTWELL

A very impressive memorial service was held in St. Patrick's church on January 4, the occasion being the thirtieth day since the Reverend Father Thomas J. Cantwell had died. The deceased had been the pastor of the Heppner Catholic church for more than nine years and had recently gone to Ireland to visit his sick mother, a venerable woman of some 90 years of age, when the final summons also came for him, after a very brief sickness. Reports from Wexford, Ireland, where Rev. Father Cantwell was buried, state that his funeral service was the largest that the city had ever witnessed.

The memorial service here in Heppner for Father Cantwell consisted of a Solemn High Mass celebrated by the Rev. Thomas J. Brady, who a few days after Christmas had been appointed pastor of the local Catholic church. Assisting Rev. Father Brady were the Rev. Father James O'Hagan, pastor of the Catholic church in Lakeview, as deacon of the mass, and Rev. Father Edw. O'D. Hayes, pastor of the church in Dufur, as subdeacon. There was no sermon connected with the impressive ceremony. The Right Rev. Joseph F. McGrath, D. D., Bishop of Baker, Oregon, presided on the throne, attended by the Rev. Father Scaphin Nesdale, O. M. Cap., of Hermiston, as chaplain to His Lordship. The chant of the mass was rendered by the Priests' Choir, consisting of Revs. John A. O'Connor, pastor of the Baker cathedral, P. J. Stack, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Ontario, Michael J. Dalton, pastor of the Baker missions, and Paul J. Kern, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church, Pendleton.

Mrs. Walter E. Moore, the organist of the church, presided at the organ. The very severe weather unfortunately prevented a greater number of priests from assisting at the service as the roads along the Columbia river were blocked by heavy snows, rendering travel impossible.

The service was one calculated to live long in the memory of those who witnessed it. The congregation attended this farewell service of their beloved pastor in large numbers, many coming from a great distance to testify to their grief over Father Cantwell's departure. Many non-Catholics attended the service as Rev. Father Cantwell had a large circle of friends among those not associated with the Catholic church. The memorial service occurred at 9 o'clock sharp and the church was filled with pious worshippers. The draperies left in the church since the burial service of a month before bore their silent testimony to the passing of the beloved priest. There will yet remain the annual solemn service for Rev. Father Cantwell this December.

Rev. Thomas J. Brady, who has been administering the parish since last early September, and who was lately appointed pastor of the parish in Heppner, initiated with a generous donation, a movement among the congregation to erect a monument in the church to the memory of Rev. Father Thomas J. Cantwell. This memorial will be blessed some time in early February and will consist of a life-size statue of St. John Baptist Marie Vinney, the patron of parish, known also as the Cure of Ars.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.
By H. Jackson Perry, evangelist. There is always a question as to the good citizenship of a man who will not unselfishly seek the best means for bettering the condition of the most people. A good woman is the only thing worth marrying. Theories and ideas are often guilty of infidelity. Voltaire built a church to God in France; do you oppose to the Bible and preface its legitimate effects? Some people say, "I wouldn't live in a community that doesn't have a church." Yet they never contribute to the support of one, nor grace (?) it with their presence. Can you believe that the type which makes these words sat themselves up? Can you believe that worlds bug themselves together and move themselves, as one grand whole, through space? Can you believe that the correlation of things in nature was without design? That such adaptation as light to the eye "just happened so"? Do you sometimes say that you prefer to live where there are churches and Sunday schools, and at the same time constantly find fault with the Bible and religion which creates such things? If such is your course, are you strictly honest? Come, let us reason together!

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.
Rev. Thomas J. Brady, Pastor. Next Sunday morning at 8:30 there will be the parish high mass at which the pastor will distribute Holy Communion and preach. The pastor and the congregation heartily extend an invitation to all classes of people to attend this service. Confessions will be heard before the mass.

In the evening at 7:30 there will be rosary, litany, instruction, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The annual financial report of the parish was distributed last Sunday and parishioners throughout the county who desire the same may have it upon application in person or in writing to the pastor. It is a very creditable showing for the parish.
