A BLUFF PUT ACROSS.

SHALL a city have the right of self-government, or shall it be governed by peddlers? Heppner has an ordinance on its statute books providing that peddlers other than those selling produce raised or articles made by themselves, shall pay a license fee of $60 a year, and that all such, peddling without a license, shall be liable to a fine besides.

A certain peddler was found Sunday selling his wares without a license. He admitted the charge and paid $15 for a quarter of a year's license. A fine was mentioned, also, for which he was liable under the city statutes. This he said he would pay, but that the city would have to pay for his wares. His wares were perishable. If he was fined he avowed he would lay out the fine in jail, his wares would spoil while he was thus confined, and he would sue the city for damages. He was not fined.

We are not judging the city officials who had the case in hand. We do believe, however, that a grave issue is at stake; namely, the right of self-government by a people. A city is a recognized division of government, having powers all its own, so long as they do not conflict with state and federal laws. Within its bounds it is master of its own destiny.

Federal government regulates interstate commerce while the state has the right to deny circulation and sale within, or entrance into its bounds of commodities not as prescribed by statute. Through the powers of nation and state the subdivisions of county and city have been protected to a degree against fraudulent selling of different commodities. But in the final analysis it is up to the latter to assert their rights if they are to maintain their status quo in the scheme of government, and protect their interests.

The state has given the counties a right, which, if made use of here would probably banish the peddler problem altogether, insofar as farm produce is concerned. That is the appointment of a county fruit inspector, whose duty it is to see that all produce sold complies with the state regulations. The state says that various produce shall be packed in certain ways, that any and all packaged, boxed, sacked, or barreled produce shall be plainly and truly marked as to grade and quality, and that goods not so marked shall be condemned and so treated as to make them unsalable. It is the practice of many produce peddlers, say those acquainted with the game, to buy the culls and off-grades from commission houses, fruit and vegetable associations, and the like, and to sell the stuff as first grade, thereby making their profit. This practice would very soon be shown up by a local inspector, and it would be made so unprofitable that those peddlers doing it would either be forced out of business or into more legitimate methods.

However, so long as we do not have an inspector, and the produce peddlers continue to come, some with goods as represented, and some not so good, we believe they should not be made to pay for the privilege. They offer unfair competition to our local merchants, upon whom we must depend all the time, except when a peddler comes along. They sell at a price that makes it impossible for the local merchant to carry first grade produce and compete. In the end it is the consumer who suffers as much as the merchant, as the consumer cannot rely on the quality of the fruits and vegetables he buys. If the local merchant is assured his market he can afford to handle the very best produce available, the consumer can be assured of the quality; and the price, governed by the turnover, would very probably not be increased.

GOOD ROADS FIRST.

Pendleton East Oregonian. NOW that the Oregon-Washington highway is completed between Pendleton and Heppner local people have an opportunity for a loop drive that is interesting. The drive can be made from Pendleton to Heppner, returning via Heppner Junction and the Oregon trail, or the trip can be made the other way around according to one's pleasure. Those who have not made the drive along Willow creek in recent years have something ahead of them for the highway leads through good country.

When the Pendleton-John Day highway and the Heppner-Spray roads are completed we will have further access to the interior with good results for everyone. People in the John Day valley will then have access to Pendleton, Heppner and other towns now remote to them because of poor roads. We will then be able to drive south to the John Day valley and return via Spray and Heppner if desired or make the trip to Spray first and return via Long Creek and Ukiah.

Needless to say the construction of these roads will be long delayed should the $3 license fee bill pass,

Dr. Frank Crane Says:

ENDURANCE

IMPORTANCE depends on endurance. Endurance is the retention through time of an achievement of value. Thus says Whitehead in Science and the Modern World.

Endurance is the real test of a man. It is something that we can all have. If we can do nothing else we can hang on and remain the same.

Sometimes this is mere pignheadedness and stubbornness. But in this world of fluctuating values and fluctuating men it is a pleasure to find something stable.

One of the strongest pleas of the church is that it has endured throughout the ages and is still going strong.

Whatever has endured for a length of time must have something to it.

The life of an organism depends upon its ability to adjust itself to its surroundings. Life is a tragedy for the unfit.

A man is in perfect health when he can breathe the air, enjoy the sunshine and partake of the food that is offered him, and his lungs, his stomach and his other organs are attuned to his environment.

If they become out of tune or, in other words, he becomes unfit, nature eliminates him.

Emerson says that the best test of a book and the finest critic was time, and advised us, as a whole, to read no book that had not been printed twenty years.

Time has dealt harshly with some popular favorites, while others have survived.

Some of the popular songs our ancestors sang are still popular. No one could tell at the time which they were, but the passing of the years has tested them.

It is perhaps a wise thing not to build a monument to a man before he is dead. Time must have its opportunity to pass upon him.

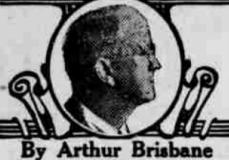

There is something in mere endurance, and the man who is able to stick a thing out to the bitter end has the advantage over one who is constantly changing.

Do not stick to a thing simply because you have chosen it, but after choosing it wisely keep your feet firm and do not vacillate.

thus cutting off revenue for the highway department and forcing direct property taxpayers to pay off the $35,000,000 in highway bonds still outstanding.

Eastern Oregon will be best served by retaining our present license system for our road program is not yet complete. Good roads are more important than a low license fee. Bad roads mean too much depreciation on cars and they take all the joy out of travel.

Something New in Taxes. Marriage a School. Save a Little. Protect Natural Resources

A learned legislator says married women ought not to work, and if their husbands earn as much as $2,000 a year, the woman's earnings should be taxed 20 per cent.

Under old laws a husband could take what his wife earned; even now in England he controls the children that she produces.

For the State to rebuke her industry by taxing her earnings 20 per cent would be something new.

Bolshevism decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois or capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

Bolshevism interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a Power far above Bolshevism, just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes Communism an impossibility.

Dr. M. S. Taylor wires from Chicago, "Contribute your opinion on legalizing companionate marriage."

That question was settled when Eve appeared from Adam's rib.

Woman is naturally monogamous, is determined to make man so, will do it eventually, and marriage is the school of monogamy.

A companionate marriage expresses doubt, proves lack of the confidence on which marriage should be based, and while it is perfectly legal now, divorce being legal, it is a poor, cold-blooded sort of marriage.

Fortunately, the average young couple have no doubts whatever, and only regret the marriage cannot last a million years, just to prove it.

Sometimes they are disappointed, nearly always through the husband's fault. But meanwhile the children have been born, blessed with the influence of trust and affection.

The value of a man depends on the respect of his father and mother for each other.

If husband and wife start marriage in doubt, each leaving the door open for escape, the children's inferiority will reflect their parents' "I may decide to quit" marriage.

The important thing in marriage is the quality of the children, and the next generation.

William Fox has bought 307 more theaters, seating 350,000 for $100,000,000.

Twenty-five years ago Fox got into the theatre business because his employer refused to raise his $17 a week salary. Fox was just married.

The employer said, "Not only I can't raise your $17 a week, but you are getting $2 too much. I am going to pay what you are worth, $15."

Fox had saved $580 on $17 a week, got control of a tiny moving picture theatre that could take in $7.30 when packed. Now he has 356 theatres.

Always save something. If you have brains it will increase. If not, saving will keep you out of the poor house, anyhow.

The Prince of Wales, hopefully discussing trade revival, wonders whether human beings invented earrings or trousers first. Man's passion for adornment, he thought, probably produced earrings before clothes.

He is right about that. Darwin tells of Patagonian ladies, living in a climate often bitter, that would not think of coming from their huts to let a stranger see them until they had painted their faces and arranged their hair. But they did come out without a stitch of clothing.

A British nobleman, by the way, owns a pearl earring taken from the ear of King Charles the First after his head had been cut off.

The United States pays more toward the expenses of the League of Nations than any other country except Britain—although we are not in the League. That's unusual. We paid more than any other nation for that big war—about fifty-nine million dollars a day while we were in it, and we lent the allied fighters ten thousand millions of dollars—yet it wasn't our war.

Our troubles will come in America when our natural resources are exhausted—coal, iron, oil, forests, etc.

At present we are busy using, wasting. Some day we may be busy regretting. Emil Kekich, sent to Sweden by Hoover's department of Commerce, reports that Sweden has solved her forest problem.

The annual growth of timber in Sweden exceeds the annual cutting by 100,000,000 cubic feet, or 1,200,000,000 lineal feet.

BOARDMAN

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gorham entertained a number of friends at 500 on Thursday evening. Four tables were played. At the call of the game Mr. Houghton was high and Royal Rands low. The hostess served delicious refreshments. Playing with the host and hostess were Messrs. and Mesdames Nick Fuller, Royal Rands, D. F. Ranney, L. G. Smith, How White of Umatilla, C. Blayden and Mrs. Ray Brown and Mrs. Marguerite Johnson.

John Pruter was 63 years old Sunday, February 12, so Mrs. Pruter prepared a wonderful turkey dinner for the occasion, and also had Mr. and Mrs. Eck Warren and nephew Donald as honor guests. Mrs. Pruter is a famous cook and this dinner was a masterpiece. The fortunate guests were the Farleys, Slavin, Broyles, Warrens and Elmer Westfelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Macomber and baby of Canada and the Farley's mother, Mrs. W. H. Macomber, came over Saturday and were guests at the Nate Macomber and Mofford homes. On Sunday W. H. Macomber and sons and Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Bailey of Grandview, Wn., came over and were guests at the Macomber home. Mrs. W. H. has been at the Albert Macomber home since December 2, returning to her home in Grandview on Sunday.

J. O. Saldern died Thursday at his home in Portland. He was 84 years of age. He was the father of Mrs. J. T. Henley, a former Boardman resident now living in Lew Anderson for the year.

C. Ballenger and daughter Maxene went to The Dalles for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jenkins and Elvira and Mr. and Mrs. McCarty of La Grande were guests Sunday at a lovely dinner at the Howard Bates home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Imus have gone to Cecil. Mr. Imus has been working on the Smith-Duggan bair for some time and Mrs. Imus went to cook for the crew. Ono Imus is with her sister, Mrs. Gross.

A telegram stated that Joseph Gilbert had accidentally shot himself at Seattle last week. His wife is a niece of Mrs. Dan Ramsier and both Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert have visited here at the Ramsier home. He left a wife and two small children.

Clifford Olson was home over Sunday from The Dalles where he is working with the signal crew.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dillon have both been having a gripe last week. Mrs. E. Skibo was ill and the Farleys were also indisposed. All are better at present.

Mrs. F. A. Fortier and daughter Norma returned Thursday from Condon where Norma has been under the doctor's care. While there they stayed at the Arthur Allen home. Mrs. Allen and baby came with them for a visit at the Jess Allen home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marschal motored to Pendleton Saturday to consult a specialist. Mr. Marschal has been having some eye trouble.

Mrs. Dan Ramsier went to Hermiston Friday to have a troublesome tooth extracted. The novocaine affected her heart and a physician was called in. She was quite ill for a day or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Pattie came Thursday from a pleasant motor trip to Astoria, Tacoma, Kelso and other points of interest. Mrs. Pattie and two children remained with her parents for a longer visit. Pat having gone back to Condon on Saturday.

The basketball game between Arlington and Boardman had to be cancelled Saturday night because of the inroads of chicken pox and measles in the Arlington high school. This was a disappointment to the many fans but the game will be played later. Plans had been completed for entertaining the Arlington teams with refreshments and a dancing party so the high school students held their party without the special guests. Various musicians contributed music for the occasion.

The financial gain was almost nil. A few were enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. John Brice, Claude Myers, Mrs. Myrtle Bailey and son Art of Arlington, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. N. J. West, Mr. and Mrs. H. Weston. The Warrens plan to leave shortly. Mrs. Warren going to Jefferson, Ore. to visit her mother and Mr. Warren to go to the city.

Some scoundrel walked away with four sets of harness from Walter Knauff's barn last Friday night. The harness party so the high school collared with him. This was certainly a villainous trick for any one to do right at the time spring work starts. Their return would be appreciated.

John Brice shipped a carload of hay this week.

The garage gave a dance Friday night at the auditorium of the Fletcher's orchestra of Pendleton playing. Only a small crowd attended and the cost of the music is so exorbitant that the financial gain was almost nil.

Last fall Walter Knauff shipped 500 pullets to the Hawaiian Poultry association at Honolulu. Word came that these birds which were part of a shipment, all arrived in fine shape.

A congenial group played cards at the Geo. Gross home Thursday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Pattie, Ivy and Earl Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Smith of Seattle came Sunday for a short visit at the Geo. Gross home.

Chas. Barlow and wife of Heppner, who went to Portland to get a new model of the Ford, stopped Sunday for a short visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barlow. On Sunday the demonstration car will be in Boardman for the day.

Asta and Elnora Skobo, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Skobo, were four years old on Monday, Feb. 13, so several of the little folks were asked in for the afternoon. The cakes were lovely, there being a cake for each twin, and the table was very pretty with its viands and a cunning little toy house for each child as a favor. Little tots present were Gordon Gross, Harry Humphrey, Elizabeth Kristensen, Orthin Herdine, Asta, Elnora and Eira Skobo. Growups who enjoyed the party as much as the children were Mesdames Humphrey, Hubbard, Richardson, Hermin and Kristensen.

D. S. Barlow and wife of Heppner were over-Sunday visitors at the J. F. Barlow home.

Bert Richardson who has been ill with bronchial asthma for some time went to Hermiston again Monday and the doctor thought it advisable to keep him there for a course of treatments again.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barlow motored to Heppner Saturday to visit the latter's grandparents.

Henry Gorgier has been ill with pneumonia and has been at the hospital in Hermiston. He is a brother of Mrs. Leo Cooney.

Boardman is again to have a barber shop. A young man will open a shop in the old post office building soon.

The auxiliary will put on a movie Saturday night at Boardman theater, "In Old Kentucky." The usual price 35c and 15c will be charged.

On Saturday, March 3, a movie will be given, followed by an old time dance. "The Canadian" is the film selected. Proceeds will be used for the fund for drilling a well at the cemetery.

The basketball teams will meet Ione Friday night on the Ione floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spagle were hosts at a pleasant card party Monday evening. Four tables were in play and at the close of the game it was found that Earl Olson had the highest score and Mrs. Pat Pattie the lowest. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

The American Legion Auxiliary met with Mrs. Ralph Humphrey Thursday evening. The regular business was transacted and it was also voted to put in tennis courts in town, the movie given Saturday night to help pay expense.

Daughter: "Mother, at the circus the human skeleton tried to kiss me."

Mother: "Daughter, I told you to beware of strange men."

Kind Old Lady: "And what are you going to do when you grow up, my little man?"

Orchin: "Foller in me father's fingerprints."
