CITY DADS DISCUSS VITAL PROBLEMS

New Street Grader, Fire Truck, Water Meters In View.

Realizing that much of the value of their recent investment in street improvement will be lost if maintenance is not provided, the city council at its meeting Monday evening was of the mind that the city should have a grader of its own to use for this purpose. Members of the council will look into the matter and if found at all practicable they will purchase a power driven machine. This was but one of several matters of importance under discussion.

W. E. Pruyne, superintendent of the water department, reported his investigation on the advisability of metering the water supply, his opinion which met with the corroboration of all, being that this is the only just, equitable and businesslike method of dispensing the water. The main drawback at the present time is the expense of installation which, according to Mr. Pruyne's estimate would exceed $4000. The matter will be gone into further, and findings on this as well as other matters will be presented at a special meeting of the council on Monday evening, March 19.

That the city should have a better truck to haul its fire fighting equipment was also the consensus of opinion, and steps will be taken to see what can be done. It is known that the old sprinkler has passed its period of usefulness, and the city dads may purchase a new truck to haul the fire fighting apparatus and convert the old fire truck into a sprinkler.

As all the projects in sight would aggregate a considerable investment, it is probable that all may not be undertaken immediately, the council having in mind the supplying of the most crying needs first, or so much as can be done with funds available.

G. L. Corey, representing the Sherman Electric company, was present and discussed the making of a new city lighting contract. The city will make a considerable saving on its light bill, due to the new service. A contract running for a period of three, five or ten years was asked by Mr. Corey, lower rates being granted for the longer terms of years. Little objection was seen to making a ten year contract to obtain the best rate, and the contract will probably be drawn up in this form to be presented later for signing. A saving of some $200 a year may be made on city lights, depending on the size of lamps wanted, and the term of the contract. Heppner is getting the same rate as other cities supplied by the Pacific Power and Light company.

The regular routine of business was also transacted at the meeting.

DISPOSES OF BUSINESS HERE.

E. H. Buhn, who has been engaged in the jewelry business at Heppner during the past two years, has disposed of his business to J. O. Peterson of Pomeroy, Wash., who took possession on Monday. Mr. Peterson comes to Heppner well recommended as a workman and repair man, having been in the employ of a jewelry firm in Pomeroy for the past three years or so. Mr. Buhn reluctantly leaves Heppner, where he and Mrs. Buhn have made numerous friends during his sojourn of two years, but he was enabled to better his business relationship by taking the management of the large jewelry establishment of his brother at Boise, Idaho, in which he purchased an interest, hence the change at this time. Mr. and Mrs. Buhn and their son Edward will leave the coming week for Boise, where the best wishes of their Heppner friends go with them.

TOWN PLAYS LAST GAME.

The Heppner boys' and girls' town basketball teams closed the season with a double header in the local gymnasium with the respective teams of Lexington Friday night. The Heppner girls were defeated by a large margin in a rather loosely played game, while the home boys took the narrow margin of one point over their opponents in a game that belonged to either side until the last whistle. The score was 23-22. Doherty led the scoring for Heppner, while Lane and Nichols performed outstandingly for the visitors.

ATTENTION B. P. O. ELKS.

Deputy District Grand Exalted Ruler Grabb of Baker is in the city today and will meet with Heppner Lodge No. 358 at their temple tonight. A fee will be served following the lodge session, and a big attendance of members is desired.

STAR THEATER, SUNDAY, MON DAY, TUESDAY, MARCH 11-13-15

Camp Fire Girls Present Entertainment Mar. 20

The Camp Fire Girls will present a varied program in the school gymnasium, Tuesday evening, Mar. 20. The main number will be a play, "The Call of the Wholo," with folk dances and music between the acts.

Through the program it will be attempted to give the public an idea of the nature of Camp Fire Girl work. The proceeds will go towards the payment of the ceremonial robes for each of 40 members. Each girl is earning money to pay for half the cost of her robe, the other half to be paid for out of the proceeds of the entertainment. This is the last big expense for the present membership. For the expenses up to now the girls in various ways have earned about $80.00. At this time the three organizations have cleared all bills, up to the ceremonial regalia. Neither can the organization go any further until this is secured.

The Camp Fire organization is asking a hearty support. This can be shown by buying tickets for this program, when you are given a chance to buy.

Two Go Straight at Local Traps Sunday

Frank Shively and A. D. McMurdo, making the team for the first time this season in the Oregonian State Telegraphic Trapshooting tournament, both turned in perfect scores on their first 25 birds at the local traps Sunday. H. E. Warner was the third member of the team with 24.

In this, the third round of the shoot, Heppner failed to make a perfect score for the first time. Its score of 74 for the team, however, was sufficient to defeat the team they were shooting against on that day. These were Enterprise and Echo, each shooting 73, and Halsey with 68. Heppner, undefeated, still stays at the head of the percentage column. Interest was lively at the traps, there being the largest turnout yet this season.

Father Brady Attends Consecration at Baker

Rev. Thomas J. Brady, pastor of the Catholic church here, left last Sunday afternoon by auto to attend the consecration of Rt. Rev. Edw. J. Kelly, the bishop-elect of Boise. The consecration took place on Tuesday, March 6, at 10 o'clock, in the cathedral of St. Francis, Baker, Oregon, with Rt. Rev. Joseph F. McGrath, D. D., of Baker, the consecrator. Nine bishops and two archbishops, and also one hundred and fifty priests from all parts of the north-west attended the impressive ceremony.

Rt. Rev. Edw. J. Kelly is a native Oregonian, born in The Dalles some thirty-seven years ago, and he is the first native priest that has ever been made a bishop. On Thursday, March 8, Rt. Rev. Bishop Kelly was solemnly installed as bishop of Boise in the cathedral of St. John, in Boise, Idaho.

BLIND CAR DRIVER COMING.

All-Din, the blind-folded car driver who created a sensation in Portland, The Dalles and Pendleton, where he appeared last season, is expected to be in Heppner April 5 and 6, and will show at the Star theater, was the announcement made by his manager, W. H. Hartman, who was in this city on Friday. All-Din will drive through the streets of Heppner, accompanied by a committee of prominent citizens, including the mayor, using a Pontiac sedan furnished for the occasion by Ferguson Motor Co., at high speed, dodging traffic as he were in perfect possession of his eyesight. Watch for further announcements.

RHEA CREEK.

Sterling Fryrear has recently bought the Bayless farm on Rhea creek and will take possession about the first of April.

Sunday the Rhea Creek Grange had its monthly all day meeting at which our school superintendent, Mrs. Walker, and two others took their final degrees. The Home Economics committee will meet on Thursday of this week to clean and make improvements in the old school house which the Grange bought for a kitchen.

PLAY WELL RECEIVED.

A cast composed of Heppner people who presented "A Prairie Rose" at Condon Friday evening, was royally received, according to reports brought back by Mrs. Helen M. Walker, manager. They were greeted by a well filled house and the applause throughout was evidence that the play went over pretty largely on its own merits since cast members were not so well known there as here. It was sponsored by the American Legion.

P. T. A. NEXT TUESDAY.

The March meeting of the Heppner P. T. A. will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the usual hour in the gym-auditorium of the high school. On this occasion a good program will be offered, featuring the following:

Entertainment, direction of Miss Wilson, pupils of First grade.

BOB CARNSER.

Hon. R. J. Carsner, State Senator from the 18th District, comprising Sherman, Gilliam and Wheeler counties, was a recent visitor in this city and while here intimated to his friends that he would probably be a candidate for reelection this year. It is to be hoped that he runs and that he is returned to the Senate.

Heppner Country Club Improves Golf Course

With the rearrangement of Heppner's nine-hole golf course, the building of new greens and tees and fixing up of the greens, the game here has been given a new impetus. Already several applications have been received for membership in the Heppner Country club, and Sunday found a large number enjoying the sport on the hill just east of town.

Frank Harwood has been in charge of improving the course and it now presents the best appearance it has at any time since its inception. To do away with much of the rough ground, badger holes and sagebrush that before took much of the pleasure out of the game, the entire course has been made on the east side of the canyon and on the upper slope of the hill, what was formerly a hay field being used for greens and fairways to supplant the first four holes which are outside the territory now used. Though the course has been shortened some 500 yards, it still affords opportunity for plenty of exercise, with a par three or four on most of the holes, and par 33 for the course.

Greens have all been leveled and white pole markers placed at each, easily visible from the tees. The tees have been raised and smoothed up, giving a level footing in teeing off. And though probably not as attractive as many metropolitan courses, it is a source of pleasure and recreation for many Heppner people.

TICK FEVER.

From State Board of Health.

Every year Rocky Mountain spotted fever makes its appearance in certain mountain districts of Eastern Oregon. Last year there were reported twenty-six cases and seven deaths. The disease is contracted from the bite of a tick known as Dermacentor venustus. In Oregon, the months of April, May and June show the greatest number of cases. Cases have been reported as early as February and as late as September.

The casual traveler may avoid the disease by not entering the brush or tall grass infected with ticks. Those, however, who must expose themselves should make frequent inspection of the body, or at least twice a day for ticks. The tick is slow to attach itself and usually remains attached for a short period before beginning the act of feeding.

The United States Public Health Service is now supplying a vaccine for the prevention of this disease.

A limited supply of experimental vaccine against Rocky Mountain spotted fever may be obtained free of charge by writing to the U. S. Public Health Service, Hamilton, Montana.

In Montana and Idaho, about 2,600 people have been given this vaccine with very good results. During 1925, 1926, and 1927, there were 14 cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever, with 12 deaths, in the Bitter Root Valley, Montana. Considering only individuals over 18 years of age, there were 11 cases and 11 deaths. During the same period in Idaho and in the same area among vaccinated individuals (about 1800) there were eight cases with only one death. These eight cases were all adults except one. One was a man past 60 years of age, and the only individual past 50 years of age who has ever recovered from infection contracted in this area.

In Idaho equally good results have been obtained among sheepherders whose occupation exposes them to the danger of contracting the infection than the average individual.

The degree and the duration of protection varies widely with the individual, and it is therefore recommended that those in exposed occupations take the prophylactic each spring.

The vaccine is of no value in treatment, and vaccination should be completed at least 10 days before exposure to tick bites.

WILL GO FOR PRISONER.

Sheriff McDuffee will depart in a day or so for Boise, Idaho, with the regulation of Governor Patterson for the approval of the state officials of Idaho, and authorizing him to bring back to Heppner, Harvey Graves, wanted here for the crime of jail breaking. Graves is at present in the county jail at Coeur d'Alene, where he is completing a sentence of 90 days on conviction of violation of the prohibition law, and his time will be up just about as Sheriff McDuffee arrives, and Graves will be brought here to answer the charge against him. He will be remembered here about two years ago of purloining wool from Henry Krebs on Willow creek.

YAKIMA SHERIFF HERE.

Sheriff L. D. Luce of Yakima county, Washington, was a visitor here during the week, coming over after E. M. Sheriff Luce is an old timer of this section of Oregon, his home being in Grant county for many years, where he grew up, and at one time he was deputy under the late Sheriff Newt Livingstone of that county. He often visited Heppner those days on business, but this is his first visit here since 1896, and of course the town did not look natural to him. He was loud in his praise of the good roads he found leading to Heppner at this time.

Surfacing Progresses on Lexington-Jarmon Road

Work of spreading crushed rock on the uncompleted portion of the Lexington-Jarmon market road was begun on Monday, and will continue until the remaining portion of the road is surfaced, which will complete the gap of 13½ miles to the Percy Jarmon place on Butter creek, where the road joins up with the Echo-Butter creek market road.

There were some slight changes made in the original survey on this part of the road, but it follows generally the original line mapped out for it and passes through a fine stretch of farming country. It will be in shape now for the farmers out that way to get their crops into the warehouse at Lexington much easier than heretofore and that point should receive much more wheat from the north Sand Hollow country than formerly. Besides this, a splendid road for travel through the county and on to the Columbia highway at Echo will have been built, and should prove a convenience to the tourist.

"Various phases of the industry will be discussed, stressing the care and management of the dairy cow for greater production, most suitable feeds and diseases common to the locality."

Mr. Jamison, who had a large part in organizing the Umatilla dairy record association employing a full time tester and with which two Morrow county dairymen are associated, is recognized as one of the leading authorities on dairying in the state, and by virtue of his close connection with the industry in eastern Oregon, is probably the best versed on conditions in this section of any specialist. If you are facing any difficult problems with your dairy herd, it would be well to bring them to Mr. Jamison at this meeting.

FOREST WEEK DATES SET FOR APRIL 22-28

Fire Eradication and Rehabilitation Education Aim of Observance.

President Coolidge has issued the following proclamation, setting the dates for Forest Week as April 22 to 28:

For several years a special week has been set apart for public discussion of our forests and of what must be done to safeguard and restore them. Among the agencies making for progress in this direction, American Forest Week has proved its usefulness and I am glad to proclaim it again and to announce that Canada is again concurrently observing a similar week.

The rehabilitation of our forests demands first of all that the forest fire evil be suppressed. Many of the forested states, with the cooperation of timberland owners, have undertaken organized protection against forest fires; and in recent years, under the Clarke-McNary law, the Federal Government has given its support to the movement. This great cooperative enterprise must be extended and strengthened until every forested county in the United States is safeguarded against forest fires.

But we are still far from the goal of complete protection. Every year, on the average, 80,000 fires scourge our woodlands, steadily undermining their vitality. For this bad situation, the blame falls equally on us all. Public agencies rarely provide adequate protection against fire, the timberland owner is too often indifferent to his property, the forest worker is too often neglectful of the future forest, the average citizen is too often careless with fire in the woods. We must all gain such respect for the forest that its destruction through indifference or carelessness shall be unthinkable.

We cannot permanently abuse our forests with impunity. The soil is the ultimate source of all our wealth and of life itself. One-fourth of our American soil is best suited for forests. Much of this land is already idle. More of it is being made idle by destructive logging and fire. Yet we cannot safely permit forest land to lie fallow and useless any more than we can permit our farms and factories to lie idle.

To make our vast empire of forest land fully productive of continuous crops of timber will have momentous consequences in our national life. It will give agriculture the advantage of a new and valuable crop. It will afford permanent employment to millions of men in the forest industries. It will furnish traffic for our railroads. It will maintain foreign and domestic commerce. It will restore our forests as conservers of soil and water, and as givers of health and pleasure to our people.

We already have made a beginning in forest renewal; but the task is stupendous, and we should permit no satisfaction over what has been done to blind us to the magnitude of what remains to be done.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate and set aside as American Forest Week the week beginning April 22 and ending April 28, in this year of 1928. I recommend to the Governors of the various States that they use designate this week for special observance by all our people; and that where practicable and not in conflict with law or custom, Arbor Day be observed during the course of the same week. I urge that during that week all citizens and appropriate organizations—including public officials, legislators, business organizations, educators, editors, clergymen, landowners, and others—give thought to the preservation and wise use of our forests, to the end that energetic forest policies will be adopted in all communities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 24th day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

By the President:

FRANK B. KELLOGG,
Secretary of State.
