

Local Happenings

A very prompt response was made to an alarm turned in about 8 o'clock Saturday evening by the local fire department, who were directed to the residence of J. O. Hager in the extreme eastern part of town. When they arrived on the scene, however, the fire was about extinguished by the use of garden hose. It had started next to the flue leading from the furnace in the basement, between the ceiling and the roof, and it was necessary to cut through to get at it. But slight damage is reported to the residence.

Albert Williams came in on the stage from Pendleton Monday, and after a visit of a few days here, will go to the ranch of Tom O'Brien on Butter creek where he will have a job working with the O'Brien sheep for the spring and summer. He has been residing during the past winter at Wabburg, Wash., and states that the season has been backward in that country and farmers are a little late in getting at their spring work.

F. R. Brown of Brown Warehouse company, was a business visitor in Arlington on Friday. Mr. Brown noted that spring activities on the ranches down the creek were in evidence and spring-toothing of the alfalfa fields was progressing, with here and there a farmer busy in the field with his plows.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerm O'Connor left for Pendleton on Monday afternoon, at which place they took the train for Baker to attend the confirmation ceremonies of Father Kelly as the new bishop of Idaho. Father Kelly was raised at The Dalles, and Mrs. O'Connor was well acquainted with him.

Wes Brannon was in town from his Eight Mile farm on Friday and states that he is now busy with spring plowing, the weather having turned warmer and putting the ground in good condition for working.

Mike Kenny states that lambing at the Kenny ranch is progressing well and a good percentage of increase is being made, with no material loss of either ewes or lambs. His sheep have been on feed since the 5th of December, when they needed it and having plenty of hay on account of range conditions. Warmer weather will soon provide good range on the Kenny ranch. Mike was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday.

Claude White brought in a consignment of cream to the local creamery yesterday. Mr. White, who raises wheat on an extensive scale, has also found it profitable to keep some good cows which add to the income during the year. He has been able to do considerable spring plowing on his farm bordering Sand Hollow, as the frost went out of the ground there several weeks ago.

Lawrence Palmer was in the city Monday forenoon from his farm near Lexington. He was ready to begin spring work just as soon as the weather conditions permitted, and indications were just right Monday to bring about the proper kind of weather.

Howard Anderson was up from The Dalles over the week end. He is representing Martin Johnson in the work of school desk refitting. Mr. Johnson having perfected a process whereby old desks can be made to look like new. Mr. Anderson expects to get considerable work in this section.

Egbert Young of Eight Mile was attending to business here on Saturday, getting ready for the spring work which will start soon. A change in weather conditions, which indicates that spring has at last arrived, will see the Eight Mile farmers busy in the fields shortly.

"Electricity: Keeps Modern Civilization Going"

Says Ernest Greenwood in his new book, "Aladdin, U. S. A."

"If it were possible to visualize our complex daily life of today suddenly set down in the midst of conditions as they were a hundred or even fifty years ago, totally lacking in modern resources which keep things moving, we could, perhaps, get some idea of the confusion and even hysteria which would be the inevitable result if our electric light and power industries should cease to function."

Electricity, first a curiosity, then a novelty, then a luxury, has now come to play so vital a part in every process of manufacturing, selling, transportation, communication, and our ordinary daily living, that interruption of its efficient generation and distribution would paralyze the nation.

Electric light and power companies do much more than merely care for the day-by-day demands of their customers. Otherwise, the price of electrical service would not have steadily declined while other costs were going up.

The modern electric utility is run on plans made years in advance. The entire structure of America's unparalleled electrical development has its origin in the stimulation given to the greater use of electricity by having an abundant supply always ready at the lowest possible cost.

To plan ahead, to keep eternally on the watch for better methods and new economies, requires a type of management not unknown to American business men. But it requires one condition without which it can neither function nor exist—that is the freedom of the individual to plan, to execute his plans and to prosper as he wins success.

With public regulation of its rates, its services and its earnings, the electric light and power industry thus far has been able to hold the individual type of management within its ranks. The continuance of this principle of individual initiative will assure the maintenance of economy and efficiency in public service.

OAKLAND ALL-AMERICAN SIX

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

LANDAU COUPE

The Smoothness and Snap That All America is Demanding

There's no longer any doubt about it. America is demanding more and more from its automobiles. More power... more style... more speed. And above all else... more smoothness and snap.

Smoothness that brings to driving new pleasures and new delights. Snap that responds to the traffic signal as a sprinter responds to the gun. Smoothness and snap that you know are the very essence of motoring satisfaction. Smoothness and snap that you find revealed in the All-American Six.

You find them there because of Oakland's big, impressive brute of an engine which starts so easily 'way below zero. Because of its famous GMR cylinder head... force feed fuel pump... 79-lb. crankshaft and other vital parts.

Because of its ruggedly constructed chassis... its big clutch and smooth shifting gears... and the super-precision construction demanded in the All-American principle of design.

Once you've experienced its smoothness... once you've witnessed its snap... you'll know why the All-American Six is winning such tremendous success!
