

Republicans In Convention at Kansas City Meet in Large Hall Built for the Democrats

Written especially for Heppner Gazette Times
By ROBERT FULLER
Through Autocaster News Service.

Kansas City, June 6.—The whole town's talking about the coming Republican National Convention, which meets here June 12. And the town is not merely talking—it is making most thorough preparations for the event. These preparations have been going on continuously since December 7, 1927, when the word was flashed through the country that Kansas City had been chosen as the site of the Republican Convention.

There will be adequate accommodations for every one of the delegates, alternates and visitors. As a wag put it: "There even will be room for the elephant's trunk."

Kansas City was chosen as the site of the convention after the most hotly staged battle to pick the convention city ever fought.

The convention will be held at the Convention Hall of Kansas City, which was built in 1900 for the Democratic Convention of that year, when the Democrats nominated the late William Jennings Bryan.

For a quarter of a century Convention Hall has been the scene of concerts, athletic contests and industrial exhibits.

Now again shall resound in its halls the great tumult of a national convention! Again history shall be made within its confines! And truly, this year's convention promises to be a very exciting one, as recent developments in the political situation indicate.

The Convention Hall has room for over 18,000 persons—there is room on the arena floor for all delegates and alternates. The building occupies a quarter of a block on 13th Street and Central Avenue, close to the downtown district of Kansas City.

Here the Republican presidential and vice-presidential candidates will be chosen, and the platform of the party will be adopted.

Maine's delegation of 15 will occupy the seats in the front row in the center of the hall.

On its left will be the big Pennsylvania delegation, on the right the 29 delegates from California, and to the rear those from Massachusetts.

Behind Massachusetts will be the delegations from four other New England States—New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut, with New York's 90 representatives, the largest unit in the convention, grouped near the center of the auditorium.

When Kansas City was chosen in December, it was decided to change the usual 1,100 delegates to 1,080 delegates. This latter number of delegates will attend the sessions starting June 12 at Convention Hall.

The keynote, or first speaker, at the convention will be Simeon D. Fess, United States Senator. He is an aggressive, earnest speaker who has a sincere, forceful method of delivery. He is an historian and a staunch Administration adherent.

William M. Butler is chairman of the Committee on Arrangements and chairman of the National Committee.

There will be a nation-wide hook-up of radio stations to bring the news of the convention to every corner of the country. Not only will the speeches and tabulations of votes be heard, but also the cheers, demonstrations and noise of spontaneous parades taking place all over the convention floor. There will be microphones placed all over the floor and balconies.

Elaborate preparations are being made to make this radio hook-up one of the most thorough ever made in the history of radio. Length and time of the sessions in Kansas City are still very much in doubt, which makes the task of the radio interests very difficult. However, radio listeners will be "in on" every phase of the convention.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.
Rev. Thomas J. Brady, Pastor.

Next Sunday, June 17, will be the third Sunday after Pentecost, and there will be a low mass in the church at Heppner at 8:30, preceded by the hearing of confessions. This mass will be offered for the entire congregation, to beg God's blessings upon the crops which stand so much in need of rain. Every Sunday during June the Sunday mass will be offered for the same purposes.

Tomorrow morning, Friday, at 7:30 there will be a high mass in the church in honor of the Sacred Heart of Christ; it will be the feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and the pastor invites all to be present. The first bell will be rung at 7, and the last at 7:30. Confessions will be heard before the mass, and service will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and the solemn consecration of all to the Sacred Heart.

The Sacred Heart is selected as an object of honor and devotion because it is a symbol of God's infinite and undying love for mankind.

Until further notice through these columns, there will be no Sunday services at any of the mission centers. The pastor while improving satisfactorily, does not feel warranted in rejecting the orders of his physician, Dr. A. D. McMurdo, who counsels rest and freedom from all activities not actually indispensable.

The Catholic clergy of the diocese of Baker City entered upon their Retreat at St. Joseph Academy, Pendleton, Oregon, on Monday afternoon of this week. This Retreat will continue until Friday morning when the priests will return to their different parish charges. There are twenty-four priests following the retreat. Rev. Thomas J. Brady was unable to follow the retreat because of his physical condition.

"Freedom of Individual Effort Our Greatest Need"

Says MERLE THORPE

When you flip the switch that gives you light, or cooks your food, or runs your radio, you draw upon an instantaneous supply of electric energy. The immense power plants, sub-stations and transmission lines through which this energy comes to you often make the electric light and power business seem little more than a vast machine.

Yet the planning that keeps electric service ready to meet the growing volume of industrial and domestic needs, the engineering genius which daily increases its usefulness and lowers its cost, and the great funds of capital required to turn producing equipment—all these depend upon the service of individual men.

"We are too ready to allow government bureaus and commissions to restrict and hamper individual initiative. Yet it is important to our industrial and, indeed, our spiritual life, that full freedom be allowed for individual effort in every line of business. For therein lies the opportunity for the development of that interesting and necessary side of our nature—the romantic and adventurous."

MERLE THORPE
Editor of Nation's Business

Men built these systems and men must run them. And since time began, men have only done their best where individual initiative has had free play.

That America today enjoys an electric service which in efficiency and extent cannot be equalled in the world, is due to the individual efforts of men working under the American principles of free business enterprise.
