Official Paper for Morrow County. Foreign Advertising Representative AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

HOW LONG SHALL IT SLEEP?

HEPPNER is a fine, clean, neat appearing little city with business good, in fact one of the very best cities of its size in the state.

One's heartstrings are tugged gently when the Heppner Commercial club is mentioned. Its history is best unmentioned. In fact we are afraid to ask what has become of it.

A car driving east on the Columbia River highway wishing to reach some interior point, stops at Arlington and is directed over the John Day highway.

International Sunday School Lesson for July 29. The First Foreign Missionaries Acts 13:1-5, 13-15, 44-45.

All of Chapter XIII should be read as a preparation for this lesson study. The general setting must be in mind as well as the few verses that are the basis for more intensive study.

Tourist business today is one of the most lucrative businesses in the state. It is a business which benefits every other business, but it takes salesmanship of a high caliber to land it, and this salesmanship can only be had through cooperation.

A live commercial club could, through advertising and personal representatives direct a great deal of traffic over the O-W highway.

Not only Heppner but the entire county would be benefited by what a live commercial organization could do. We know the reason no club exists is not because of the size or wealth of our little city. There is a little place down on the coast, a small resort town, containing a store and a half dozen or so cottages.

The Oregon State Motor association bulletin states that oiling is going forward on the John Day highway between Ione and Heppner. It would be a good idea for the editor of the bulletin to either get a state road map or get in his car and take a trip over the state.

A BAD RECORD IN CRIME PUNISHMENT.

IN A RECENT survey made in the most important section of a middle-western state it was found that a person charged with crime risks but one chance in 30 of being punished. Of 12,543 felony cases tried in a great American city in 1926 but 449 of the defendants were found guilty and a great many of these were released on parole or appeals or otherwise escaped prison.

Incapable difficulties beset the legislator or crime reformer who attempts to make punishment for the criminal certain. A mass of technicalities surrounds and helps to protect the defendant in criminal cases. Often a maxims sentiment is abused among a certain element that tries to make a martyr of the most hardened wrongdoer. And af-

Some of the hardships encountered at this time or soon are enumerated in II Corinthians 11:24-28. Pisidian Antioch is the first stopping place of record. There the travelers attende the synagogue service and, according to courtesy custom, after the reading of the law, were invited to speak. To use modern language, they made a hit at the start and were invited to speak again the following Sabbath.

Jealousy started the trouble that followed. When the synagogue leaders saw that the strangers were obtaining such a fine following they opposed the men, and turned them out of the synagogue. Both Paul and Barnabas were bold in declaring that they could not keep silent, and since their own brethren would no longer hear them they could now give their attention to the Gentiles, for their Gospel was for all mankind.

One fact stands out immediately. The commission, having proceeded for some months slowly because of the threat of these initiative measures, must practically suspend new construction activity. Whatever happens to these or other bills that may be filed in November, Oregon has lost one year of progress in highway construction.

The Fumble Family Fumbling Around By Dunkle

ter conviction, reprieves, commutations of sentences and paroles often turn the unrelenting criminals out into society again to continue their depredations.

Crime suppression must be preceded by law enforcement rather than by more laws and red tape which invite more "technical" law-breaking.

MONEY SAVING ON THE FARM.

NOT only is a tractor superior to teams for plowing, in speed, power and efficiency, but its per acre cost of operation is cheaper as well. A number of farmers in the state of Washington kept records in order to make his comparison and found that where team plowing cost $1.97 per acre, the tractor did the work for 86 cents.

From this direction greater farm prosperity must come. Modern labor saving machinery and instruments of greater efficiency are the money makers for agriculture.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE LAW CONTRARY TO SPIRIT OF CONSTITUTION.

IN A RECENT article discussing compulsory automobile liability insurance Edmund J. Donegan, vice-president and general counsel of the Metropolitan Casualty company, said: "The requirement that insurance be purchased, security deposited or financial responsibility demonstrated as a condition precedent to operating a motor vehicle, hinges the right upon a property qualification. Such a law bears unevenly upon the clerk and the millionaire and violates our traditions, heritages and entire social consciousness."

"There is no question that the interests of the people as a whole demand that any citizen who has demonstrated his incompetence to handle a potentially dangerous vehicle, must forfeit his right of operation."

It interests us all, illustrating the unquenchable belief in a future life so deeply planted in the human brain. Why was the belief put there if only to be disappointed?

The French Government builds a gigantic magnet several thousand times as powerful as any built thus far. It will be used in scientific experiments in connection with the molecular and atomic construction of matter, etc. The magnet eventually will be of great use in industry.

BLOCKING PROGRESS.

WITH the filing in Salem of an initiative measure providing for a fifty per cent reduction in motor vehicle license fees, the thing has come to pass that has been feared for many months. True, the measure filed does not make so drastic a cut in license fees as does the so-called $3.00 measure, but the loss of income involved is a serious one.

Now his ships go out to every harbor of the world, his scientists are fighting disease in every part of the earth. And looking at his right hand, now wrinkled, he knows it has made gifts to education and human progress totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

Thomas W. Lamont, partner of J. P. Morgan, and an able citizen tells business men they can be a distinct factor in preventing future wars. They can and will be, for they have discovered that war, in the past often promoted by business, DOES NOT PAY.

Another big war would mean not merely sixty per cent income tax, but confiscation of principal, on a gigantic scale. Young men would not again consent to have their bodies sent to war, unless the rich man's dollars also went. Wise business men will oppose war and demand preparation for it.

Stone Age Mummies. The Greatest Magnet. Rockefeller Sees Kindness. War Does Not Pay.

Mammoths, extinct thousands of years, have been found preserved, skin, hair, flesh, in Northern ice. Hoping that men of the Stone Age might be similarly preserved, an expedition was sent to look.

On an island, far North in cold Alaska, scientists discovered at the top of an almost inaccessible cliff the grave of an ancient Stone Age chief.

His coffin was lined with well cured skins of the sea otter. His shirt was of bird skins, his clothing made of the finest furs. A favorite child, a seamstress to sew for him, a servant and hunter to get game for him, had been killed and buried with him to accompany him on his death journey.

This mummified family from the Stone Age will enlighten scientists.

Dr. Frank Crane Says:

WATER-TIGHT COMPARTMENTS

EVERY once in a while we hear a man say, "Business is business," or that he follows "art for art's sake," or that he as a scientist cares only for the truth, not for its practical results, and so on. But the fact is humanity is not put in water-tight compartments.

Everything you do affects all parts of your nature. What you do in business reflects on your art, what you do in art colors your business, and what you think in religion has much to do with your scientific conclusions.

Business must be beautiful. Art in some way must rest upon a business basis. A man cannot have his whole head submerged in literature, he must have sense enough to market his wares.

The beautiful works of art of past generations had their influence upon believers in religion and religion is what it is owing to a thousand other causes within itself.

Much recent art shows contempt for any but aesthetic values. Such art is transient, and will give place to a greater art, in which beauty of thought and expression will confer enlarged values.

The total of all values is what counts. This result can be achieved not by preaching in art nor by making science "practical," but by universal education in values so that artist, business man, or scientist will express himself in synthesis of all values.

It interests us all, illustrating the unquenchable belief in a future life so deeply planted in the human brain. Why was the belief put there if only to be disappointed?

The French Government builds a gigantic magnet several thousand times as powerful as any built thus far. It will be used in scientific experiments in connection with the molecular and atomic construction of matter, etc. The magnet eventually will be of great use in industry.

Here the steel companies use magnets picking up tons of steel rails and loading them on cars, dropping them down, lifting them up, as a boy lifts tacks with his toy magnet.

Man is an intelligent animal, living on a gigantic combination power wheel and magnet—the earth. He constructs his own little power plant, builds his own electric and magnetic power.

In the north day before yesterday man's electric work felt an electric storm, and an amazing aurora borealis, stretching all across the northern part of the continent. If men could borrow and use the inexhaustible electric power of the earth, they need not turn coal or water falls into electric current.

John D. Rockefeller, beginning his nineteenth year, said: "I never worry, and I am amazed at the kindness of people generally." Eighty years ago, from his father's cottage doorway, in the Catskill foothills, he watched his uncle drive off, to trade horses—and saw him come back with better horses.

Now his ships go out to every harbor of the world, his scientists are fighting disease in every part of the earth. And looking at his right hand, now wrinkled, he knows it has made gifts to education and human progress totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.
