

Local Happenings

Spencer Crawford chaperoned a party of ladies on a trip to Milton Monday, the ladies going there to attend a one-day missionary meeting of the Christian church, while Mr. Crawford went on to Walla Walla for a short visit with O. G. Crawford, recently located in the printing business there. Those composing the party to Milton were Mesdames M. W. Bower, Frank Parker, Spencer Crawford and Frank S. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Keithley and Mrs. D. C. Wells were here on Monday to attend the funeral of the late Crockett Kirk. Mrs. Keithley came over Saturday by stage from Pendleton, and Mr. Keithley and Mrs. Wells drove over Monday forenoon. Returning they were accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Vaughn, who will visit a short time at the Keithley home.

Alfred Ayers was here on Wednesday, stopping over on his way home to Portland from Walla Walla. He had been spending several days in the Washington city, and reports that the dry weather up that way is quite disappointing to the wheat farmers and seeding of fall grain has been much delayed.

Mrs. J. W. Stevens, son and daughter, were visitors at Heppner Tuesday from their new home at Courtrock, Grant county. While it has been pretty dry over that way, the feed on the range is coming along well and with rains a little later will be in excellent shape for fall feeding.

E. L. Bucknum, who is assisting with the building of a house for W. B. Bales over on the John Day river near Kimberley, was home for a few days the first of the week, being somewhat indisposed. He will return to finish the job, which will take the most of November.

Barney McDevitt was in the city from Sand Hollow on Saturday. He states that he does not own a car, and because of this handicap, his visits to Heppner are less frequent than in former years, when it was not considered out of place to travel by buggy and team.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Poulson, Dan Beighle and Miss Grace Fleming motored to Portland the end of the week and took in the big football game Saturday between University of Washington and University of Oregon, gathering great satisfaction out of the result.

Dr. John Perry Conder, candidate for joint representative, Morrow and Umatilla counties, returned the end of the week from a thorough canvass of his district. He reports having visited all precincts of Umatilla county, and met with much encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kirk of Junction City arrived at Heppner on Sunday evening by motor. They came to attend the funeral of the late Crockett Kirk, brother of Tom. They returned home immediately following the burial services.

L. A. Florence was in the city Monday from his home up Willow creek. While it has continued dry up that way, Mr. Florence says the fall feed is coming along pretty well and rains soon will make it just about right.

E. L. Kirk arrived from Eugene early Sunday in response to word that his father, J. C. Kirk, had passed away. Mrs. Kirk arrived on Monday in time for the funeral services. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk are still visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Garland of Cuprum, Idaho, arrived here Sunday in answer to word announcing the death of Mrs. Garland's grandfather, J. C. Kirk. They departed for home on Tuesday evening.

Milton W. Bower, pastor of the Christian church, arrived home Saturday night from his visit to Kansas City, where he attended the North American Christian convention. The trip going was fine, but returning not quite so good because of stormy weather that made auto travel over the plains a little uncomfortable. It was all compensated for by the fine convention, however, and the trip was very worth while.

Gay M. Anderson, Gay, Jr., Dr. F. E. Farrior and Spencer Crawford arrived home late Sunday night from Portland. They went to the city on Friday evening and took in the big football game there between Washington and Oregon on Saturday, which event they greatly enjoyed.

Henry V. Smouse, lone wheat raiser, was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday. Like others in his locality, Mr. Smouse would be pleased to have some good rains, which would prove a blessing to the sown grain.

Harold Cohn, Phillip Mahoney and Pete Kilkenny took in the Oregon-Washington football game at Portland on Saturday, and got a lot of genuine thrills out of the performance.

Coming to Heppner, Nov. 4 and 5, Dr. Tyler, eyesight specialist of Bend on his regular trip. Will be at Peterson's store. Correct glasses guaranteed. 32.

Andy Olson, representing a motor supply house of Portland, was calling on his customers at Heppner Monday.

Six cars of sheep went out from the local stockyards on Friday for Rupert, Idaho. John J. Kelly, Heppner sheepman, was the shipper.

A. E. Chambers, from the head office of Tum-A-Lum Lumber company at Walla Walla, visited the yard at Heppner on Tuesday.

Albert Nelson, of Lexington, one of the leading grain growers of that section, was attending to business here on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Justus were visitors in the city Monday from the big Justus ranch on Hinton creek.

Lawrence Palmer was a Lexington wheat raiser in Heppner for a few hours Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Maude Howell has disposed of her property in this city to Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. McDaniel.

Charley Valentine spent several hours in the city Wednesday from his farm near Lexington.

Mrs. C. G. Saling was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday from her home at Hardman.

Lawrence Redding was in the city from his Eight Mile farm on Wednesday.

The Fire Alarm!

"How near is it to us?" That's what one hears as the engine clangs into the neighborhood. Everyone is alarmed until the location of the fire is learned.

Then, those at a safe distance breathe a sigh of relief, and only the close neighbors continue to be concerned. But the next fire in your vicinity may be nearer to your home—so near as to endanger your own property. On that day, or night, adequate insurance in a good company is worth far more than it possibly can cost.

Let us plan full coverage for you.
