

BOARDMAN

Once more the joyous Christmas tide has come and what with gifts, Christmas programs, both at Sunday school and school, preparation for the Christmas feasts, parties, life has indeed been filled to the utmost.

On Sunday evening the Sunday school program was given before an audience that taxed the capacity of the church. The program is too lengthy to give in detail but every number was good.

Fred Israel left Sunday for his home in Washington, after a week's visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. Claude Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goodwin made a trip to The Dalles Saturday, returning Sunday.

At the close of the program Friday afternoon the teachers who do not live here, left for their homes. Miss Alice Falk went to Salem, Miss Ellen Henry will spend the holidays at Roseburg, Mrs. Spike at Echo, and Miss Chapman at Hood River.

Mrs. M. E. Tramine of Portland came up Saturday with her nephew, Jimmy Smith, to spend the holidays with her brother, L. G. Smith, and family.

Mrs. Lee Mead and children went to The Dalles on Saturday to visit relatives, returning home Christmas eve, after attending the beautiful midnight mass service at The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price and Billie left Sunday for Portland for the holidays.

Miss Ona Imus is home from Spokane for the holidays.

The Misses Mabel and Katharine Brown are home from Ellensburg, Wash. The former will return to resume her school duties at the normal, but Miss Katharine completed her work this last semester.

The Maccombers spent Christmas at Pilot Rock with Mrs. Macomber's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Falser have returned their ranch to Everett Duggan and left Saturday for Portland for a year's stay. Mr. Falser will be back and forth during that time as he has some work he plans to do on the ranch in the way of leveling. Mr. Falser has been having trouble with his back for some time. Friends are glad to know that their absence will not be permanent.

James Howell, Jr., came Saturday from Spokane where he has been employed for some time. He will return to Corvallis after the holidays to complete his college course.

Carroll Kennedy and Miss Helen Chaffee and Mabel Brown motored to Weston to spend Christmas with the former's relatives.

Arthur Allen and family came from Condon to spend Christmas at the J. M. Allen home.

Richard Berger is still in the hospital at Pendleton. It was thought for a time he could be home for Christmas, but the doctor thought it best not to remove the cast before the 15th or 16th of January.

Mrs. L. E. Marschat took the teachers' examinations at Heppner Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Humphrey and son left Sunday for Colfax, Wash., to visit over the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Humphrey.

John Hill is doing chores during their absence. The Humphreys traded their Ford roadster to Guy Barlow for his Chevrolet roadster.

Lee Mead has purchased the Chevrolet sedan from Z. J. Gillespie.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howell and baby of Hood River arrived Sunday to spend Christmas with Mr. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Rands.

Mrs. Elva Perry of Hood River came Saturday for a fortnight visit with her daughter, Mrs. Guy Barlow.

Chas. Nickerson and family came Sunday from Wiley City, Wash., to spend the holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nickerson.

Dr. D. E. Thompson of Portland occupied the pulpit Sunday a. m. Communion service followed the sermon.

Mrs. Z. J. Gillespie was pleasantly surprised Friday evening to have several couples walk in unexpectedly to help her celebrate her birthday. There were four tables of 500.

After a good game the uninvited guests served a dainty luncheon. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames J. F. Barlow, Jack Rainville, J. F. Gorham, Ed Barlow, Claude Coates and F. A. Fortier.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ransier gave a farewell party Thursday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Nick Falser. There were three tables of 500.

Fraulein Likes University

Fraulein Luis Huls, Berlin, Germany, right, is attending the University of Oregon through the foreign scholarship fund conducted by the Women's League of the institution.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Falser, Mr. and Mrs. Houghton of Umatilla, Mr. and Mrs. Gorham, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Rands, Marvin Ransier and R. Wasmer.

Paul M. Smith was over from Easton, Wash., for business for the week end. Mr. Smith has been working for a big construction company since last spring.

All the young people are home for the holidays. Ray Barlow and Rachael Johnson from Portland, Nellie Messenger from The Dalles where she is in training at one of the hospitals.

J. R. Johnsons are driving one of the new model Fords.

The Boardman high school will play Helix, January 27, on the Boardman floor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mefford were Pendleton visitors Friday.

The Boardman high school played an interesting basketball game Saturday night with the alumni team, with a party to be given by the losers.

The alumni made the team look like pigmies and defeated them by an 11-20 score. The local boys, although very light, are quick so hope that the conference games will not be a repetition of the alumni game.

Playing for the alumni were Russel Mefford, Eldon Wilson, Ray Barlow, Robert Berger, and John Graves. The Boardman line-up consisted of Alvie Mefford, Buster Rands, Carl Wicklander, Eugene Mingus, Vernon Root and Dallas Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Messenger and children of Athena spent the holidays at the Barlow and Messenger homes. They came to attend the Messenger-Sharp nuptials on Christmas day.

Dinner parties characterized the day on Christmas and there were many bountiful feasts given at various homes with tables groaning with good things. One of the most elaborate and loveliest of the dinners was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spagle and Mr. and Mrs. H. Spagle and son Maurice of Hubbard, Ore., and Kenneth Spagle of Arlington were house guests at the home of their son and brother, and they with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Packard and Howard, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jenkins and Elvira, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brodley of Everett, Wash., Mr. Berger and sons Glen and Robert Berger were all present to help enjoy the turkey.

A wonderful family dinner was partaken of at the F. A. Fortier home, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cramer, Earl Cramer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hadley and Stanton guests of the Fortiers.

Another of the many sumptuous parties was that at which Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Calkins presided on Christmas day. Turkey with all the trimmings was enjoyed by the Lee Mead family and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. King and children.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mefford had several of their children with them on Christmas day. All were not able to come. Those who were present at the Christmas feast were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Root and son Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Macomber of Condon, and Russel Mefford who is home from O. S. C.

Grandma Parlow is quite ill at home where she is making her home this winter. She is suffering from some sort of growth on her neck.

Another lovely dinner was that at which Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Blayden presided with Jack Gorham and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Pruter as the fortunate guests.

Alton Klitz, Eldon Wilson and Russel Mefford all spent the holiday with home folks. The three are attending O. S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goodwin, Mrs. Emma Sherman and son Lloyd were Christmas guests at the Warners at the Highway Inn.

Mr. Barzee has been buying stock on the project. Last week he shipped out a carload of sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ransier were hosts to a number of relatives on Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ransier and son and daughter and Bob Simmons of Echo, and the Marlowes from Pendleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Mackan and children spent Christmas at Stanfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Dillabough and children and Chas. Wicklander and family spent Christmas together. On Wednesday Mrs. Dillabough and children left for Portland to visit a few days with relatives.

Clarence Berger is back from Cosmopolis where he has been acting as relief operator.

One of the loveliest of the many holiday festivities was the party given by Stanton Hadley on Christmas eve to several of his small friends. After playing a number of games Santa's sleigh bells were heard and soon old Santa appeared with a gift for each little one.

There were small trucks, airplanes, perfume containers and what not, for the small folks. Old Santa then brought in a sack of candy and nuts for each guest and after all this a lunch of jello, cake and cocoa was served. The small guests were Bobby and Stanley King, Erma, Asta and Eleanora Skoubo, Maxene Cooney, Ann Elizabeth Kristensen and Orthun Hereim.

Mrs. King and Nels Kristensen enjoyed the party as much as did the smaller folk. Mrs. Kristensen was unable to come because of an attack of flu from which she was just recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knauff presided at a sumptuous banquet on Christmas day with turkey as the piece de resistance. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Brice, Warren and Lillian, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wicklander and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Agee and daughter Emma.

G. A. Harju and family were guests at the Hereim home on Christmas.

It was indeed a merry Christmas at the Weston home this year, with the children and grandchildren gathered about the tree and later the dinner table. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bleakney and children of Echo and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Morgan and sons Bobby and Billy of Portland.

Ray Browns were guests at the Robert Wilson home on Christmas day.

Rachael and Delbert Johnson drove to The Dalles Wednesday for a short visit. Miss Marie Messenger accompanied them, returning to her work at the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Graves held a family dinner at home Christmas. Their oldest son, Henry A. Graves and wife of Arlington, were with them.

The next Silver tea will be held January 2, at the home of Mrs. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilbanks and daughter Adaline and the Carrieks of Vernonia, who are visiting here, spent Christmas day with relatives on Willow creek.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Olson spent Christmas at Mayger, Ore., at the A. Koski home.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Skoubo entertained Mr. and Mrs. Claude Myers and children, Wm. Strobel and family at a lovely dinner on Christmas. Murchies came up from The Dalles to spend the holidays with the Ballengers.

Mr. Dutcher who lives on the Broyles place on the west end had his brother from Pilot Rock with him for Christmas.

Otto Lindstrom was a Morgan wheatraiser in this city on Saturday.
