next election. It is understood the measure harmonizes with Governor Patterson's idea of giving the owner of the old car some benefit from license fee reduction.

Chiropractors, chiropractors, osteopaths, christian science practitioners, naturopaths, undertakers, and women having a child under 15 years of age will be among those exempt from jury duty, if H. B. 396 is passed.

Under the present law physicians, dentists, civil officers, and many others whose presence is necessary at their place of business at all times, are excused.

The section of the 1925 law which stated that women might be excused if they did not care to serve is also taken out, placing them on same basis with men. The bill also provides that jury lists shall be made up from registration books of the county.

"The flood of bills asking for increases in the salaries of county officers has become a serious problem," said Speaker Ralph S. Hamilton of Bend, in addressing a recent session of the House of Representatives.

"I suggest that the salary problems should be carefully studied by you representatives of counties asking for increases. If there is not sufficient time to put these salary bills on a sound equitable basis at this session, I think that an interim committee should make a careful survey of the needs of each county and make a report at the next session of the legislature."

One of the principal differences between two income tax bills now before the legislature is the property off-set. In H. B. 457, representing a majority action of the property Tax Relief Commission, property taxes may be used to off-set 75% of the income tax. In H. B. 459, introduced by Senator Hall and Representative Norton, of Coos county, no such off-set is allowed. Tax Commissioner Earl Fisher states that under the off-set plan the taxpayer having both property and income will pay little more than the taxpayer having property and no taxable income, or the taxpayer having income and no taxable property. The off-set bill is being opposed by the Grange, Farmers' Union, and labor organizations. The Hall-Norton bill is being opposed by large property tax payers who do not like the idea of double taxation—that is, of being taxed once on the property and again on the income from the same property.

Both bills are being opposed by those who feel that Oregon should get used to the income tax on corporations, as provided by H. B. 279, the excise tax bill, which is similar to legislation now pending in California. The Grange and Farmers' Union committees express themselves as favoring H. B. 279 at this session in the hope that by establishing an income tax on corporations, the way will be paved for a personal income tax that will be accepted by the people. C. C. Chapman is in agreement with this opinion. He believes that taking one step at a time is more likely to assure a satisfactory income tax, especially if that step is in step with California. It is reported at Salem that in Washington the same feeling exists, so that at last the opportunity presents itself for having uniform income tax legislation in all three Pacific Coast states, with the prospect that personal incomes, as well as corporation incomes, will also be taxed by all three states within the next few years.

Whether or not Oregon shall endorse the child labor amendment to the federal constitution will be the subject of discussion at a public hearing to be held in the statehouse Thursday night.

The protection of livestock owners against theft and slaughter of their property is sought in S. B. 105, introduced by the joint committee on livestock at the legislature. Persons engaged in or accused of the theft or slaughter of livestock, livestock carcasses, poultry, or other personal property and products of the same or different kinds are to be apprehended, according to this bill, by county, state, or municipal peace officers. The peace officers would have power to seize vehicles, unless stolen, which were used for the transportation of the stolen goods. These vehicles would be confiscated by the state.

The members composing this committee on livestock are as follows: Senate, J. D. Billingsly of Ontario, R. J. Carsner of Spray, Sam H. Brown of Gervais, Joe Dunne of Portland, and Herbert J. Elliott of Perrydale. House: R. A. Ford of Dayville, C. H. Oxman of Ontario, Charles R. LaFollett of Cornelius, J. E. Norton of Coquille, and L. E. Wilkes of Hillsboro.

To relieve counties from the necessity for matching the state market road levy is the purpose of H. B. 415. If enacted, counties would receive their pro-rata of the state market road tax without having to levy a county tax.

A severe contest between the building and loan associations and the banking interests in engaging attention of legislative committees which are considering tax and regulation bills. The banks want to get the building and loan associations on the same tax and regulation base as the banks and the associations are striving to retain their present status of practical exemption from taxation and to remain under regulation as mutual investment houses rather than as banks.

Insurance is one of the main objects of proposed legislation this session. So far 28 bills have been introduced relating to this subject.

To meet the revenue situation, D. W. Carlton Smith, representative from Marion county, suggests a $2.50 voters' franchise tax, to be levied on all voters for the privilege of voting. He believes voters will regard it as a privilege to pay this tax until the state is out of the "red." "They understand this kind of a revenue measure even if they do not understand all these complicated bills framed up by experts," said he. Senator Miller of Josephine county has a universal sales tax applying to everything except farm products. The rates are so low it would be difficult to pass the tax on to the consumer. So it would nearly all come out of the merchants and manufacturers.

Tobacco tax plans are being reviewed and a bill is drawn ready to shoot in when revenue necessities indicate. Repeal or modification of the millage taxes levied by the legislature is to be attempted. An adjustment will be attempted to place part of the market roads property burden on to motor vehicles in consideration of reducing license fees on old cars. A way may be found through requiring annual renewal of the driver's license.

To make chiropractors, osteopaths, naturopaths, healers and regular physicians all pass a basic science examination, is the purpose of S. B. 114 introduced by Senator Jones.

The theory behind the bill is that anyone who practices any branch of the healing profession should be able to pass an examination in physiology, hygiene, chemistry and other of the basic sciences. Those who heal by prayer are exempt.

To strengthen the Blue Sky Law for the protection of innocent investors is the purpose of S. B. 96, which was prepared by the Corporation Commissioner, using as a basis the bill recommended by the special committee appointed by Governor Patterson.

Regulating eggs is what the Legislature is attempting in H. B. 299. Difficulty is being encountered in writing a law which will clearly define a fresh egg. The bill has been in and out of committee several times. The purpose is to define a fresh egg so clearly that the cold storage egg cannot fit within the definition—no matter how fresh it looks, smells or tastes.

Wage earners who cannot collect their wages are intended to be aided by House Bill 173, introduced by the House Committee on Labor and Industry. It empowers the State Labor Commissioner to prosecute wage claims through the courts.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

Rev. Thomas J. Brady, Pastor.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday of Lent, which is a season set apart and consecrated by the Church to develop the spirit of penance, sacrifice and prayer. It is a time to prepare one's soul for the after life. Penance is not to be cast aside by anyone; it is a fundamental principle of Christian life and when prudently followed can not but scatter benediction upon all. Every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday during this holy season, known as Lent, there will be special services in the Catholic church at 7:30 in the evening. On Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays there will be special masses in the church at 7:45 instead of the usual 7 and 8:30 hours. The pastor will officiate at all these services. On Wednesdays the pastor will speak upon moral topics and on Sunday evenings he will take up doctrinal topics. On Fridays there will be the Way of the Cross and Benediction of the Cross after.

On next Sunday, February 17th, there will be mass in the church in Heppner at 11, preceded by confession and Holy Communion. There will be a second mass in Boardman at 7:45 in the morning provided the condition of the roads will permit travel. In case the pastor goes to Boardman he will leave Heppner on Saturday afternoon, and while there he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Farley. The mass will be celebrated in Root's hall and at the precise hour, as the pastor must return to Heppner for the 11 o'clock mass. The pastor regrets his inability to go to Lone last Sunday.

The ringing of the bell next Sunday will announce the hour for mass one half hour in advance. The pastor will preach at both services in addition to his sermon upon the fundamental doctrines of Christ's sacred teachings. All Christians should make some show of compassion and pity for the terrible sufferings undergone by Christ to redeem the world. The measure of one's love for the Cross and its mystical meaning, is the measure of one's faith in Christ and his love for Christ.

by five young men in the midst of a girls' school arise. Elise Benedotti, with whom George is infatuated, falls heavily in love with Bevans who tries to avoid her. The twins fall for George's sister Sally, while Miss Curtis herself takes a serious liking to Bevans. The climax comes when Elise runs away after being refused by Bevans. Bevans and Boyd both go after her, after learning her destination from Sally Boyd.

Homer Johns arrives to straighten things out, threatening to foreclose the mortgage because of violation by Bevans of the condition that none of the girls fall in love with him. On softening of heart by Miss Hays, who it develops was Johns' wife, Johns agrees to buy Bevans off, turning the school over to his ex-wife, and the final curtain falls with Elise in the arms of Bevans.

FISH AND GAME Activities

Oregon State Game Commission

During the past fiscal year a total of 20,345,278 trout were liberated in the streams of Oregon by the hatchery department of the Oregon State Game Commission. This number included rainbows, steelhead, Eastern Brooks, cutthroats, silver-sides and graylings. Practically all of these fish were six inches or more in length. The largest number, 3,857,310 went to Klamath county, but each county had streams that were planted. The smallest number, 21,320 went to Multnomah county.

The State Game Commission has adopted the policy of raising trout to a length of six inches or more before they are liberated. This insures a much lower mortality than was shown when much smaller fry were liberated. A six inch trout, liberated early in the year, will make a substantial growth before the season opens for angling.

The wild turkey bids fair to become a popular game bird in Oregon, according to Harold Clifford, state game warden. A considerable number of these birds are being raised at the game farms in Eugene, Corvallis and Pendleton. Turkeys have been liberated in Polk, Clackamas, Umatilla, Wallowa, Wasco and Curry counties. Twelve were released in Clackamas county early last spring and by fall this number had increased to 50. Sportsmen in all sections where liberations have been made are cooperating with the game commission to prevent illegal killing of the turkeys.

Approximately $400,000 is received annually by the Oregon State Game Commission from hunters, anglers and trappers. This money goes to support the 29 hatcheries and egg taking stations, the three game farms and the law enforcement and the executive departments of the commission. The commission is entirely self supporting and receives no money from legislative appropriations.

The hatchery department of the state game commission is anxiously awaiting a break in the weather so that trout plantings may be made in many Oregon streams. The heavy snow will hold up the work of planting more than two weeks, but anglers need have no fears as the trout in hatchery ponds are well fed and increase more rapidly in size than they would in streams.

Few people of Oregon realize that the trapping of fur bearing animals is an industry of considerable importance, according to the state game department. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of $250,000 worth of furs are taken and sold in the state each year.

Hints for the Home by Nancy Hart

Hours in a colorful kitchen fly by on magic wings! So what is to prevent our turning dead-white cabinets into attractive shelves of ivory or dove gray lined with a soft, rich orange shade, or some other favorite color that harmonizes with the floor covering and woodwork?

Then the crockery. One by one, out go the uninteresting specimens and in come odd-shaped pieces that are pretty with our orange linings—say moss green crocks; several in the little-brown-jug color; perhaps a piece or two in deep orange-red tone.

This transformation from the drab, characterless kitchen to the vivid, cheerful one is such a simple little trick to perform after all.

Quick Spice Cake

Put into a saucepan 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 1 cup shortening, 1 cup raisins, 1 teaspoon each cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Boil 4 minutes. When cold add 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 level teaspoon soda, beat well, pour in greased pan and bake slowly.

Marshmallow Custard

1 pint milk, 3 eggs, beaten separately, 1 cup sugar. Make a custard using milk, yolks of eggs and sugar. Put beaten whites on top and cover with marshmallows. Put under blaze and brown lightly.

For Tea Sandwiches

Mix 1/2 cup chopped English walnuts and 3 times the amount of fresh grated coconut. Moisten with cream, add 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and spread between buttered brown bread.

Substitute for Eggs

When eggs soar in price, substitute cornstarch for them in recipes. Instead of using two eggs, for example, use only one and sift one tablespoon of the cornstarch with the flour to take the place of the second egg.

Easy Toast

If you have no electric toaster and do not wish to heat the oven, lay slices of bread in the frying pan and they will brown nicely on top of the stove, leaving no crumbs to gather.

Your changed complexion are to me a mirror Which shows me mine changed, too. —SHAKESPEARE.

TREATMENT FOR THICK SKINS.

In connection with the treatment for the thick or oily skin I want to say that the first important step to be taken and considered from an extraneous angle is the cleansing. Of all skins, the oily type seems to attract more of the undesirable elements in the air such as dust and dirt.

Furthermore, on account of the size of the pores, small particles of coarse powder and old makeup become very easily imbedded, and if a thorough cleansing is neglected for any length of time, the pores will become stretched and further enlarged. This is something which should most certainly be guarded against, and the thorough daily cleansing will do it.

For the thick or oily skin I advocate the daily use of a washing preparation, preferably in the form of a pore paste that really penetrates beneath the surface and dissolves the particles lodged in the pores.

These washing preparations do more than merely cleanse the pores. They have a certain gritty action on the skin which eliminates all the poison and waste material.

I also recommend the occasional use of a penetrative washing preparation for any skin of heavy texture, even though the pores are not enlarged and there is little tendency to oiliness and blackheads. After the skin has been thoroughly cleansed, the next step is to apply your cream with a purpose. By this I mean a cream that best suits your skin's condition one that will correct a condition that is not normal. And that cream will depend on the individual condition of your skin.

Then the application of your muscle tightening preparation should follow, and this should be applied with firm upward motions that tone and brace, followed by a gentle patting in fleshy spots that will stir up the circulation and help to distribute the fatty tissues.

Regardless of one's features nothing is so charming as a soft-velvety complexion that radiates health and vitality; nothing is so detrimental to beauty as the clouded, sluggish skin. Indeed, the first draws from us an involuntary exclamation of delight which turns itself inward and makes us realize how beautiful even the least regular features seem—against the background of a lovely complexion.

And what a mission lies before those of us who have not now a beautiful skin! With each day's improvement under proper care do send out a message of hope to others, for, as the line above suggests—our changed complexions are to them a mirror which shows them theirs changed, too.
