OUR NEW PRESIDENT.

WHEN Herbert Hoover takes the oath of office on March 4, his voice will be heard throughout the world.

His inaugural address will reach not only millions of listeners in the United States, but also other millions of listeners in foreign countries.

The radio has advanced to an almost unbelievable extent. Recently programs from London were heard in New York with absolute clarity. Now this progress makes it possible for not only America, but also other nations of the world, to hear the voice of Hoover as he dedicates himself to the leadership of the American people.

How fitting that this should be so! For his activities during the distressful times of war in foreign lands have endeared him to the entire civilized world, his election was hailed with enthusiasm in messages from many countries—the world has its eye on Hoover, and now the world will be able to hear his first words as he assumes the highest office of his country.

The very thought thrills one—the world has moved forward indeed! Think of George Washington's inauguration address — his words were not known for days after the event by persons within a narrow radius, they were not heard save by those who were within the range of his voice. Today, a man in the remotest corner of the land may be "present" at an important ceremony simply by turning on a dial.

WHEN A WOMAN DRIVES.

DR. VITELES of the University of Pennsylvania has made a very interesting survey of automobile records.

He reports that women drivers become involved in accidents three times as often as men.

At first blush this seems to be rather an indictment of the woman who drives. But let us examine the fact further.

Most of the accidents in which women are involved are minor ones. They are able to act intuitively and quickly in an emergency, and so there is much less damage than results from accidents in which men are involved.

In addition, most of the accidents that happen to women drivers are the result of their carefulness. They drive slowly, and are struck far more frequently than they strike other cars, bearing the brunt of the recklessness of others.

However, it is a common failing of the woman driver to be inclined to choose the center of the road, even when she is going slow.

SPEAKING of prohibition, witness the continued existence of the dandelion after years of effort to stamp out this pest. Yet no one who cares anything for a beautful lawn has come forward with a proposal to legitimatize the stubborn weed. Wouldn't a yard full of the golden yellow blooms look gay and attractive in the springtime? But consider the first hot days of summer and see the entanglement of bald-headed stems and the litter of greyish down around the hedge, the bushes and driveway. And then in mid-summer with the broad leaves withered brownish and dried, what an aftermath for so bright a beginning. So the husbandman goes on digging dandelions in order that the home may be blessed by a cool, green refreshing lawn all season long. So, also, with prohibition, the nation goes on fighting the corruption and destruction and disappointment wrought by the liquor traffic with the best weapon that has yet been devised.—LaGrande District News.

Heart to Heart TALK

BY JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

CHANGING

This is an era of changes. And we relish them to the point of hearty welcome in most instances. Those who do not change once in a while gradually drift into that lethargic state of mind which we call a rut—and everybody resents that.

The same suit of clothes worn for too long a time grows tiresome to our neighbors, if not to ourselves, though the garments are by no means worn out. People relish contrasts, especially when the change is for the brighter, the newsier, the more attractive. And this applies to our reading matter, I think, fully as much as to mere physical appearances.

So the readers of this paper will notice our abandonment of things and words with the medical tang. Ever alert for the best at his disposal, our editor believes that an inspirational diet will be relished for awhile; he believes, and I agree with him, that the mind should be refreshed as well as the body; so it is with no little satisfaction that I take up the pleasant duty to which I am assigned.

There has never been a time when the thinkers of our beloved country have been sought with such positive energy. We are interested in everything good; the bad forces itself upon us, whether we will or no. "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good." I don't know of any better advice than that.

I heartily wish I could hear all the comments that may be aroused by the things I shall try to say to you, dear friends, during the next years. Maybe some of you will differ with me; and some of my personal friends may even clip out something of mine—and put it in the scrap-book; I shall dream that way, at any rate. And I fully appreciate the honor of taking the place of a beloved writer who has lately been called to the higher sphere.

May I hope that there is just a little corner somewhere in your heart for me to creep into and be happy?

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

Rev. Thomas J. Brady, Pastor.

Next Sunday will be the third Sunday of Lent, and within a few days one half of this holy season will have passed into history. The prophet of old was told to announce to the people of populous Nineveh, "Yet forty days and Nineveh shall be dsetroyed," and the forty days were eagerly sought for by the citizens as days of repentance and return to God. Surely on observing things around us on almost every hand the conviction forces itself upon the thoughtful mind that there are occasions when the same cry could be raised. No Christian should let this season go by without making some special return to Christ. The Catholic church has daily service each morning at 7:45, and on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Sundays another form of special devotions at 7:30 in the evening. All are invited to these services regardless of church affiliations or no affiliations. The pastor gladly extends an invitation to anyone who really wants spiritual direction or comfort to see him.

On next Sunday there will be mass in church at 8:30 with confessions and holy communion before mass; there will be a second mass in Lena at the home of Mr. John Brosnan at 10:30.

On Wednesday evening the pastor will preach upon "The Soul of Man the Image of God Hmself." On Sunday night at the same hour as on Wednesday, that is, at 7:45, he will preach upon "Is One Religion as Good as Another?" and "Does it Matter What a Man Believes?" An invitation is extended to all. Nonsense and unbridled license can invade so-called religion as well as anything else. New thought can arise in the genuine religion of Christ. Seeming religion and Being religion are two different things.

On the third Sunday of March there will be no mass in Boardman, as it will be Saint Patrick's Day. The pastor will make his monthly visit to Boardman on the fourth Sunday of March.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Mark 4:26-32; Ephesians 1:22, 23; 4:4-6, 11, 16

REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D. D.

Jesus laid down very few rules. He did announce principles which would determine right action under varying circumstances. No elaborate organization was established to carry forward His program. During the three years and three months of public ministry many called disciples attende his peripatetic school. From among those learners twelve were inducted into the apostolic office.

The Kingdom of God was frequently mentioned and was explained both by direct and parabolic teachings. This Kingdom is where the will of God is done on earth, even as it is in heaven. The Church is a term which grew up in apostolic days and means in particular those who are called out. That word has various meanings today. We are not discussing any reference to a mere building, but rather to the comprehensive organization that is called by that word. Strictly speaking, the Church is invisible and is composed of all those who are in the company of believers and obeyers. The common use of the name includes all who are members of the organized, or visible Church. The various denominations are not under consideration either; there are more than 200 Protestant sects in the United States alone.

Read, with close attention, the passages which are indicated for study today. In addition to those named above, we have Matthew 16:20-30; Romans 12:4-8; Ephesians 1:15-23; 5:22-27; I Timothy 3:15. Then turn to the word "Church" in any encyclopaedia for many general statements. You can find books on Church History in any public library.

In a recent lesson study we had Peter's confession, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," which Jesus Himself declared to be the foundation on which the spiritual church would be built. Well may the beginning be called, in the parable, a grain of mustard seed. The growth has been marvelous. The World Almanac indicates that 566,210,000 are classed as Christians in the world's population of 1,619,764,000. Thus one-third of the race claims relationship to Jesus Christ, the founder of the Church.

The different members have varying ability, said Paul in writing to the Romans, but all are "one body in Christ." The trouble is that too many do not live up to their spiritual possibility. It is stated that nine-tenths of the work in the average church is done by one-tenth of its members. Failure cannot be charged against the Church, but that indictment can be charged against the majority of its constituency.

The failure is because the members of the body will not coordinate with the Head, as set forth in Ephesians. Christ is called also the "chief corner stone." All the bodily life, thinking of an individual, and all construction, having an edifice in mind, must be with reference to Founder and Saviour. Then glorious attainment can be had, for we again behold the goal: "Unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."
