A Brave Man Dead.
 Inherited Generosity.
 Human Sacrifices.
 Useful Warnings.

Those that pity themselves because their health is "not quite what it ought to be" may consider Baron von Huenefeld, who died on the operating table, undergoing his thirteenth operation for an incurable disease of the stomach that had afflicted him for years.

Suffering hopelessly, knowing that he could not live long and must endure many operations, von Huenefeld planned and carried out the German-Irish flight across the Atlantic ocean. Such courage and will power should make others ashamed to complain.

J. Pierpont Morgan gives New York Hospital two buildings worth $2,000,000. Giving seems to be inherited, as illustrated also in the case of the Rockefeller.

Mr. Morgan's father gave to New York one of its finest institutions, a great lying-in hospital.

Serious rioting in India is caused by a report that Mohammedans kidnapped Hindu children and sacrificed them in connection with the construction of a new bridge. The report probably is not true.

Once important works were usually accompanied by human sacrifices. Somebody was killed and buried under the corner of a new building. A child or adult was often killed and buried in a shallow hole in a field newly planted. Knowing nothing about fertilizers they observed with "religious awe" that the grass grew greener where the corpse was buried.

Madame Bella Pollack died in Rumania, aged 118, leaving twenty-one children, the oldest eighty-five, and a fiance who would have been her third husband. Madame Pollack ate two and one-half pounds of black bread and a pound of sugar every day, and was never ill until her last illness.

Men often live long when the doctor tells them that they will soon die. A warning makes them careful. James Melrose, twice Lord Mayor of York, England, is dead, aged one hundred. Insurance company refused him as a bad risk seventy years ago.

The famous Luigi Cornaro became interested in his health when doctors told him at forty that he must soon die. He ate only twelve ounces of solid food, drank fifteen ounces of red wine daily, died at one hundred and four.

Lindbergh, on his way from Miami to Panama, "hopped off" on his twenty-seventh birthday.

Only twenty-seven, and his name is known wherever men are civilized.

Only twenty-seven, and already he has conquered the ocean, and, what is more important, the respect of every man and woman.

This young American's history makes millions of others feel as Caesar did when he read the life of Alexander the Great and suddenly burst into tears, realizing that Alexander had conquered the world when he was younger than Caesar was then.

"Herbert Hoover may find important aviation work for Lindbergh." Nothing more probable. An engineer knows that somebody who knows how to do what you want done is valuable.

Mr. Hoover understands the engineering part of flying and all its importance, from mail carrying to national defense.

Colonel Lindbergh understands the flying part. A fine combination. Many hats would go up in the air if young Lindbergh were put by Mr. Hoover at the head of a separate department for national air defense.

GREEN HIDES STOLEN.

Thieves entered the slaughter house of Henry Schwarz & Son on Friday night and took therefrom a number of green hides, the loss amounting to between $75 and $100. They were smart enough not to carry off any of the marked or branded hides, so it has been difficult so far to get any clue as to the perpetrators. The shop in town was also entered through the back door, the cash register broken into and some $9.00 in change carried off.

I want to sell the state right to formula for making

Dr. Roundtree's Medicated Salt
 FOR SHEEP AND GOATS

In Oregon, a scientific, thoroughly tried remedy, or will sell half interest to party qualified to manage manufacturing plant and sales. Price in Texas $3.00 per hundred lbs. retail and $2.50 in calico lots. It is a perfect treatment for sheep and goats and quickly destroys every form of worms in their stomach and bowels, also grubs in the nose. The tapeworm is destroyed as quickly as the stomach and intestinal worms. Hundreds of ranchmen in Texas are using this remedy. I have never had a complaint. It is the finest tonic if there are no worms; fine for pregnant animals. Sample of salt and literature can be seen at office of this paper.

My Lady's Beauty Secrets

By Helena Rubinstein

The Modern Mode in Mouths

Her lips are like two budding roses. Whom ranks of lilies neighbor nigh. —Thomas Lodge.

When your mouth begins to lose its mobility you are showing an inevitable sign of age. To retain the youth and beauty of your face I beg you then—look to the mobility of the mouth. The lips themselves will not grow old if they are kept soft and pliable through constant lubrication.

Either white or pink lip pomade will keep the flesh soft and even, and prevent chapping, as well. The ageing of the mouth, however, shows in line rather than in texture. A loss of elasticity in the muscles of the face is likely to develop pockets at the corners of the mouth. There is no mistaking this unbecoming sign of the years, but, like everything else, it is far easier to prevent than to correct.

If no more than the tendency is established, to massage the mouth from the center of the chin upward, using gentle rotary movements with the cushion of the thumb to which a rich nourishing cream is applied, will help to correct this condition and prevent it. The parentheses around your mouth—and most women over twenty-five show them—must be counteracted through the same methods. The dimple that is bewitching at twenty is far too often a line or a hollow at forty.

For the expression lines, the character lines which etch themselves around the corners of the mouth, a balsam astringent is an excellent precaution. The muscles will not sag if they are encouraged to firmness by either the lactee or a mild astringent jelly—this last provided the relaxation is not too noticeable.

Last of all we come to making up the mouth. I know of possibly a half dozen women in my whole experience who could not be improved by a little clever touching up of the lips.

Many women, especially the mature type, feel that lip make-up is too artificial and too extreme to become them. I grant you that some make-up is dreadful; but I also contend that it is just as dreadful for sixteen as it would be for sixty. Your mouth should be most carefully rouged. Should you be the woman in the thousand who can "get away with it," very highly colored lips may be interesting. If this be your type (and you cannot afford to guess about it; you must know), your cheeks should be pale and vivid lips the one bright spot of contrasting color in your face. The average make-up requires both lipstick and rouge, but these should be sparingly and discreetly applied.
