PIONEERS HERE FOR VISIT. Wm. Ball is driving to Arlington this afternoon to meet his mother's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yerkes, who resided near Hepp-ner some 35 years ago, but who now make their home in Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes have been spending the winter in California, and are making their first visit here since they left the county. Old timers will re-member the Yerkes farm as being just above the Kelley place up Willow creek

Richard Peterson has just closed a deal through the First National bank of Heppner for 640 acres of land four miles below Monument on the John Day river. This place has been known for years as the Swick ranch and was formerly a part of the Emmett Cochran holdings. Some 74 acres of good bottom land that is sub-irrigated lies along the river bottom and there is a lot of good grain land on the hill adjoining. Mr. Peterson will follow dairying for a time at least. as he puts the ranch in shape again, and there is every prospect that he will make a success of the venture. He is moving there with his family this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Van Marter, of Montesano, Wash., are visiting at the home of their son, La Verne, in this city. On Monday evening the Van Marter home was the scene of a pleasant birthday dinner hon-oring the birthdays of the younger Mr. Van Marter and Mrs. Mitchell Thorn, whose birthdays fall on the same day. Mr. and Mrs. Thorn and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Van Marter were the honor guests.

After spending a week at Hepp-ner, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Akers returned on Tuesday to their home at Portland. They were acompan-ied by Mrs. Carrie Vaughn who will make her home in the city in the future. The family of Frank Nickerson have moved into the property of Mrs. Vaughn.

Miss Bertha Vaughn, school teacher of Buttér creek, underwent an operation at Morrow General hospital this morning for acute appendicitis.

About to Start---

E. Phillips Oppenheim's thrilling story, "The Desperate Lover," ends next week.

"Jingle Bells"

By Frank R. Adams, the first installment of which appears in two weeks, is a worthy successor to the story about to end. Mr. Adams is the famous author of "A Stubborn Cinderella" and other successes.

"lingle Bells" is not only humorous-it has all the elements of Love, Mystery and Adventure that will keep you interested from week to week.
