There is only one way to get reday ror immortality, and that is to love this life and live it as bravely and faithfully and cheerfully as we can. -Van Dycke.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

THE development of the sheep industry in the Northwest area has been brought about by the overcoming of numerous difficulties, and it would seem that the problems prosp have not all been solved. Looking fold," to the future, a movement is now on foot by the woolgrowers' associations of Oregon, Washington and Idaho to establish shearing schools, and the coming winter it is planned to join hands with the State colleges at Corvallis, Pullman and Moscow in promoting a winter short course for instruction in the art of shearing sheep by machinery, this having become the prevailing method of getting the wool off the sheep's back.

This move is found to be neces sary because of the gradual reduction in available shearers, and the consequent advance in price for shearing demanded by the union. By the proposed schools it is expected that some 500 or more new men will be prepared to enter this field, making available a sufficient force to carry on the work more readily and thus help the sheepmen get the job done when it should be. At least that many men are expected to attend the schools this winter and take the short course.

We understand the present pric for shearing is 12½ cents per head; this seems to be satisfactory to the wool grower, but he is facing demands for a rise, and it looks like the price would advance to 15 cents. The educational feature proposed, and which will no doubt be put over, should be one means of keeping the price for shearing from advancing to a point considered by the raisers to be out of reason.

NOT A SINGLE ARREST.

THE town of Hooper, Neb., has laid claim to the "Law Abiding Championship."

It is a town of 1.014 population. and during 1928 not a single arrest was made within its borders. All the people obeyed the law, At least none were caught disobeying

William J. Dau, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of that town, says that the churches are well at-tended, the schools are well filled. and the people mostly "mind their own business."

That's the valuable lesson that can be learned from the record of this model town. The people mostly "mind their own business." When people do that, there is very little chance of their breaking any of the laws. More than that, there

It would seem that a man who could drink five gallons of bootleg hootch and sur-vive oughtn't mind a little thing like

WOOD THAT WON'T BURN.

A NORWEGIAN engineer has invented a process for impregnating wood with a substance that renders it fireproof.

A building composed of timbers of impregnated wood, it is reported. was erected near Oslo, the Norwegian capital.

All efforts to set it afire failed. Provided the cost of the process is not too great, the discovery is very valuable. It will mean safer nomes. It will mean reduced insurance rates.

The very thought brings to mind all kinds of possibilities. It strikes us too that this kind of wood has been known before. Anyway, something just like it seems to have been used in the manufacture of certain foreign brands of matches.

BLESSINGS.

" $B_{\rm advertise}^{\rm LESSED}$ are the merchants who it and in their business; for their prosperity shall increase many sagely remarks an exchange and adds:

Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or wedding; for she shall see the details of a function and the names of her guests correctly reported." "Blessed are all those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who call up and tell him whenever an interesting event oc-curs for them; for they shall have newsy paper in their town.

"Blessed are they who get their copy in early, for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart. "Riessed are those who cooperate with the editor in his efforts in behalf of the community; for their town shall be known far and wide as a good place in which to live."

There is a strong tendency on the part of wool buyers to beat down the price of wool this spring. The conditions warrant a better price for wool this year than was paid last year, and as the season develops this will in all probability prove true. It is a certainty that tariff revision this spring will be in the interest of the grower and jus-tify a better price. The buyers are always pessimistic: that's their bus-iness; they are crepe hangers, and the more crepe they can hang the bigger and taller the feather in their hat. If wool takes a drop this spring, then look out for it will only happen when the bottom drops out of everything else. Buvers will talk about the hard winter and the wool being broken, and foreign importations and rayon and cotton and a lot of other bogie bunk in their efforts to drive the price down, But neither domestic nor foreign condi-tions justify it; and wool should bring a better price this year than last, and some of the early sales in Idaho this year prove it.-Canyon City Blue Mountain Eagle.
