You'll Like Carrots This Way

Cook 1 qt. carrots and use 2 cups carrot puree to 1-4 cup bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1-4 cup milk, 1 ts. chopped parsley and seasoning. Mix carrots, crumbs and seasoning with beaten eggs, add milk, blend and fill buttered pudding cups with the mixture. Set cups in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until firm. The village hadn't even a cinema, and when a fifth-rate theatrical company came there it was an event. Tonight the were playing "The Madness of Mabel Mudgett," but the intervals were long and the audience impatient.

To keep them quiet a versatile member of the cast who had been on the music-halls, undertook to do a knife-throwing turn.

He threw knife after knife, slowly but surely pinning his pretty assistant between two rows of gleaming blades. Sometimes the knives missed her by a hair's breadth. The audience watched the exhibition in stolid silence for some time. Then a disgusted voice at the back of the hall remarked, audibly:—"Bill, let's clear out. The old fool's missed 'er again."

TASTE above everything

It is true, literally, that in making Chesterfields we put "taste above everything."

Tobaccos must be right, their aging thorough, their blending and CROSS-BLENDING accurate—all for better taste. And evidently smokers are putting taste above everything too—for they certainly do stick to Chesterfields.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

DID YOU KNOW—that most luxurious slip covers for formal rooms are made from rayon damasks and brocaded satins, both of which are washable and of a sturdy wearing quality that brings them within the first requirement for the purpose?

We all love the chintzes and figured linens. Yet there are certain rooms wherein they do not fit, and times when a silky fabric is needed to give a touch of richness.

When this be the requirement the brocaded covers add a great deal of importance to the setting and—being washable—can be used from season to season just as you would linen.
