

CHAUTAQUA TIME ENJOYED IN HEPPNER

Crowd Large; Performers Good; Children Have Junior Town.

The largest crowd ever attending Chautauqua in Heppner, and one of the largest crowds assembled on any occasion, witnessed "Smilin' Thru," the last number of the second annual Morrow County Free Chautauqua, Tuesday evening. The large tent was packed to capacity under the seating arrangement employed, and all estimates heard give attendance between 1200 and 1500 people in attendance. This was the largest number present at any single program with the first ranking second when the crowd was estimated between 900 and 1000, though a good attendance was had throughout, and the performers and superintendent were greatly pleased with the reception accorded them. The local management announces that the event is practically assured for next year, though a shortage still remains in the subscription list, and they would appreciate it if any that were overlooked would call on W. W. Smead, J. R. Brown, Gay M. Anderson or J. W. Hiatt, members of the board of directors, and place their names on the list. A financial statement for this year will be given out next week that will show exactly what amount is required to carry on the free chautauqua.

W. W. Smead was chosen director to succeed himself by the association, through balloting the last two days, being the candidate placed in nomination by the nominating committee. No vote was taken to ascertain the most popular number on the program, but the numbers were uniformly good, and the behavior of the large crowds was evidence that all were appreciated. The play, "The Clean Up," opened at 8:30 Saturday night. Given by the Pollard company of five players, this comedy hit light in nature, was especially popular.

On Sunday, the Radio Warblers, headed by Corine Jessop, "the personality girl," presented the afternoon entertainment and in the evening shared the time with Mrs. Harold Peat. Miss Jessop proved herself a very pleasing entertainer with her singing and readings, and with her accompanying artists David Hartley, violinist, baritone and pianist, and Fern Zinner, cellist, gave two programs of exceeding charm. From the numerous comments heard, if a popularity vote had been taken, there is little doubt that Mrs. Harold Peat would have been accorded a heavy vote. A world-famous Mrs. Peat brought to Morrow county people an amazing insight into international problems in her address, "The International Future of Our Children." Her charming Irish wit, personality and delivery reflected a depth of feeling and intellect. Correction in the methods of writing and teaching history, a better knowledge of world problems, less glorification of war and more picturing of its true gruesomeness to the end that there may be a new international understanding that will make future war an impossibility, were the high lights of Mrs. Peat's address.

Monday afternoon and evening the large audiences were treated to programs of rare beauty by Olivar's Philippine Troubadours, a native South Sea Islanders who played and sang the beautiful soft music of their native land, combined with many popular selections of our own country. Senora Olivar's clear soprano voice made an especial hit. Though their program was given under distressing conditions Monday afternoon due to the high wind, they carried bravely through and succeeded in captivating their audience. Monday evening George E. Toomey, twice chosen best "all round" athlete of the Middle West, put across a message with a punch, "Kicking Goal," in which he urged the youth in his audience to put all they've got into their sports and the game of life as well. His message was very well received.

The Bob Hanscom players in "Smilin' Thru" completely won their audience Tuesday evening. In the afternoon, they put on three light one-act comedy skits, appealing more especially to the children. A classic in itself, "Smilin' Thru" was made exceptionally charming by the manner presented by the Hanscom players. The stage and lighting effects achieved were not short of miraculous under the handicaps of a chautauqua tent, and the artists all proved their claims to distinction by their fine acting.

The children, especially, were soj to see the big tent go, as they had a wonderful time under the supervision of Miss Olive Brier. They were organized into a junior town, sponsoring as a project the improvement of the swimming tank. On Monday Mayor McCarty handed the keys of the city over to Adele Nickerson, junior town mayor, and the children had a wonderful time. On the council were Dean Goodman, Rena Wilson, June Anderson, Ted McMurdo, Ruth Gilliam, Ernest Clark. Messengers were Jennie Swindig and Robert Baker, and speed cop, Marion Oviatt. Each of the officers made an address at the tent Monday evening, and Spencer Crawford was presented their contribution to the American Legion swimming tank fund.

Baseball Games Are Set for July Third - Fourth

Manager Ferguson announces two baseball games, one each on the third and fourth of July, between Ione and Heppner at Rodeo field. There will be a dance each evening at the fair pavilion, with the Hood River Night Hawks orchestra furnishing the music. Some added attractions are also being arranged for the two days, giving Morrow county people who are not planning on going elsewhere a chance to enjoy themselves here.

Ione and Heppner have evenly matched ball teams, each team composed largely of young players who are on the upgrade, and playing good ball. The 2-1 game here last Sunday was evidence that neither team has much of an edge on the other. Fans should welcome this opportunity of seeing the teams in a two-day series. The games are not included in the Wheatland league schedule.

HEPPNER AGAIN WINS FROM IONE LADS, 2-1

Game One of Best Yet; Four Scheduled Games Remain of Season.

It was the second errorless game played by the Heppner gang this year, and the third straight win from Ione. There were lots of hit balls, but a small part of them counted for hits. Ione clouting out five off Drake while Heppner got six off Ritchie and Ford, three off each. Ford relieved Ritchie in the fifth after Heppner's two scores were already made.

Heppner scored the first run in the second inning, when with two away Sprouls singled and stole second from where he scored on Hiatt's single. B. Bleakman ended it by fanning. The other score was in the fourth. Drake, first up, walked and stole second, scoring on Turner's double blow. Sprouls and Hiatt both went out pitcher to first and B. Bleakman again breezed.

Ione's lone tally was made in the fifth. Rankin hit and was sacrificed to second by Akers, scoring on Ford's hit. Ford himself being caught going to third when the ball was overthrown at home to stop Rankin. Drake recovered the throw and made a perfect peg to nab Ford. George Ritchie fanned for the third out.

A nice double play was made by B. Bleakman at third in the first inning. There was one away and R. Lundell walked, going second on Rietmann's hit. Frank Lundell knocked a liner down to third which Bleakman took on the plate and threw to first, catching both the Lundell boys.

Sunday's win was the sixth straight for the locals, who have been improving every week. Next Sunday the boys go to Condon, returning in a week to play Wasco, the league leaders. Another game at Wasco and a game here with Arlington, July 7, completes the league schedule.

Condon has protested the game with Fossil Sunday, and a meeting of Wheatland league directors will probably be called in the near future to decide whether the protest stands. The protest was based on a clause in the by-laws, stating that no team shall play any player after the tenth game unless he has participated in at least one game previous thereto, unless the player recognizedly belongs to the team by virtue of residence in its vicinity. It is understood Fossil played a number of outside players. However, it was only their ninth game as they had two postponed games, and just what the ruling of the directors will be in regard to the protest is a matter for conjecture.
