

FOURTH ACTIVITIES ENJOYED BY MANY

Local People Migrate to Various Points; Ione Loses Game.

Arlington and Ukiah claimed a large number of local celebrators, while many others journeyed to the mountains for the Fourth of July period, leaving the town quite well deserted, especially on the Fourth. In consequence the baseball game scheduled between Ione and Heppner for that day was not played.

The game on the third between the two teams drew a small crowd and was loosely played, though Ione played a little more loosely than Heppner and lost to the count of 8-7 after the game had gone to the tenth inning. Dances on the evenings of the third and fourth drew fair-sized crowds, but folks didn't seem to be in a dancing humor, and the ball club faced a deficit on this account.

The Ukiah rodeo, for which the Heppner Rodeo string of buckers was used, probably drew the largest number of Heppner people. The show is reported to have been very good with Kenneth Dewey, Ukiah youth and prominent rodeo performer locally, winning both the bucking contest and best all-round cowboy decision. He rode Black Diamond in the finals, and though disqualified by grabbing leather a bit too quick, won over his two opponents who bit the dust off the top decks of Teapot Dome and Colored Boy.

At Arlington the ball game between Condon and Wasco proved to be a popular drawing card. The game was won by Wasco in the ninth inning after Condon had led by seven runs up to the eighth.

Several local parties journeyed to Walla Walla for the fireworks display the evening of the Fourth, but more popular was the mountain shade. At W. H. French's farm south of Hardman, some 150 people gathered at the large spring below the house. The picnic grounds overlook 340 acres of beautiful meadow. Excellent water, tables and fireplace make the grounds, at 4250 feet elevation and only 32 miles from Heppner and half a mile off the macadamized Heppner-Spray road, very attractive.

The sign on the gate going in reads "Blue Mountain Home," and on leaving, "Come Again." Mr. French extends a standing invitation to Morrow county folks to make use of his place.

Mike Sepanek Home Destroyed by Fire

Fire broke out and destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sepanek of Alpine on Sunday evening. Mrs. Sepanek was lighting a gasoline lantern which caused the damage. Neighbors hurried to the scene of the blaze but everything being such a dry condition there was nothing could be done. The men folks watched all the barns and outbuildings and played water on them to prevent them from catching on fire.

Mr. Sepanek was hauling in hay and on a return trip found his house in flames. They were unable to save anything. The house was partially covered by insurance. The neighbors provided them with a few necessities and the family is now doing light housekeeping in a little outbuilding which used to be their old home.

J. S. Young Family Meets For Enjoyable Reunion

The J. S. Young home in Eight Mile was the scene of a very enjoyable reunion on Friday, when Mr. and Mrs. Young were joined by all of their children who were here for the occasion, and many of their near neighbors as well. This is one of the pioneer families of Morrow county. Mr. Young having been among the very first settlers in that part of the county where he has made his home almost continuously since.

4-H CLUB MEETS.

The Progressive Livestock club and Eight Mile 4-H club held a joint meeting Sunday evening, July 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Drake, Raymond and Donald being hosts. The meeting was opened with a number of lively club songs. Following a short business session, C. W. Smith gave an interesting talk on club work and plans were made for a club picnic. Our county superintendent, Mrs. Rodgers, also spoke on club work being accomplished in other parts of the county. Five boys, attendants of the club summer school at Corvallis, gave good reports on their trip. Mr. Smith then treated the children and friends to some instructive moving pictures which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned to meet in three weeks.

WAGON TRUCK UPSETS.

The Dodge truck belonging to J. O. Hager turned over on the Willow creek road just above the Cleveland ranch Thursday evening while on the way to town with a load of wood. Homer Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hager, was driving, and with him were several children who had been up in the timber for a day's picnic. Blinded by the evening sun, Homer drove too close to the edge of the grade and the truck went off, turning over on its top. Little Dora Bailey, 10 years old, who received a broken arm, was the only person of the party injured, though the truck was quite badly damaged. It is believed the wood which held the weight of the cab was responsible for keeping the accident from being more serious.

VAUGHN-MOYER.

A surprise marriage was that of Friday night last when Miss Edna Vaughn and Marvin Moyer slipped quietly away and were married at Echo. Some one "let the cat out of the bag," however, and on their return they were busy receiving congratulations of their many friends. Mrs. Moyer is the daughter of Mrs. Leonard Barr, while the bridegroom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Moyer. Both are popular young people of this city, though Mrs. Moyer has been living in Portland for the past year where she was employed in Bartholomew's ladies wearing apparel establishment. They will make their home here.

MOUNTAIN ROADS BEING IMPROVED

Arbuckle, Ditch Creek to Parkers Mill Work Progressing.

From Roadmaster McCaleb we gather the information that work of improving the county and forest roads in the timber belt east and south of Heppner is going on rapidly. The forest service has completed the repairs to the road from Arbuckle mountain to Ukiah, and it is now in first class condition, while the county crew is busy on the end of the road this side of Arbuckle and will soon have it in fine shape.

Between Ditch creek and Parkers Mill work is progressing, the forest crew having its camp established at Dry Swale. While this road is not so generally used by the public, the forest service is putting it in shape for the better access to the forest in case of fire and it will aid greatly in getting into the timber belt out that way.

Other work being pushed at this time is that of building the connecting loop on the Heppner-Ritter road through what is known as Jones canyon. The county and the forest service are cooperating in this work on a 50-50 basis, and when the job is done there will be a good road over this section which has heretofore been one of the worst obstacles in the way of comfortable travel over the Ritter road. It is understood that beyond this point and in Grant county, needed improvements have been made, so that when the Jones canyon work is done it will not be a hard journey going over to Ritter, and the people from that section can make it into Heppner much more conveniently than heretofore.

Now that the road is in good shape to the Arbuckle country, farmers and ranchmen from the lower country will find it convenient to go there for their wood, poles and posts. In order to take timber from the reserve it is necessary to have a permit from the forest service and now is the proper time to look after this. These permits are free to those who are after wood or poles for their own use.

Clarence K. Overhulse Victim of Swimming

Clarence K. Overhulse, principal last year of the La Crosse, Wash., schools, died at Irrigon Sunday afternoon, the result of cramps which attacked him while swimming in the Columbia river. Mr. Overhulse was subject to stomach trouble, and Mrs. Overhulse believed it to be one of his usual attacks when he came to the house, having got out of the water successfully. Instead of getting better, however, the man became worse, and before a physician could possibly have been called, he died.

Mr. Overhulse was 51 years old. With Mrs. Overhulse he had intended spending the vacation period at Irrigon, and the couple were located on the Graybeal farm. Several daughters are left to mourn the death of their father, one of whom arrived for a visit shortly after her father's death without knowing that he was dead. M. L. Case, coroner, and S. E. Notson, district attorney, on Mrs. Overhulse's request, made an investigation Sunday evening, but the evidence pointed so plainly to accidental death that it was deemed unnecessary to hold an inquest.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Among wheat farmers in the Lexington section who begin their harvest this week are Earl Warner, Jimmy Leach, Nick Nichols, John Miller, who started their combines Monday. George White and son are getting ready and will be in the fields by the end of this week. Their delay was on account of not receiving the new Best tractor recently ordered, in time to begin when their neighbors did. Mr. White has disposed of all his horses and mules, with the exception of one team, and will hereafter operate with the tractor and combine. He believes the majority of farmers in the Lexington wheat belt will soon be on the tractor basis. The feed necessary to keep up the horses and mules will be partially, at least, used for milk cows and the farmers will have more cream checks coming along to pay running expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McBride of Butte, Mont., were visitors at Heppner over Monday and Tuesday, when they departed on their way to Portland. While here, Mr. and Mrs. McBride were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Parker. Walter was formerly a resident of Heppner but has made his home at Butte for a good many years, where he has been employed in the copper mines. He and Mrs. McBride are on their summer vacation, and expect to visit numerous places of interest in the Northwest before returning home.

Bert Bowker this week purchased a new Dodge Bros. truck from the local dealer, Cohn Auto Co., and had it properly rigged up at the Frank Shively shop for the bulk handling of grain. Mr. Bowker will thus save a heavy expense bill for sacks—almost enough this season to pay for the truck, and then have the machine left. We understand a number of other wheat raisers are preparing for this method of handling their grain, a bulking bin being erected on the combine and the wheat loaded from this into the truck.

Miss Elizabeth Phelps who is studying music at Vancouver, Wn., this summer, appeared before the C. M. T. C. boys at the Sunday morning service, whistling several selections. She was heartily greeted and after whistling several solos was asked to lead the boys in whistling "Onward Christian Soldiers." In the audience she recognized Maurice Edmondson and Harlan Devin, who are at the training camp from here, but due to regulations was not able to speak to them.

Russel Wright, mechanic at the Sam Lininger auto repair shop, is wearing his head in a bandage, the result of an accident yesterday forenoon when the crank of the combine engine he was cranking flew back and hit him on the head. Although he is laid off work for a while it is thought no serious consequences will result, and he will receive compensation from the state industrial accident commission for the time lost.

Dr. A. H. Johnston is expected home this evening from Portland where he has been in attendance at the National Medical association convention since Monday. F. B. George Swaggart, Pioneer Dies at Pendleton Home

According to word received by relatives here, George W. Swaggart, pioneer resident of Umatilla and Morrow counties since 1867, died suddenly on Monday evening at the home of his son, Wilbur Swaggart, in Pendleton, at the age of 81 years. Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with interment in Olney cemetery.

Mr. Swaggart had been a resident of Pendleton for a number of years past, going there with his family after residence covering a long period of years in Heppner. From the East Oregonian of Tuesday we have this short sketch concerning him:

"Mr. Swaggart was born in Davis county, Illinois in 1848 and immigrated to Oregon in 1853 with his parents, Nelson and Adaline Swaggart. They settled in Linn county, where the deceased received the most of his education. In 1867, he came to Umatilla county and in 1871 married Mildred Clark Liewallen of Weston, Ore. Six children were born to them, three of whom are living. Wilbur Swaggart of this city; Mrs. Myrtle Couch of San Francisco and Elbra Mills of Kamiah, Idaho. They settled in Heppner, Oregon, in 1878 and moved to Pendleton in 1919."

Drastic Livestock Freight Cut Asked for Heppner

Drastic changes in livestock freight rates from Heppner are recommended by Examiners Stiles and Parker of the Interstate Commerce commission as the result of investigation conducted under mandate of the Hoch-Smith resolution.

The examiners recommend that all livestock rates, both east and west bound be on a cents per hundred pounds basis, with minimum weights for standard carloads of cattle, 20,000 pounds, sheep double deck 25,000 pounds, hogs double deck 25,000 pounds, and varying lesser minimum weights for single deck carloads of calves, of sheep, and of hogs.

The new proposed rates from Heppner on carloads not exceeding the suggested minimum weights, to Portland are 30 cents lower per car on cattle, $12.00 lower on sheep and lambs double deck and $22.75 lower on hogs double deck, than the present rates; to Missouri river markets the proposed rates are $13.40 higher per car on cattle and $14.40 lower on sheep double deck; to Chicago $25.00 higher per car on cattle and $4.00 lower on sheep double deck; to San Francisco with distance computed via Bend and Klamath Falls, $28.00 lower per car on cattle than the present lowest rate, $71.00 lower on sheep double deck and $128.50 lower on hogs double deck.

The above figures have been furnished by the Northwestern Livestock Shippers Traffic league, the organization through which ten state livestock and farm organizations are cooperating in the defense of the livestock interests of the mountain-Pacific Northwest.

MRS. MIKESSELL REMEMBERED

A pretty surprise party was arranged for Grandma Mikesell on July 3rd by her daughter, Mrs. Ranek and a few of her close friends. Mrs. Mikesell was completely surprised as she was seated on the big porch at the Willard Herren home where she is being cared for. As she looked up her friends were all about her, wishing her many returns of the day and presenting her with a shower of nice presents. The cakes were decorated with tiny flags and ice cream and cake were served, a most enjoyable time being had. Those present were Mesdames L. W. Briggs, W. T. Campbell, E. F. Campbell, E. R. Spaulding, Mattie Adkins, Jennie Booher, Emma Ranek, Willard Herren and Miss Opal Briggs. The ladies all promised to call on Grandma again in 1930, but they may have a hard time working so successful a surprise another year.

The instruction is being given by Gordon Riddings, U. of O. senior who is in charge of the tank. It is hoped to organize classes for both children and adults, and the hours for instruction have been set for 10 to 12 each morning except Monday. This instruction has been made possible by the cooperation of the local chapter of the Red Cross, of which Mrs. W. P. Mahoney is president. No charge will be made for the lessons, although the usual fee for swimming will be collected to cover pool operation costs.

LEAGUE PLAY ENDS WITH WASCO AT TOP

Locals Defeat Arlington 13-2 in Hectic Final Game Here.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

| Team | Won | Lost | Pct. |
|-----------|-----|------|------|
| Wasco | 13 | 2 | .867 |
| Condon | 11 | 3 | .786 |
| Heppner | 9 | 5 | .643 |
| Fossil | 6 | 7 | .462 |
| Ione | 4 | 11 | .267 |
| Arlington | 2 | 13 | .132 |

Last Sunday's Results
At Heppner 13, Arlington 2; at Fossil 2, Wasco 1; at Condon 10, Ione 3.

One-sided, yet interesting, was the game at Rodeo field Sunday in which Heppner emerged the 13-2 victor over Arlington in the final game of the Wheatland league series. There was nothing at stake for either Heppner or Arlington, both clubs being well down the line in the percentage column and this may have accounted for the slack attendance.

Wasco is practically assured the pennant, in spite of her 2-1 defeat by Fossil Sunday. She has lost only two games while Condon, her nearest competitor, has lost three. Both Condon and Wasco have protested games with Fossil for the league to decide, but as both protests are based on the same charge the decision should make no difference in the team standings. Wasco protested Sunday's game with Fossil charging inelegibility of players.

Arlington winds up in the cellar, while Heppner ends as second runner-up in the league standings. Ione's 10-3 defeat by Condon Sunday puts her just above Arlington. Condon has a postponed game with Fossil which will be played Sunday.

Heppner scored at least one run in every inning except the seventh and eighth against Arlington, and in the fifth made six tallies when ten batsmen faced Montague before the side was retired. In this inning six hits and two walks were responsible for the scoring. Arlington's runs came one in the eighth and one in the ninth, Drake succeeding in keeping the visitors well in hand throughout. But one of the runs was made off him, a three-bagger by Groat and Dodson's sacrifice bringing in the tally in the eighth.

The big lead caused Heppner to turn Arlington's half of the ninth into a burlesque for the benefit of the stands. "Bis" Gentry relieved Drake in the box, "Ducky" going behind the bat, while other members shifted positions. The first two batters were tossed out at first, then Parrish singled and stole second, Pete Fisk stepping on first base unnoticed on the play. Wagner walked, hitting the bases. Then Bailey fell scoring Parrish, and P. Fisk was caught at home for the third out.

The local management is considering holding the team together for some post-season games. At present the Umatilla Indians are being contacted and it is possible they will appear here in the near future. Hermiston, winner of the Umatilla county league, is also being considered for a game here if arrangements can be made. The local team ended the league season considerably in debt, and it is hoped some good post-season games will help make up the deficit.
