Brains and Soil.
MacDonald Reads Hazlitt.
The Fear of Death.
A Brave Cow.

This nation, with its annual income of NINETY THOUSAND MILLIONS of dollars, treats education generously. But the value of education depends not on money, but on the brains on which the education money is spent. A crop depends not entirely on the seed, but more on the soil.

Nearly nine hundred years ago, when Abelard taught logic and theology to young men in the University of Paris, they gathered in Wintertime in a stone lined room, not heated, taking notes by candlelight. And many, too poor to pay for candles, climbed the church steeple on bright moonlight nights, to continue their studies there by moonlight.

A few such students might be worth more to the world than a thousand million dollars of endowment. Edison gave to the world more money than wealth has ever given to education. So did Pasteur. Neither ever went to college.

Ramsay MacDonald, flying from Scotland to London in a British bombing plane, a parachute strapped over his leather flying coat, read Hazlitt on the way.

Hazlitt, who worked himself into a fury over the French Revolution, quarrelling with everybody that did not approve it, little thought that within 100 years of his death, a Socialist Laborite would be Prime Minister of England, without any revolution.

Still less did Hazlitt imagine that a British Labor Prime Minister would fly to his work.

Max D. Steuer, brilliant New York lawyer, says the best cure for any man that fears death is Hazlitt's essay on death. Briefly Hazlitt says that, since we don't worry because we were not alive 100 years ago, we should not worry because we won't be alive or conscious a hundred years hence.

In rural England, a huge lion, knocked out of his cage in an automobile collision, jumped into a cow pasture. A cow with a young calf dashed at him, and gored him, attacking him again and again, until he killed her. Others, later, killed him.

The cow, not the lion, is the interesting animal, in that story, for she represents mother love, with its boundless courage. How many men would have attacked the lion with no better weapon than a cow's horns.

Consider also the marvellous inheritance of memory. The cow's ancestors, probably, had not seen a dangerous wild beast, in more than 1,000 years. But, at sight, the cow knew that the lion meant danger to her calf, and rushed to the attack. Man is not the only animal "fearfully and wonderfully made."

We Are All
Different and the Clothes Show It

Just think for a moment how different each man is from another. Our own good judgment tells there is a wide distinction. There is no general average for the human being.

And that's just the reason why we should have a merchant tailor make our clothes from quality fabrics. We like nice homes and neat surroundings.

And we want our clothes to look the part. These clothes should be tailor-made. They fit better, last longer, and are more comfortable.

know just how good your hens are as layers, compare them with some standard figures.

A blue-ribbon hen, champion of a state or section, lays a few over 300 eggs a year. An ordinary hen under average conditions will lay about 100. In one great national contest where ordinary hens are subjected to scientific care they lay 182 eggs each year. This figure was 128 until the ultra-violet ray was utilized by installing in the poultry house a glass substitute on a wire mesh base.

Potato and Bacon Roll

For a light summer meat and vegetable combination take 2 cups mashed potatoes, add 1 egg well beaten and 2 tbs. milk. Mix thoroughly, add a little flour and form into small oblong croquettes. Wrap thin slices of bacon around each croquette and fasten with a toothpick. Set in hot oven until bacon is brown and crisp. Serve immediately.

Easy Picnic Sandwiches

Mix 5 lbs. peanut butter with 5

tbs. tomato catsup or chili sauce; add enough cold water to make of nice consistency to spread, beat well and spread on unbuttered bread.

NOTICE OF SALE OF ANIMALS.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the laws of the State of Oregon, the undersigned has taken up the hereinafter described animals found running at large on his premises in Morrow County, State of Oregon; that he will on Saturday, July 20, 1929, at the hour of ten o'clock A. M. of said day, at his ranch, known as the J. H. Wyland ranch, about 5 miles Southwest of Hardman, Oregon, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash in hand, the said animals, unless the same shall have been redeemed by the owner or owners thereof.
