Silent Eloquence

A calm summer day. Overhead, the great sun beams with kindly beneficence. The forest stands with glorious summits pointing heavenward. The grass, studded here and there with wild flowers, smiles its silent approval of everything above and around. A delicate perfume permeates the already sweet atmosphere. Silence—silence everywhere eloquent beyond expression.

It is the teaching of Nature. Even the unlettered may comprehend its fullness. No lexicon is needed to point out hidden philosophies; no dictionary to detail mysterious or perplexing orthography. Only the seeing eye is required, to be able to grasp the grandest of forensic flights, Nature pleading its cause.

A calm summer evening. The moon, blushing at first, rises in her flight, to become magnificent in her bewitching beauty. Listening earth hears through the majestic silence the nocturne, the symphony, the

VIOLATORS FACE HEAVY FINE

Numerous amendments were made to the state prohibition laws during the last legislative session, and among these is one that has been somewhat of a puzzle to local law enforcement officials. This amendment on its face seems inconsistent and out of harmony with the provisions immediately following, but the ruling of the attorney general is that no mistake was made and the law must be enforced as it reads.

His attention having been called to this particular piece of legislation, he looked up the record and finds that in all cases where the word "more" appeared, it was made to read "less" and this would confirm the opinion that it was the intention to have it read that way.

The particular section in question is 2224-61 of Senate Bill No. 133, which bill provides for amending numerous sections of the prohibition law. We quote in part:

- Sec. 2224-61. Any person or persons who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, except in cases where the punishment is hereinafter otherwise specifically provided, shall be punished by a fine not less than $50, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

- Provision is also made for a second violation and the penalty is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 and imprisonment in the county jail not less than 30 days nor more than one year. The way the law reads the jail sentence goes with the fine where the party has been convicted of the violation the second time. Thus the second offense carries a penalty but little in excess of that provided for the first. It is quite evident that the only way to escape the heavy penalty provided in this amendment is to be a law abiding citizen. The bootlegger and moonshiner is up against this heavy fine upon conviction.

THE COURAGE OF PUBLIC SERVANTS.

Much has been made of the fact that Alexander Legge gave up a $100,000 a year position as the President of the International Harvester Company in order to become the Chairman of the Federal Farm Board of President Hoover at a yearly stipend of $12,000.

Naturally this was a very courageous, a very public-spirited act, and we applaud it with the greatest enthusiasm, adding our thanks to the thanks of the nation.

At the same time we want to point out that, to the glory of our nation, the ranks of our public bodies are filled with others no whit less self-sacrificing and courageous.

Men sticking to public offices for years, who would have made fortunes in the business world; men working for the benefit of the country, who curtail the private activities on which they really "cash in."

We applaud their patriotism.

It is one of the greatest traditions of this country—this willingness of competent men to subjugate their

EZEKIEL'S VISION OF HOPE
Ezekiel 47:1-9
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

When half of the Seventy Years of Captivity was over Ezekiel had the vision of the Stream from the Temple in Jerusalem. Hope is a wondrous stimulus in the midst of any distressing condition. The heart of devout Jewry was still in the land that Jehovah had given them in perpetuity. God is always timely in His promises, and the things thus assured must come to pass. Meanwhile there is inspiring cheer to encourage in the midst of daily toil.

Read chapters 40-48 as they are an entity. You will go with Ezekiel to Jerusalem, in 40:2, and behold the Jews restored to their tribal possessions, with a rebuilt Temple in the midst of the Holy City. The prophet declared the vision with assurance, knowing that his Lord could bring all to pass. The people with raptures, for their fondest hopes were being portrayed. With exactness the very footsteps had been traced as Ezekiel tells how he was guided by the angel. Water within the city had always been a problem, and particularly so in time of war. It was startling to behold water flowing continuously from the temple area wall. Usually the most that could be counted on was the water held in some cistern. The only explanation was that the altar was at the source thereof. A thousand cubits were measured as the flowing stream was followed. Since a cubit was from 18-21 inches the distance was about one third of a mile. Then another standard is used, the stature of a man. The water was ankle deep, but it flowed onward, which was contrary to experience in Jerusalem. Another 1,000 cubits and knees were covered. Again the same distance was measured and the stream was now join deep. A fourth 1,000 brought them to a condition where even a man was out of his depth and could swim at will.

This vision was not portraying a wonder. The waters were flowing for a blessed purpose. They issued from the city wall, entered the Kedron valley and rushed onward and downward to the depth of the Jordan at the Dead Sea. All had been desert desolation. Attention was then called to the conditions at the side of the stream. There was now rich vegetation and productive trees. Though the Dead Sea is five times saltier than the ocean its waters were made sweet as the stream issuing from the Temple altar flowed into it. Now life could be found in the sea that had been called "dead." In fact "everything shall live whithersoever the river cometh." This stream of fulfillment can be followed in the progress of Christianity. One third of the race has already named Him, and all mankind is helped thereby as Christianizing civilization reaches them. No previous condition of man is too hard but that life can be changed for the better. The Golden Text is similarly prophetic: "Of the increase of his government and of peace there shall be no end." Isaiah 9:7. A broader life was pictured for Jewry. Thus far they had lived for and largely within themselves. Though Jonah had given a great teaching they had yet to learn that "Other sheep I have which are not of this fold."
