Many Additions Made To College Curricula

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Sept. 3.—With the organization of a new non-degree granting school of health and physical education and the completion of plans for a number of new courses in addition to the regular curricula, everything is in readiness at the college for the reception of the incoming freshman class September 23.

All campus work in student health, physical education for both men and women, hygiene and intramural sports will be combined in the school of health and physical education with Dr. Clair V. Langston as dean. The health service quarters have been remodeled and Dr. D. C. Reynolds appointed as new director. The staff this year, for the first time, will also include a woman doctor, Miss Edith Sappington, for the co-eds.

Two-year curricula in both agriculture and home economics will be inaugurated this year for the benefit of students wishing to obtain practical training in these subjects without spending the four years necessary to complete the more technical degree-granting course. The work is all of collegiate grade and may be applied as part of the four-year course if the student later decides to work for a degree. A certificate is awarded upon the satisfactory completion of the two-year course.

Another addition this year is a privately supported, non-sectarian chair of religion, with Dr. E. W. Warrington as head, through which any student may obtain courses of collegiate grade for which full credit toward graduation will be given. Courses will be offered in such subjects as orientation of religious leadership, character education and the historical background of the Bible.

Through the combined facilities of the schools of engineering and commerce education in aeronautics will

Man's Clothes Tell Their Own Story

It doesn't pay to wear sloppy, poor fitting, catch-as-catch-can clothing now days. Not when people prefer the nicer things in every day life.

A man's clothes are just as important as anything else, in fact more so. And that's just the reason why they should be tailor made from recognized quality fabrics.

The merchant tailor isn't out of date as some fellows think. He is right to the front with the details of the latest information from the centers of style designing. He can make classy clothes for the old or young and give you just what you want.

also be offered for the first time. This will include a four-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor of science degree, a two-year pre-flying course designed to meet the entrance requirements for army or navy flying schools, and a combined technical and commercial curriculum for those planning to enter the commercial field.

"THE CONFESSIONS OF A FAILURE."

The confessions of a failure of a certain scriptural character sounds so much like the admissions of many present day folks. Failures in many walks of life are from the same cause and many have in the same way failed to live the Christian life. This is the subject of the morning sermon at the Church of Christ.

The evening sermon concerns the "Inquiry of the Greeks" who came seeking Jesus. This is a very vital theme and your attention is invited. The Bible school meets at usual at 9:45 and a large turnout is desired. Young people are requested to meet at 7 p. m.

MILTON W. BOWER, Minister.

Crisp salads, fresh vegetables and fruits, with less meat and cereals, provide an attractive and satisfying diet for hot weather. Vegetables served raw are always best if crisp and cold. Allowing them to stand for a half hour in cold water before servings will accomplish this. Any left-overs, such as lettuce, cabbage or celery, if placed in a tightly closed container, will retain their crispness for several days.

A convenient arrangement for spice cans, measuring cups and other small kitchen utensils is a set of narrow, open shelves near the work table. If they are painted a bright color which harmonizes with the woodwork they will also add to the attractiveness of the room.

Less sugar will be required and a better flavor will result if sugar is added to fruit sauces before cooking. Cooking fruits in sugar syrup helps to preserve the shape because the cellulose of the fruit is toughened by the sugar.

If flour is browned for gravy or sauce add a small amount of white flour or cornstarch because browning flour changes some of the starch to sugar and lessens its thickening power.

Cheese and soda crackers are often served as a last course at dinner.

A LETTER

You Will Find Interesting

"Your policy of giving your students the incentive and opportunity to move forward as rapidly as their own ability and application will permit makes your school unique in my judgment. As a graduate of the University of Washington and the Ellensburg State Normal School, I am glad to state that your instructors are among the best I have ever known. I do not know where I could have gone for a more profitable course than I have had at the Northwestern School of Commerce."

The Cost of Living is two and one-half times what it was in 1890

The price of household electricity is now one-third of what it was at that time.

The average price of electricity for home use in the United States today is 25 per cent UNDER pre-war prices.

The general cost of living remains at 70 per cent ABOVE pre-war costs.

The constant decrease in the cost of domestic electric service exemplifies the principle that lower costs mean increased use and greater application of electricity in the home.
