

Here's How

BY E. W. HOWE
"The Sage of Poketo Hill"

The Long Silence.
Contradictions.
Playing the Game.

My greatest ambition, at the age of seventy-six, is to be fair, polite, and as little of a nuisance as possible to others, to meet my just obligations to the world, and get out of it with as little annoyance to others as possible. . . . I long to oblige my children by being as little trouble to them as they have been to me, and I have good children. I have a vague ambition to imitate Lycurgus in one respect. When he was old and useless, he left a kind and intelligent word to his acquaintances, and went on a journey. He was never seen again. I have a vague ambition to spend my last and worst day in a distant place. An occasional friendly letter to my children, and then the long silence. . . . If my final attendants are honestly able to write to my children I was reasonably patient, and in possession of my faculties, I would consider that an achievement; old men not themselves have always been distressing to me.

I have long observed that everything is contradicted. As wise a man as I know will make a statement to me and another equally wise declares there is nothing in it, and my informant a fool. Anatole France once wrote: "Every false idea is dangerous. Dreamers are thought to be harmless. It is a mistake; they do a great deal of harm. Apparently the most innocuous are really injurious; they tend to make one disgusted with reality." . . . This I thought excellent. . . . On the same page, six lines below the statement quoted, Anatole France wrote: "To know is nothing at all; to imagine is everything. Nothing exists except that which is imagined." . . . A direct contradiction by a wise man. Which statement does he believe? Probably the first, since it is sensible, while the other is foolish. . . . Why does this author contradict himself? Because he is a writer. Having exhausted his own side, he writes pot boilers on the other. . . . Writers do this. Sherwood Anderson another author, owns two newspapers in the South. In the election one of them supported Mr. Hoover for President, and the other Mr. Smith.

Big business is like big baseball; players are mainly country town men who have climbed into fast company solely on merit. . . . I was once talking of baseball to an old player, who had been given a chance in fast company, and failed. He did not exhibit the slightest bitterness because he was compelled to quit the game, and engaged in law. "In order to be accepted in the big leagues," he said, "a man must have everything; I hadn't it." . . . In business, as in baseball, the game is played in the country as well as in the big towns and the same rules hold good; most applause and profit for those able to best hit the ball, field and display the most intelligence. The stars in the big town are constantly dropping out because of age; recruits must be had from the country, and always the recruits are selected strictly on accomplishment. . . . Any young man who understands the game of baseball and its rules understands the conditions governing success in life. If he fails to play the game as well as he might, let him take his medicine with as good grace as possible.

Frank Engelman home Saturday for a brief visit. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimore had been visiting the latter's parents in Lexington and were on their way to their home in Gladstone. Rev. Mr. Mortimore will preach in Ione October 13 when he comes to attend the state rally at Heppner. Miss Frieda McMillan was a week-end visitor at her home in Lexington. Cecil Sargent has finished his harvest work and has gone to Portland and Eugene on business. His family is still domiciled at the Harris apartment. Ralph Akers is driving a new Studabaker. Walter Dobyms made a business trip to The Dalles Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Helms have moved to Lexington. Miss Rosa Fletcher who is taking nurses training in The Dalles hospital spent Tuesday and Wednesday visiting her many friends in Ione. Rev. Chas. W. Parks held preaching services at the Baptist church Sunday evening. Earl Calkins and family of Gresham are guests in the Clair Calkins home. Mrs. George Frank and daughter Hazel, Mrs. A. Hatcher and Mrs. Henry Rowell motored to Hermiston Monday. They went to place Miss Hazel Frank in the Adventist school which opened in that city September 9.

Late Once Too Often

Such has been the cause of many failures whose stories constitute life's outstanding tragedies. Many of them no doubt relied too strongly on the personal element.

Why take a chance? One of our alarm clocks represents a small investment and may be worth a fortune.

IONE.

MRS. JENNIE McMURRAY, Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Ely returned Saturday night from their honeymoon trip to western Oregon. They will have charge of the Hal O. Ely ranch while the family is living at Monmouth.

Jack Frost paid his first visit to several of the Ione gardens on Thursday night of last week.

A few of our farmers have begun their fall seeding.

Last week Fred McMurray sold 364 turkeys to B. P. Doherty of Sand Hollow. Mr. McMurray followed this same plan last year of selling his turkeys before they were fattened and prepared for market. He retained about 35 hens as a foundation for his next year's flock.

H. L. Jackson of Portland was an over-night guest last Wednesday at the E. J. Bristow home.

Mrs. Ida Fletcher was a week-end visitor in The Dalles where her two daughters, Mrs. C. J. Calandra and Miss Rosa Fletcher, reside. During her absence another daughter, Mrs. Blain Blackwell, filled her position at the Ione hotel.

Dell Ward left for Portland Sunday to visit Mrs. Ward who is ill in a Portland hospital.

On Thursday afternoon of last week Mrs. M. E. Cotter entertained at a delightful bridge party. Those present were Mrs. Bert Mason, Mrs. L. E. Dick, Mrs. Ernest Lundell, Mrs. Roy Lieuallen, Mrs. Lee Becker, Mrs. A. G. Wilcox, Mrs. Clyde Denny and the hostess. High honors went to Mrs. Lundell and low to Mrs. Denny.

The Masons of Ione held their first regular communication after the summer vacation on Wednesday evening of last week. Locust chapter No. 119, O. E. S., held its first regular meeting on Tuesday evening of this week.

Bert Johnson drove to Arlington Friday to meet his mother who was returning to the ranch after a trip to Portland. On his return he was accompanied by Delbert and Jimmy Cochran who visited until Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cochran, and other relatives.

Many of our people attended the North Morrow County fair at Irri-gton Friday and Saturday.

Ray Beezley has rented the farm belonging to his father-in-law, L. P. Davidson, and will move his family soon from Ellensburg. This is the farm which has been rented by Roy Stender.

Mrs. Holmes Gabbert and little daughter of Portland are visiting at the home of Mrs. Gabbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Misner, while Mr. Gabbert is working Oregon and Washington in the interest of the Master Engravers of which he is president.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Carr are guests at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Alice Wiles, for a few days before they leave for work in the fruit harvest.

Katherine, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Griffith was taken to Heppner last week for medical attention. Following the advice of the physician the little lady has been taken out of school for a couple of months that she may have a complete rest.

Floyd Barnette left Thursday for Hood River where he has employment.

Friends here will be glad to know that W. E. Ahalt, who Thursday of last week underwent a serious bladder operation in a Heppner hospital, is making a satisfactory recovery. Some anxiety was felt because of Mr. Ahalt's advanced age.

Miss Minnie Normoyle is attending high school in Fresno, Calif., this year. She is making her home with an uncle.

Thin Figure Aided By Careful Choice of Dress

The reducing diet and the clothes with slenderizing lines are all passe, according to the dictates of fashion. With curves coming back, the slender women are beginning to take up the burden so gratefully laid down by their plump sisters, and the question now is how to become "pleasingly plump."

The real answer, of course, is to eat sufficient quantities of the right kinds of foods. But it takes time to gain weight, and in the meantime a little care in selection of clothing will help to give the appearance of a rounded form, according to the home economics department specialists at Oregon State college.

In the first place it is necessary to have plenty of fullness in the clothing, but at the same time having the dresses fit the figure closely, as clothing which is too loose emphasizes the thinness of the figure. Flares are also kind to the slender figure, but straight lines are to be avoided. Accenting the outside lines of the figure, the shoulders, sleeves, or hips, with decoration and using lines which go around the figure instead of up and down are other ways of disguising the "bean-pole" look.

Walter Hayes and family were in town Tuesday from the Joe Hayes ranch on big Butter creek. He is contemplating moving here for the winter.
