Official Paper for Morrow County.

INDIVIDUALS MUST RETIRE. (La Grande Observer)

THE proposition that the government should engage in business has appeals to many citizens who have not taken the time to make a close study of the subject...

Large profits are made at the public's expense by the power interests, boot-leggers, transportation systems and other public utilities...

Moreover, the principle of self-government, which has made this country both free and great, is assailed by the proposal that the government shall engage in business...

Any person living in this part of eastern Oregon, who may have wondered what forest officials meant when they spoke of added fire danger because of poor visibility, now knows what is meant.

A NEW KIND OF HERO.

TIME was when every movie hero was the "handsome ever." Every actor the least bit removed from the perfect "sheik" type was relegated to minor or villainous roles...

We are inclined to look at this phenomena as a good portent. After all in life, it is not only the handsome man who succeeds with the ladies. Evidently the movie-goers demand a new sort of realism...

The smoke clouds hanging over eastern Oregon are not pleasant—they affect the eyes and nostrils and without make bright days gloomy.

IS VACATION TIME OVER?

THE summer, which is generally regarded as "vacation time," is over. Children are going back to school and adults must get back to work again.

But, one moment, Mr. Business Man. Don't think you can plunge right into work again without realizing that you need some play, too.

We don't claim to have the biggest wild west show in the world—we'll let Pendleton have that honor—but there's no other drama of the kind more realistic, or set in a locale better suited to it, than Heppner's Rodeo.

Rodeo just a week away. Where's the big sombrero?

Tuberculosis Hospital Relieving Situation

Every section of Oregon is beginning to feel the benefit of the eastern Oregon tuberculosis hospital opened at The Dalles the ninth of last July, according to Dr. G. C. Bellinger who was in Portland for a few hours Friday.

By having the hospital at The Dalles we have actually saved both the individuals in the state, and the state treasury thousands of dollars, and what is more important, provided for the comfort of our afflicted neighbors.

LESSONS

My neighbor and friend has a strawberry field, which he cultivates for the market. His success depends on course on his diligence and the weather conditions.

Waiting three months, this condition will not exist again for some time to come. One of the recent new admissions, an advanced case, had applied only two days before he was admitted.

Wind puffs in capons, if so large as to bother the bird in walking, can be relieved by making a three-cornered tear in the skin, or taking the shears and cutting out a small portion of the skin, says the Oregon experiment station.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for September 22. MALACHI FORETELLS A NEW DAY Malachi 3:1-12

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D. The closing book of the Old Testament reveals the general physical and spiritual condition of the Chosen Nation about 100 years after the Temple was rebuilt and altar worship established again in Jerusalem.

First, wrong doing in the priesthood is condemned. Then the people are told of their general and specific sins. Safety is assured only as righteousness is followed. People must deal justly with all their neighbors and be lovingly obedient unto the laws of the Most High. A better day was always before His people. From the old there has been the promise of the coming of the Messiah. Now the approach is heralded, though the exact time is both unstatic and even distant. Special preparation was always made when any monarch was about to pass through the land, and it was even more fitting to prepare for the Anointed One. In prophetic utterance the work of John the Baptist, the immediate forerunner is declared, but all the people are exhorted to be ready for "the Lord will suddenly come to his temple." Cleansing as by fire would naturally be in the mind of the Hebrew and the simile of burning away the dress until the refiner's image could be discerned in the vessel was used. The misery of today would give place to the joy of tomorrow in that new day. In fact, it was God's love that saved them in the midst of their continuing sins. Specifically, they were reminded that they were even robbing God when they pretended to turn over the customary tithes and yet retained part of it for their own use. This indicated a divided heart in which God was not fully enthroned. Not to be mechanical but rather to indicate by action that the heart was right they were urged to "bring up the whole tithes into the storehouse." Such stewardship was needed then, even as now. Every religionist, no matter what his profession should give both proportionately and systematically. A tithe for some is the minimum. In addition to that amount the Jew gave many free will and thank offerings. A glorious promise goes with such a call to conscientious stewardship. Our God has blessings untold that He is eager and ready to give to His obedient children. He will spiritually and materially "open up the windows of heaven."
