

BOARDMAN

Hazel and Lucile Tyler each have a September birthday, the former Sept. 27 and the latter Sept. 17, so on Saturday they had a party together, each girl having 12 of her friends. It was a beautiful day and many games were played on the outside and a number of indoor games enjoyed as well. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Tyler served a dainty lunch. The table was very pretty with the two candle-lighted cakes, one with blue tapers and holds and the other with pink and dainty pink candy-filled baskets at each place. Mrs. Claude Myers, Mrs. A. T. Hereim and Miss Katharine Brown assisted.

J. R. Johnson and daughter Rachel motored to Wasco Thursday. Sunday was Rally Day at the church. A short program was given at the Sunday school hour.

Mr. Lamley was a guest at the Nils Kristensen home for several days last week. Mr. Lamley is an old Columbia river captain and has made his home at Astoria for years. He was the former owner of the Kristensen ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown of Spray have rented the Earl Cramer ranch and have moved there. On Tuesday, just a day or so after their arrival, Mr. Brown received word of the death of his father at Condon so went up there. Mr. Humphrey did chores for him during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gorham entertained at four tables of 500 on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown held the highest score and were suitably rewarded as were Mr. and Mrs. Blayden for low. After the game the guests partook of an elaborate luncheon. Present were Messrs and Mesdames R. Rands, D. Ransier, C. G. Blayden, L. G. Smith, Nick Faler, Ray Brown, Claude Coats and the host and hostess.

O. H. Warner has been ill the past week.

Boardman was well represented at the Rodeo at Heppner. Earl Cramer, Mrs. Frank Cramer, Norma Gibbons and Basil Cramer formed one group. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barlow and Mrs. Elva Perry remained in Heppner for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hereim were guests of the Marschats Saturday night, going to Pendleton for dinner and attending a movie later.

Mrs. L. C. Cooney and baby son returned to their home Saturday from Hadleys where Mrs. Hadley cared for them. Both are feeling fine.

Meffords motored to Wapato for a week-end visit with relatives and friends.

Glen Hadley and Lowell Spagle have gone deer hunting. They will meet Bert King of Salem and a friend of his at Spray and all will return the last of the week. Misses Pearl and Esther Nickerson are home from The Dalles.

George Earnshaw of the A's a Great Hurler

He's likely to be very prominent in the World Series—George Earnshaw of the Athletics who clinched the pennant for Connie Mack with his 21st victory. He is the first pitcher in the Major Leagues to win twenty games this season.

to the "great beyond" as anyone would ever wish to. While he and Ed Barlow were putting a ring in the nose of the large Holstein bull at the ranch the animal charged. Mr. Gillespie was against the fence with horses rearing on either side of him, but for bruised legs and feet was not hurt badly. No bones were broken. It was indeed a narrow escape and friends are all thankful it was no worse. The bull was dehorned after the scare.

Robert Berger is now employed at Gateway, Ore., as operator. Ray Barlow, another local boy, is working as relief operator at Cascade Locks.

Nate Macomber and E. T. Messenger made a short but successful trip to the mountains over the week end, leaving Saturday night and returning Monday, each bringing a fine deer.

Miss Mae Hango has gone back to Kelso. She carried mail for her brother while he had his vacation. Misses Pearl and Esther Nickerson are home from The Dalles where the former was in the hospital. She has had difficulty with nosebleeds as her blood fails to coagulate.

The Lewis Players gave a show here Monday evening to a good house. They were sponsored by the local P. T. A. on a percentage basis. They gave a good, clean show, with some numbers of exceptional merit. The clown and acrobat were numbers that appealed especially to the crowd as did the lad with his eccentric dancing. The ventriloquist was good. The show closed with the Chinese number—a girl climbing in a box with twelve swords placed through openings in it apparently piercing the lady, but for an extra sum one was permitted to go on the stage to see how the trick was done.

A crew is working at Messner constructing the foundation for the new coal chutes which are finally to be erected. The old chutes burned three or four years ago. The new ones will be much more up-to-date.

Alec Wilson and J. J. Kelly were here the first of the week from Heppner. On Tuesday Mr. Kelly shipped out two carloads of lambs purchased on the project, to Chicago. Tom Seahorn of North Carolina, who has been at the Sanders home for several months, accompanied the shipment and will go from there to his home. His brother, Ray Seahorn, came recently from Carolina to stay at the Sanders'.

Royal Rands and family motored to Echo Sunday taking Mrs. Rands' mother, Mrs. Mary E. Hiatt to visit her son there.

Dr. Donnelly is having a concrete silo erected at his ranch west of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ingelo stopped at the Rands home for a week's visit on their way to Salt Lake from the coast.

Peter Farley has succeeded in killing five of the coyotes which have been raiding the lambs and turkeys in that section.

A. G. Thompson and Dr. L. L. Murphy of Hood River were hunting guests at the Rands home on the opening day.

Harold McWade and wife of Wasco were hunting here Tuesday.

The usual terrific bombardment was heard Monday and Tuesday, the first days of hunting season, and brave was the rancher who ventured forth from his house—fearing a stray shot from the mighty nimrod of the city, a shot that might perchance graze his sun-tanned cheek or caress his gentle brow for nine out of ten city hunters know about as much as to the proper way of handling a gun as does the average six-year-old, and shoots indiscriminately. A movement in the alfalfa brings a shot which may end the life of a turkey or chicken instead of a pheasant.

(Too late for last week.)

Joseph Krantz, son Arnold and daughter Arline and sister-in-law, Miss Ethel Pollock, of Portland, were house guests at the T. E. Broyles home for the week-end, and Miss Edna Broyles who is employed in the office of the Lane county agriculturist at Eugene, who came with them and all attended the Round-Up on Saturday. Miss Edna remained for a visit. On Monday Ethel Broyles left for the Eastern Oregon Normal school at La Grande where she will complete her course.

Irrigon and Boardman ladies are asked to exhibit their fancy work and cooked foods at the Hermiston Project fair, Oct. 4 and 5. There are a number of premium lists here. Miss Adaline Wilbanks is improving slowly at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland. Her jaw which was fractured had not yet been set because of the swelling.

A disastrous fire occurred last week at the island where the pumping plant was burned entailing a loss of $2,000. Cause of the fire is unknown. The blacksmith shop and roof of one of the dwelling houses was burned. The fire ruined the expensive Diesel engine which pumped water for the 400 acres of alfalfa from the Columbia river. Just what will be done is yet undetermined. The Bialock island project is owned by the Riverside Farming company and was an expensive outfit.

Western fat stock is making an enviable reputation

That middle western states are not the premier fat stock producing centers of the nation is shown by the fact that animals from Pacific Coast states are winning awards in the foremost shows of the country. Climatic conditions here are particularly favorable to successful and economical production.

Then, too, in the development of this industry, breeders are encouraged and inspired to greater effort by our own Pacific International Livestock Exposition, the 19th Annual of which will be held at Portland, Oregon, Oct. 26-Nov. 2. Featured this year will be exhibits of pure bred Beef and Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Horses, Hogs, Goats, Foxes, Poultry, and Rabbits. Also Dairy, Manufacturers' and Land Products Shows; Industrial Exposition; and world-renowned Horse Show... Premiums offered total $100,000.

We, here at the First National Bank, know of no equal opportunity of seeing the nation's finest and best in livestock of every kind and of learning the profitable results which have been obtained through raising breed standards. For this reason we urge every farmer to attend the Pacific International.
