

Hints for the Home by Nancy Hart

With the "indoor season" just ahead, many homes will find themselves considering the purchase of a brand new radio to replace one now out of date or—thrill of all thrills—it may be the first radio to come into the home!

When setting forth to buy the great question is always, what type, what make, what design will prove best. A definite rule cannot possibly be laid down for guidance, for today there are many excellent radio sets on the market. Splendid tonal quality may be found in the products of several leading companies. Beauty in design is the general rule. Ease of operation has been the aim of all designers. Prices can be found to fit any purse. With this promising field to roam in there seems but one point which need concern us greatly, and that is—the strength and reliability of the company making the set.

Regardless of preliminary good behavior, we want to know that our radio is sponsored by a concern whose policies have guided it safely through years of operation, so that we may rest assured our instrument will serve us reliably for a very long time. After all—buying a radio is not widely different from the purchase of a car or sewing machine—two investments we would never think of making without the comfort of a good, reliable name to lean back upon.

Special Breakfast Menu

Grape Cup
Waffles
Creamed Chicken
Pecan Muffins
Coffee

Eggs Piquant

Slice five hard-boiled eggs, add 1 cupful cooked macaroni, 1-2 cup grated Switzerland cheese, 1-3-4 cups white sauce and seasoning of salt, onion juice, paprika and anchovy essence. Turn into buttered baking dish, cover with 1-2 cup buttered crumbs and a sprinkling of cheese. Brown in the oven. Serve as a main dish with mixed vegetable salad.

Eggless Muffins

Sift together 2 cups flour, 1-4 cup sugar, 4 ts. baking powder, 1-2 ts. salt. Work in 2 tbs. butter and add gradually 1 scant cup of milk. Stir in a cup of blueberries or chopped raisins and bake in buttered muffin pans.

Creamed Spinach

Cook 2 lbs. spinach in a covered pan; drain and chop fine. Return to fire, add 1 tbs. melted butter, salt and pepper and when butter melts add 2 tbs. cream and 2 hard-boiled egg-yolks chopped fine.

Pineapple and Grape Salad

Dice a pineapple and mix with an equal amount of white grapes from which skins and seeds have been removed. Add one cup of finely chopped nuts. Serve with cream mayonnaise.

When Peeling Apples

Always use a silver knife instead of a steel one when peeling apples and you will avoid discoloration on the fingers.

Beauty Secrets

By Helena Rubinstein

Beauty is Nature's brag, must be shown in courts, as feasts, and high solemnities. Where most may wonder at its workmanship. —MILTON.

WHEN HUMAN INTEREST IN BEAUTY CULTURE BEGAN

In order to trace the very first interest manifested by women in the development of personal beauty, one would have to go back to the very beginning of time. From extensive research, I find that there was never a time when people were not interested in beauty culture, although the varying standards of the different ages must naturally have seemed ridiculous to each succeeding generation.

The Atlantians in 2300 B. C. have handed down to later generations the earliest reputed records of the use of cosmetics. The Chinese civilization brought about a pursuit of beauty that amounted almost to a religion. One of the manifestations which persisted in later years in China was the custom of binding feminine feet in order to keep them tiny. This seems to us such a cruel practice, and yet the Chinese women never protested, accepting this as a part of the daily routine.

Our very ancient ancestor in America, the pre-historic Indian, thought a misshapen skull the highest form of beauty. Skulls were actually deformed in infancy and despite the danger of such operations these Indians lived to a ripe old age.

When some people today deplore the modern woman's intense interest in personal charm, they are ignoring the fact that this interest in beauty is an inheritance of woman which has been handed down to her for thousands and thousands of years. As for woman's right to be interested in beauty culture, I can only refer you to the Bible—to the "Song of Solomon" dated 1014 B. C. "When Jehu was come to Jerusalem, Jesebel heard of it, and she painted her face and tidied her hair and looked out of the window." Certainly modern women can do no better than to follow the sage behavior of Jesebel.

Hoss Gives Statement On Primary Line-Up

Less than eight months away is the primary election at which the voters of the Republican and Democratic parties in Oregon will select their candidates for the various public offices to be filled at the general election November 4, 1930.

A statement prepared by Secretary of State Hal E. Hoss shows that nine positions will be listed on the national and state department of the ballot to be prepared for the primary election May 16.

In the state at large the chief interest will center around the offices of the U. S. senator and governor, when party candidates will be chosen to contend for the honors now held by Charles L. McNary of Marion county, and I. L. Patterson of Polk county, respectively.

The terms of two justices of the supreme court, O. P. Coshaw and Harry H. Belt, will also expire in 1931, and the voters of the state at the spring election will have the opportunity to name their party standard bearers for these positions, as well as for the office of superintendent of public instruction, now occupied by Charles A. Howard, and the office of labor commissioner, of which the incumbent is C. H. Gram. Each of the major political parties will also utilize the primary of 1930 to elect its national committeemen, although Ralph E. Williams, Republican, and Oswald West, Democrat, will continue to function in their respective offices under their present commissions until the party candidates for president and vice-president are nominated by national conventions in 1932.

In each of the three congressional districts of the state, a party candidate will be designated for the office of representative in congress, the terms of W. C. Hawley in the first district, Robert R. Butler in the second, and Franklin F. Korell in the third, expiring in 1931.

Nominations will also be made for five judges of the circuit court, namely, for the offices of L. H. McMahon in Linn and Marion counties, Robert G. Morrow and Clarence H. Gilbert in Multnomah county, Fred W. Wilson in Hood River and Wasco counties and C. H. McCulloch in Baker county.

Seven counties, Benton, Jefferson, Klamath, Lake, Multnomah, Polk, and Walla, will select candidates for district attorney, and, completing the district requirements at the May election, will be the nomination of candidates for fifteen seats in the state senate and for the full complement of sixty places in the lower house of the legislature. The senatorial memberships are distributed as follows: Marion county 2, Multnomah, Linn, Lane, Jackson, Yamhill, Clackamas, Clatsop, Umatilla and Baker counties, one each; Lane and Linn, one jointly; Morrow, Umatilla and Union, one jointly; Benton and Polk, one jointly; and Clackamas, Columbia and Multnomah, one jointly.

GASOLINE TAX.

Continually increasing sales of gasoline and distillate have made August the peak month in the amount of tax collected from such sales since the gasoline tax has been in force. Summer motoring, increase in tourist traffic and additional automobiles in operation have contributed to the month's sales, bringing an increase in total collections for August of this year of $58,029.63 over August, 1928, according to statistics compiled by Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state. The amount for this year was $549,382.42, while August, 1928, the highest peak in the year, showed a sum of $482,352.79.

ust reached a new level of 17,700, 925.8 with sales of distillate amounting to 374,185.3 gallons. For the nine months of 1929, a total of $3,166,074.04 has been collected, bringing gross collections since the tax became effective in 1919 of $25,778,036.07. Of this amount, with refunds and administrative expenses deducted, $24,371,959.93 has been transferred to the state highway fund for construction of highways.
