

Local Happenings

While returning from the Harry Turner ranch in Sand Hollow on Saturday evening, Mrs. F. W. Turner and daughter Anabel had an accident that could have resulted far more seriously than it did. Coming down Hinton creek just above the Garnet Barratt ranch, Mrs. Turner dropped off to sleep, and the car not being accustomed to a lifeless driver, left the road and ran into the bank, so our informant states, the result being somewhat damaging to the sedan, while the occupants received minor injuries. Mr. Turner, who has driven the car quite a lot since he purchased it in the early part of the summer, contends that the machine has already performed many marvelous feats in keeping him out of trouble, and in no way blames the Studebaker for such unseemly conduct.

Stanley Jewett of the predatory animal department of the U. S. Biological survey, headquarters at Portland, was in Heppner for a couple of days the past week, getting in touch with the government trappers here and giving some attention to the program for ridding this territory of coyotes. He expressed himself as well pleased with the work being done by Messrs. Knoblock and Nicely in charge of the work at Heppner and Butter creek, and stated that he greatly enjoyed getting away from the office at Portland and going into the country with the trappers, assisting them with their work. Mr. Jewett went on to Pendleton from here.

W. P. Mahoney, president and J. G. Barratt a vice president of Oregon Woolgrowers association, attended a meeting of the executive committee at Pendleton on Thursday last. Other members attending were Ernest Johnson of Enterprise and K. G. Warner of Pilot Rock, also vice presidents, the meeting being held at the office of Walter Holt, secretary. The Dulles has been chosen as the meeting place for the next state convention of the association, to be held the 16th and 17th of January next.

Harry Turner and wife departed on Sunday with their little son, Keith, going to Portland to consult with specialists. The baby has been ill for some time and his condition has reached that stage where his parents have become alarmed. They will place him in care of the best specialists in the city. Mr. Turner returned home on Tuesday, leaving Keith in charge of Dr. Bilderback, baby specialist at the Doernbecher hospital.

The Union Missionary society will meet at the Christian church on tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, at 2:30. An interesting program has been prepared, in which the societies of the Methodist, Christian and Episcopal churches will have part and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend.

Roy Johnson, now located on the R. L. Benge place in Six Dollar canyon, was a visitor in Heppner on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson returned on Sunday from Portland, where they had spent a week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Edna Slocum who will remain in the city for a few days while attending to business matters. During her stay here, Mrs. Slocum has disposed of some of her real estate holdings. Pat Mollahan purchasing the lots facing Main street and adjoining his service station property on the north. This property extends thru to Gale street and has been occupied by Ed Breslin and family for several years. F. W. Turner & Co. handled the deal.

David Hynd, of Hynd Bros. company of Sand Hollow has reported the early part of the week to be quite ill at the Seward hotel in Portland, where he was stopping while on a visit to the city. Later reports are to the effect that he is much improved and the illness proved to be not so serious as at first thought. His sister, Annie Hynd, is also visiting in the city, going down with her nephew, Herbert Hynd of Cecil, early last week.

W. P. Mahoney, vice president of First National bank, accompanied by Mrs. Mahoney, departed on Friday night for San Angelo, Texas, to attend the convention of the National Woolgrowers association, representing the Oregon Wool Growers association as its president. Mrs. Mahoney will attend the meeting of the ladies auxiliary and they expect to be absent from Heppner for two weeks.

M. R. Morgan and Frank Engelman were looking after business here on Monday afternoon from Ione. Mr. Engelman, who was quite ill for some time is now greatly improved and able to attend to his business affairs.

Dr. Samuel Tyler, eyesight specialist of Bend, will make his next regular trip to Heppner on Sunday and Monday, Dec. 1-2. Comfortable glasses guaranteed. At Hotel Heppner. 36-37

Chas. Benefiel, Oliver Coryell and Frank Brace were Irrigon residents in the city for a short time on Monday while looking after business. Mr. Benefiel is a farmer on the project and thinks the people of the Irrigon district did very well this season. Mr. Coryell is in the garage business there and Mr. Brace also a farmer, is a member of the Irrigon school board.

Ray McAlister of Lexington was in town early Tuesday morning, getting a couple of fingers on the left hand dressed by a physician. While feeding a board through a circular saw, his glove caught and the middle and third fingers suffered injury, the middle digit being quite badly lacerated.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Van Marter motored to Portland on Friday, planning to go to Eugene for the big football game on Saturday. Mr. Van Marter expected to spend a few days in the city while selecting some stock for Peoples Hardware company for the holiday trade.

L. D. Neill, Butter creek sheepman, was looking after business at Heppner on Saturday.
