

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HERREM, Correspondent.

"Can you beat it? Mrs. Glen Hadley who has had pronounced success with poultry gathered 210 eggs one day last week from 220 pullets, almost 100 per cent lay in mid winter. They have excellent facilities for poultry and give the birds the best of care and are well repaid for their work.

Miss Mabel Miller of Seattle is a guest at the D. F. Ransier home.

Boardman farmers shipped the balance of their turkeys at the January pool on Monday. The price offered at this pool was much better than the December price. That a cooperative organization will not succeed, at least in this project, was shown by the results of the Turkey Growers association, for in December many of the growers shipped their birds to Portland or elsewhere.

In fact so many of the Umatilla project farmers did this that the grading and packing crew at Hermon was not kept busy. When a farmer works for months raising birds and a concern next door offers him one cent premium, naturally he's going to take it regardless of contracts, even though conditions may later react against him.

Boardman had two bitter experiences in cooperatives in the early days here with a hay growers association and with a cheese factory. The principle is sound but somehow it doesn't seem to work out satisfactorily. When a farmers' organization gets as large as the Turkey Growers association, the packers and speculators begin to worry and do their utmost to kill it, for if a farmer ever learned his power, just what would happen to the middle men? Farmers might well take a lesson from the bricklayers union.

The P. T. A. sponsored a movie, "The Head of the House," Friday night. Because of the cold weather there was only a small attendance and expenses were barely met.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fortier entertained another group of friends on Wednesday evening at a 500 party. After an interesting game it was found that Miss Spiks and Mr. Gillespie received high honors, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marschat received consolation. Others present were Messrs. and Mesdames Coats, Dillabough, Kennedy, Mead, Gillespie, Miss Henry and the hosts.

The upper wall of the Mefford house will be removed and a one-story house made of it. The house was destroyed by fire last summer, leaving only the concrete walls standing. These were badly cracked by the heat. The Meffords have been living in their garage since the fire.

Everyone is urged to attend the February Silver Tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Royal Rands, Feb. 5. At this time each person who has taken part in the capsule stunt will tell what her capsule has done for her and whom she thinks it is, and the identity will then be revealed.

L. E. Marschat and Mrs. Martha Titus made a business trip to Heppner Saturday on business connected with the coming declamatory contest. Mr. Marschat is chairman of a committee for reorganization of the methods of handling the declamatory contest, involving a consideration of having divisional contests so that the contests at Heppner will not be so lengthy.

Mrs. Titus was on a committee to work with representatives of Umatilla county with a viewpoint of finding some common ground for intersectional declamatory contests. Mrs. Rodgers is chairman of this committee. The executive committee will meet in the near future and complete its plans for the contest. The date will be set at this time.

A wedding of interest was that of Esther Nickerson and Eli Knight on Saturday, Jan. 11, at Pendleton, when they were united in marriage by County Judge Schanep at 11 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nickerson, aunt and uncle of the bride, accompanied them and acted as witnesses. They returned on Sunday and will remain at the home of the bride's parents for a few days and then go to Sunnyside, Wash. The bride, who is just 18, is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nickerson and the groom is a stranger here, but a man of sterling worth. They were given a charivari on Sunday night.

Lexington acted as host to the Pomona grange on Saturday, Jan. 11. More than 40 persons from Boardman attended in spite of the extreme cold but even so, the Willows grange carried away the banner for attendance.

Eighty-four persons were given the fifth or Pomona degree at this meeting. Members of Greenfield grange put on two beautiful tableaux. Mrs. Rands sang with Mrs. Mead at the piano, during the portrayal of these. The grange at Lexington, recently organized, proved itself to be a royal host and a wonderful dinner and supper was served to the guests.

Mrs. A. W. Porter came home Sunday from a pleasant week's visit with relatives at Portland.

A telegram announcing that Bert Richardson was worse was received Saturday. Mrs. Richardson went down at once and found him improved. She returned on Sunday.

Boardman's basketball team did not make as good a showing Saturday night at Stanfield as was desired. There were several reasons for this—a smaller floor, and some of the stronger members of the team being incapacitated. Stanfield simply walked all over them. Better luck next time.

Boardman farmers who are milking cows are pretty much discouraged over present cream prices and Boardman ranchers owning sheep are wondering how they will be able to pay to have their sheep sheared in the spring with wool at its present extreme low ebb. Pity the poor farmer for being a farmer. Hay high, feed high, cream low, wool low, turkeys low; it's a great life and at that the average farmer here though poor he may be, isn't worrying about his food supply or standing in a bread line.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Waite were both quite ill with flu, but now are on the mend. Dr. Gregson of Arlington was called on Friday and advised Mr. Waite to remain in bed for several days longer. Mr. Thurber was the relief operator sent out from Portland the first day or so. Mr. Thurber is a versatile person, being not only an operator but an aviator, photographer, and a writer for the Associated Press in addition to holding the present world's record for distance in a glider. He plans to bring his glider up to this section some time because of the contour of the land. He feels that opportunities for an even greater distance are offered than in the valley. The interesting pictures of petroglyphs at Roosevelt were all taken by Mr. Thurber.

We may not have much to brag of financially in this section, but we surely do have the climate, and the past week we had almost too much of it, but previous to that time we had weather that would make a Californian livid with envy.

Nick Falser and Paul Smith have both been leveling land for some time.

D. W. Millers have had a telephone installed.

The new coal chutes at Messner, built by contractor Tom Keene of Portland, are completed and in operation. Two months were spent building them. They are of all steel construction and have a capacity of 150 tons. They are so built that engines may be cooled from either of the main lines. A large Kohler light plant has been installed. The chutes cost $40,000.

Mrs. Lowell Spagle was the honor guest at a lovely party given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Glen Hadley at her home. After a pleasant afternoon a delicious repast was served by Mrs. Hadley with the assistance of several other ladies. Thirty-three ladies were present. The Home Economics club met with Mrs. Chas. Wicklander on Wednesday. The usual fine luncheon was enjoyed, followed by a business meeting with the new president, Mrs. Brice Dillabough, in the chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher E. Lewis returned Friday from a wonderful month's vacation trip. They stopped at Campbellsville, Ky., where they visited Mr. Lewis' parents. A pleasant visit was enjoyed at Joliet, Ill., and at Fremont, Neb. They encountered 14 inches of snow and a blizzard in Chicago and cold weather on the entire trip. W. R. Comb of The Dalles was substitute signal maintainer for Mr. Lewis.

Many salads would be improved by better seasoning, particularly by the addition of salt in vegetables. One satisfactory way of getting the salad well seasoned is by preparing the ingredients a little beforehand, and allowing them to soak in French dressing for a while. They may then be drained and used with any type of dressing desired.

A heavy, rich meal is more enjoyable and more healthful if followed by a light dessert, while a richer, more substantial dessert may very well be served following a light meal.

Eggs and cheese, both being protein foods, are best when cooked at a low temperature.
