

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Duran, who have been on their Blackhorse farm for the past three years, are gradually bringing things up to date again. They have just finished installing an electric light plant for the house and barn and other out-buildings, and this will be followed by the placing of modern water conveniences in both residence and barn, the pressure being supplied by a reservoir elevated sufficiently to give the force needed, both electric and water plants being powered from the same engine. Mr. Duran has in 500 acres of wheat that is now coming along fine. Getting to Heppner from the ranch is not easy yet, as the roads are soft and slippery, but a few more days and the ground will be fully settled. Their part of the county had nearly 20 inches of snow and the ground got the benefit of the most of it when it melted. Mr. and Mrs. Duran were visitors here Tuesday afternoon.

A cablegram received on the 6th of February by Mrs. Alex Warren of Kinzua, Ore., announced the death at Collie Hospital, Western Australia, of her daughter, Nellie Ann (Robison) Cull, which occurred on January 28th. Death resulted from pneumonia. Mrs. Cull leaves six children and her husband to mourn her loss, at the Australia home, besides three brothers, Clyde, Roy and Henry Robinson, and one sister, Mrs. Grace Harrison, and her mother, Mrs. Alex Warren of Oregon. Nellie was born at Hardman, Oregon, December 7, 1902, and was well known there.

J. W. Becket, who registers as a voter in Multnomah county, maintaining a residence in one of the Portland wards, came up from that city the end of the week. He was in Heppner Saturday with his son, Charles Becket, from the old home on Eight Mile, where J. W. has enjoyed spending a lot of his time during the past few years. In fact, he admitted to the G. T. man and a few other friends, just on the quiet, Saturday, that he wished he was living in Morrow county—he likes it here and cannot get weaned away.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Morgan and Mr. Morgan's father, M. R. Morgan, were lone people in the city on Saturday. M. R., pioneer wheat-raiser of the lone country, who retired a number of years ago from active participation in the game, states that the present indications point to a splendid yield for the 1930 season. So far as he has been able to learn, there has been no damage because of the cold weather, and the ground contains the best supply of moisture it has had for many seasons past.

Roy Neill, who was in Heppner on Saturday from his home near Pine City, reports everything looking fine on Butter creek since the warmer weather set in. Alfalfa fields are putting on their coat of green as a result of growing conditions. Stock along the creek wintered in fine shape and the hills will soon furnish green feed, providing the present warm weather continues.

Alonzo Edmundson, who has been in Portland for some time receiving medical attention for his jaw, which was seriously injured in an automobile accident, returned home Sunday night, expecting to be here for a week. The condition of his jaws is somewhat improved, but it will be some time before complete recovery from the accident.

Herman Neilson was in town from his Rood canyon farm Tuesday. He found the roads leading to the highway a little slick, but travel not so bad. Up Hardman way everything points to an early spring, and grain seems to have come through the cold snap devoid of injury.

Tindal Robison states that roads out his way are almost impassable, owing to the soaking they got when the big snow departed. He fully satisfied himself of this fact when he undertook to make a journey from his Eight Mile farm to Condon, where he was called to see his sister who had suffered injuries by falling. He left home at 2 p. m. and was able to make it into Condon, a distance of 35 miles, after 1 a. m., just having all kinds of trouble in getting over portions of the road. It would have required his making a journey of about 110 miles through Heppner and around to Condon by the highway, but at that he would have saved a lot of time, and the journey would have been much more pleasant. Mr. Robison was looking after business here on Friday, having just returned from Condon.

E. W. Bergstrom, young farmer of the Gooseberry section, was attending to business affairs in Heppner on Friday, it being his first trip to town for a number of weeks, owing to the big snow in January. It was his opinion that the ground received the great bulk of the moisture when the snow melted, and from what he could tell at this early date, the wheat had received no injury from the sub-zero weather, the heavy fall of snow having prevented that.

Peter Brenner, a pioneer resident of Morrow county, and for many years a farmer in the Eight Mile country, passed away at the home of a brother residing at Scio, Oregon, the past week, being 83 years of age. Mr. Brenner left this county a number of years ago and since that time had been making his home at Portland and Scio. He was the son of Oregon pioneers.

John McMillan informs this office that at his place northwest of Lexington, the moisture has reached down to a depth of 24 inches, as he discovered when doing some digging a few days ago. This is two inches below what it was at this season last year. His grain is looking up well. He and his neighbor, E. J. Evans, were looking after business in Heppner Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevenson, who have been in Heppner during the illness of Mrs. Stevenson's father, Henry Howard, departed for their home in Washington Friday. Mr. Stevenson will be remembered by many Heppner residents as the operator of the old flour mill located here.

Rev. Glen White of the Methodist church was confined to his bed Tuesday with a bad cold. Mr. White declares he has been fortunate in health this being the first time he has been sick in bed for nearly four years.

W. P. Mahoney, president of the Oregon Wool Growers association, went to Portland Monday night to attend a special meeting of the organization's wool marketing committee.

Oscar Peterson and family were visitors at Heppner Saturday from their home south of Ione, where they were kept in during the month of January by the deep snow.

Miss Opal Briggs, manager of the telephone exchange, departed Sunday for Portland and is spending the week in the city on business and pleasure.

Frank Gilliam made a trip to Portland Sunday to look after business interests in the city, also to take in the hardware dealers' convention.

Charles Latourell motored to Portland Monday to attend to business matters.

Dr. J. P. Stewart, Pendleton optician, was a business visitor in Heppner Monday.

Mrs. Charles W. Smith and children Patricia and Robert have been confined to their home with illness which has lasted for more than a week.

Oscar Keithley of Eight Mile was in Heppner on business Friday. While here he obtained a license at the court house for his automobile.

Frank A. McMenamin, Portland attorney, was in Heppner Friday conferring with S. E. Notsion, district attorney.

LaVerne Van Marter was suffering from an attack of tonsillitis Tuesday.

Walter LaDunire drove to Pendleton Monday to make delivery on a car.

David Wilson was a Pendleton visitor on Tuesday.

Hints for the Home by Nancy Hart

Make Baby Covers

From old blankets you can make the most desirable sort of covers for the new baby. These may be made from pieces of the blanket of convenient size, simply hemmed around or finished with blanket stitch or bound. They have the advantage over new blankets of being very soft and pliable and are better to us than knitted coverlets, because they can be washed frequently. There is an excellent sort of carriage or crib cover that calls for pieces of old blanket. Make a cover of any desired wash material. Line it with the same material or with thin muslin. Leave a slit in the back of this lining, through which a double layer of the old blanket, cut just the right size, may be inserted. Put the hands into the cover and push out the blanket at the corners. You may then keep it secure by fastening at each corner through with a tiny safety pin, or you may have little tapes at the corners of the blanket and run these through small button-holes at the corners of the cover, tying the ends secure. The advantage of this sort of cover is that it may be washed easily and yet be warm. The ordinary knitted carriage robe, of course, becomes thickened with many washes and never looks so attractive after it has been submitted to frequent washings.

Keep Children Comfortable

When the children divide their time between a comfortable home and the cold out-of-doors it is sometimes difficult to decide on the

"Sargon did so much for me I want my statement published so other sufferers may benefit by my experience with this wonderful medicine."

MRS. M. SETJESTAD

"A year ago rheumatic pains developed in my left leg from my hip down and the pains were so intense at times I'd have to stay in bed four and five days at a time. Then, acid stomach, indigestion and constipation came on and in spite of all the medicines and treatments I took nothing gave me lasting relief until I started Sargon. Two bottles of this medicine along with Sargon Pills absolutely overcame the pains in my leg and I am up and about and feel as well as anybody! I don't have acid stomach and indigestion like I did and my whole system is toned up, strengthened and invigorated! Sargon Pills overcame my constipation and regulated me fine!"

proper clothing for them. Thick woolen garments are suitable for skating or a romp through the snow but they are too warm for a steam-heated apartment.

Light-weight underwear and cotton suits or dresses are a wise choice for children who live in a well-heated house. These are desirable because they are most comfortable indoors and because of the ease with which they can be kept clean.

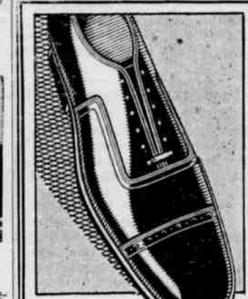

In choosing the outer wraps it should be remembered that two light-weight garments are warmer than a heavy one. A practical selection is a woolen coat that is loose enough for a sweater to be worn underneath on especially cold days. Leggings will also come in handy in frigid weather.

Orange Sherbet

Grate the rind of four oranges on two and one-half cups of sugar. Add to it one quart of water; put it in a double boiler and cook to a clear syrup, being very careful to remove all the scum. Remove from the fire and strain through a fine muslin cloth. When cold, add the strained juice of twelve oranges and two lemons and one pint of cold water. If not sweet enough, add more sugar. Strain it and freeze.
