

Local Happenings

A. B. Robertson, Condon warehouseman, visited Heppner on Tuesday in the interests of the Heppner Trading company of which he is a member. Other members of the firm are W. A. Clark of Portland and J. A. Funk of Hood River, the company recently taking an option on the Brown Warehouse company property in this city. We understand that the new management will take charge after the 15th of this month. Mr. Funk will move to Heppner from Hood River and have the active management of the business for Heppner Trading company.

Frank Gilliam, president, and W. P. Mahoney, vice president and manager of First National bank of Heppner, attended the Pacific Northwest Bank Management conference in Portland last week, returning home Friday. Mr. Mahoney pronounces the meeting a decided success, and it was largely attended by bankers from the six northwest states, there being 730 seated at the big banquet given in honor of the occasion. Much interesting discussion was entered into by those attending and the meeting proved profitable to all.

Wm. Copenhaver was in town Monday from his farm home north of Swagart buttes. He reports the grain out that way now growing fairly well but is not nearly so far along as it should be at this time of year. In fact, it should have been farther along before the snow came than it is at present, as the seed in September, but the dry fall was against its proper development.

The harvest of pulled wool is on, and the Indians are bringing in their "pickings" to the local warehouses. Chas. Swindig of the Heppner Farmers Elevator company purchased a quantity of this wool on Monday and expects more to arrive. There has been quite a heavy loss of sheep on the ranges this spring and traffic in pelts is somewhat heavier than for some seasons past.

Mrs. Delcie Chapel, grade school principal at Hardman, who was in Heppner Saturday conferring with Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, county school superintendent, reported that much time is being given over to drilling for the county spelling contest. She reports that she has a number of good spellers who are expecting to win some of the prizes in the county contest.

Emil Swanson and Frank Lundell were lone residents looking after business in Heppner on Monday. Mr. Swanson states that the spring plowing in the lone country is about all completed, farmers of that community having adopted the tractor for their work, it does not take as long as formerly to get rid of the plowing and cultivating.

Edgar Copenhaver and Loyal Parker have charge of the spring plowing for Bisbee & Turner, and began work with the tractor this week. They will plow out some 1200 acres on the Higgs, Farnsworth and Luper places, estimating that it will require about 40 days, running day and night shifts.

Miss Velma Huston, teacher of the Liberty school, district 11, was in Heppner Saturday conferring with the county school superintendent and county nurse. She reports that the Liberty entrant for the county declamatory contests is progressing well in preparation for the event.

C. A. Minor and Ellis Minor, in the sheep business at Hermiston, were visitors here Tuesday for a few hours while looking after business. While the winter was severe over that way stock fared well, and spring conditions have been very favorable for a successful lambing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barratt came to Heppner from Portland last week end, and have been visiting at the home of their son Garnett and family. Mr. Barratt's many friends here are glad to note his fine recovery from the major operation he underwent during the winter.

Jim Burnside reports that he has had a good lambing at his ranch near Hardman and the work is now about completed. The season has been ideal and his percentage went well over the 100 mark. Mr. Burnside was in the city for a short time on Tuesday.

Edw. Lindeken of Ione who was here Monday, has finished the plowing of 1400 acres on the Frazer place and will start his tractor on the Markham land just as soon as it dries up a little out that way.

Tilman Hogue, Dry Fork wheat raiser, was looking after business here on Friday. He states that he is now very busy with the spring work, and this is the order for his neighbors of that community.

The Cleve Van Schoelack family left Heppner by car Saturday evening for Cottage Grove, after receiving word that Mr. Van Schoelack's father was seriously ill.

Harry Rood has installed a Holt 30 tractor at his farm, the machine arriving here from Portland on Monday in one of the big trucks from the Ruby horse farm.

Gene Ferguson returned to his duties at Ferguson Motor company garage Tuesday after being confined to his home with influenza for nearly a week.

Dwight Misner, Ione ranchman, was in the city on Monday, attending to matters of business. Spring work has been moving rapidly at the Misner place.

Mrs. Ed Piercy and children returned to Heppner Sunday morning after a short visit in Portland.

Otto Wageman departed Tuesday for his old home in the Ozarks in southwest Missouri. He will likely be gone during the summer, and maybe longer, while settling up some business, but will later on return to Morrow county, feeling that this section of the northwest is OK.

Mrs. Lorena Isom, operator at the Heppner telephone exchange, has been granted six months' leave from her work. She left for Portland Saturday morning. During her vacation she will visit friends and relatives in that city, Astoria and Los Angeles, Cal.

Earl D. Hallock, cashier of Farmers & Stockgrowers National bank, is confined to his home suffering an attack of influenza. President J. W. Beymer came over from his Monument home to be in the bank during the illness of Mr. Hallock.

Miss Anna McDevitt, teacher of the lower Rhea creek school, who was visiting the county superintendent in Heppner Saturday, reported that her school would have an art exhibit in the county teachers institute at Ione, April 25.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wattenberger who live on Butter creek near Pine City, were Heppner visitors Tuesday. While here Mr. Wattenberger received medical attention for an illness that has been troubling him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. French were Saturday visitors in Heppner from Butter creek. They have been living at the Kileup place during the winter while Mr. French has been caring for a band of sheep there.

Rev. Glen White and Rev. Fred Canaday drove to Arlington Tuesday, where Mr. Canaday took the train to Portland where he will have a few days rest before beginning evangelistic services in the city.

John Lawther was in charge of the Pacific Power and Light company office Monday and Tuesday, while Paul Marble and Stanley Reavis were attending a company meeting in The Dalles.

C. L. Sweek drove to Arlington Sunday night, taking the train from there to Portland, where he attended to legal matters. He made his return to Heppner late Monday.

Kenneth Oviatt, who is now employed in one of the MacMarr stores in Pendleton was home over the week-end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oviatt.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pieper of Lexington were in Heppner Friday, attending to legal matters at the Morrow county court house while in the city.

Born—At their home in this city on March 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hughes, a daughter, weight 7 lbs. The young lady has been named Mary Olive.

Mrs. R. A. Thompson is confined to her home with an attack of influenza.

N. L. Shaw, clerk of school district 15, Clark's canyon, was in Heppner Saturday conferring with Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, county superintendent.

Miss Helen Wells, teacher of the third and fourth grades in the Lexington school, was in Heppner Saturday in connection with school affairs.

Mont Bundy of the Alpine section was looking after business in Heppner on Saturday. He reports spring work moving along well down that way.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Johnson were in the city on Saturday from their home in Dry Fork, where signs of spring are rapidly putting forth.

Fred Ashbaugh made a trip from Hardman to Heppner Tuesday, receiving a physician's attention while in town.

A. B. Thorpe injured his left wrist so badly in a fall Monday morning that it had to be dressed with splints.

Mrs. Edward Chinn has been suffering from an attack of influenza which has kept her confined to her home.

O. M. Scott of Blackhorse was in Heppner Friday transacting business at the Morrow county clerk's office.

Dr. J. P. Stewart of Pendleton was in Heppner Monday in connection with his professional duties.

Troy Bogard of Eight Mile was in Heppner Monday afternoon attending to business matters.

Edward Lindeken came to Heppner Monday from Ione on a brief business trip.

FARMING COSTS TO BE TOLD.

A new addition has just been made to the Tuesday evening farm programs which come from KOAC. Presenting in lecture form the results of cost of production of different farm enterprises in Oregon, one faculty member of the department of farm management will speak to the farm audience each Tuesday evening at 7:10 o'clock. H. E. Selby, associate in farm management for the Oregon Experiment station, will be heard March 11 on "1930 Styles in Harvesting Hay in the Willamette Valley."

MANY CARS OWNED.

Oregon residents were well provided with automobiles in 1929, the yearly total showing an average of one car to every four persons, according to figures released this week by Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state. Passenger cars registered during the year numbered 248,634, an increase of 16,151 over the 1928 figure of 232,483, or a gain of practically 7 per cent. Morrow county passenger vehicle registrations numbered 1286.

VISIT PAID SCHOOL.

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, Morrow county school superintendent, visited the Balm Fork school taught by Miss Jeanette Hinkle, Friday, finding the school in good condition and the pupils making satisfactory progress in their work. While visiting the school Mrs. Rodgers gave the pupils Stanford achievement tests.

Club Leader Honored

For Success in Work
Mrs. Delcie Chapel, Hardman 4-H club leader, has been given honorable recognitions by Oregon 4-H club officers, for having completed 100 per cent of the required work pledged by members of the Hardman club.

It is declared that this is the first time that a club from this locality has finished the required work by reaching the 100 per cent mark. The club in addition has taken a number of awards at the county fair. That a club leader has an excellent opportunity to develop those fine qualities and abilities for which the 4-H clubs stand, and that Mrs.

Chapel has succeeded admirably in this fulfillment, is the belief of the residents of the Hardman community.

Members of the club who have contributed their efforts in making the record are Charlotte Adams, Lois Adams, Delsie Blekman, Nelje Blekman, Neva Blekman, Muri Farrants, Anne Johnson, Lilly Johnson, Zetta Johnson, Loye Johnson, Lois Ashbaugh, Katherine Mahrt and Frances Inskip.

PARTY PLANNED FRIDAY.

Members of the freshman class of Heppner high school will entertain the other three classes at a party beginning at 7:30 tomorrow (Friday) evening at the high school gymnasium.

BUTTER Has No Substitute

Copra, Coconut Oil and Oleomargarine

Is it really the poor man's butter or the rich man's graft?
"Now what is Oleomargarine? How is it made? Does any man want to feed his children on it? Let us see!"
Oleomargarines are made from skimmed milk, coconut oil or tallow, and salt. The main ingredient is skimmed milk, which has no fat or life-sustaining substances.
Now let us look into the ingredients. Many margarines are advertised as the "White Meat of the Coconut." Coconut oil such as used in American oleo is made from Copra. Copra is dried coconut meat, but let us see the condition of this stuff before it is refined.
Copra comes from the Philippine Islands. The coconuts fall from the trees, are broken open and the meat dried in heaps under the tropical sun. This is called Copra.
When dry, Copra looks and smells something like stable manure, or worse. When the stuff is ready for shipment, swarms of half-naked Malays load it on ships, tramping it in the holds of vessels with bare feet. An army of naked Malays sweating under tropical heat, tramping Copra that is going to be made into the poor man's butter. Think of it!
When Copra arrives at American oil mills, it is run out of the ships with conveyors. Generally it is piled up in the open air where it attracts millions of flies and looks exactly like piles of stable manure and smells a darn sight worse.
This compost is then ground and pressed between steam heated rollers. The raw oil is the most rancid and evil-smelling thing in the world. Until recently it was used exclusively for soap grease.
Scientists discovered ways of refining it. The process is simple. First the oil is heated to a very high degree. It is then placed in vats and large quantities of sodium injected. The rancidity attacks the sodium solution and is eaten away. The oil is then treated with ether, which process solidifies the oil.
And this is the stuff they advertise as the "White Meat of the Coconut." Here is a recipe for making 1,000 pounds of Oleo:
700 pounds of coconut oil at 47c $45.50
30 gallons of skimmed milk 1.50
51 pounds of salt 1.00
$48.00

Did you ever stop to think it requires five pounds of Oleo to furnish the nourishment for the human system that one pound of butter will furnish?
