The tariff can become a matter of real concern to many persons as evidenced by the recent attempt of southern senators, led by Senator Ransdall of Louisiana, to put a prohibitive tariff on burlap and burlap bags. R. E. Harbison received a wire the first of the week from Senator Steiwer stating that this item had been defeated in the senate. The purpose of the southerners was to compel the use of cotton as containers in the place of jute. This, of course, would practically have prohibited the use of all fabrics as containers for grain, grain products or any other farm produce as a cotton bag, in some instances, would have been worth nearly as much as the contents. It is probably not generally known that New Orleans is the largest manufacturing center for burlap products in the United States.

Value of Advertising Told by Creamerymen

Effectiveness of newspaper advertising was testified to most heartily by creamery operators of Oregon in their annual meeting in Salem last week when several reported sales increases ranging from 25 to 100 per cent as a result of the recent butter advertisements prepared at Oregon State college and run by creameries and stores throughout the state.

The creamerymen voted to continue this type of advertising and also pledged their backing to the state campaign for increased consumption of dairy products to be directed by Miss Claribel Nye, home economics extension leader at the college.

Too much emphasis is being given to poor quality of Oregon butter, the creamerymen believe, as the quality is being constantly improved and is now far better than the public realizes. The continuance of the butter scoring and analysis service by the state college was approved.

Will Rogers SAYS

"I was blundered and led into a room with dozens of different tires and I picked GOOD-YEAR right away. I felt of all of them and it was the only one that wasn't flat."

WHICH reminds us that millions more people ride on GOODYEAR tires than on any other kind.

DO YOU KNOW that only three states in the union—Florida, Georgia and Texas—use the motorist's tax money for purposes other than roads.

Reporter (dashing into city room)—"Here's a real piece of news! A truck driver got stuck in the mud at the side of the highway."

Editor—"Well, what makes that news?"

Reporter—"Well, you see this guy pulled over to let a car pass."

More and more people are patronizing our new wash rack every day.

AND here—as elsewhere—30 out of each 100 motorists prefer GOOD-YEAR tires.

Jones: "Sorry, old man that my hen scratched up your garden."

Smith: "That's alright, my dog ate your hen."

Jones: "Fine! My car just ran over your dog."

Our greasing equipment is busy nearly all the time—but we can always find time for one more.

"Papa, what do you call a man who drives a car?"

"It all depends on how close he comes to me."

In Great Britain, Hungary, Sweden and Ireland, traffic must keep to the left.

"Morning, Noah, is your old ark full?"

"Nope, only one jackass so far. Come on in."

AND then there was the girl who liked to dance with her Scotch laddie because he was so close.

If you want to test your memory try to remember the things that worried you yesterday—or the cars you saw that didn't have at least one GOODYEAR tire.

"Grandpa, when are you going to play football?"

"Football? I can't play football!"

"But dad said we'd get a new car as soon as you kicked off."

If you overlook our greasing and washing service you are missing something.

AND also there was the lazy man who married the pug-nosed girl because she was easier to kiss.

Alice (to old maid aunt): "Auntie, were you ever in a predicament?"

"No, dear, but heaven knows I've tried."

Speaking of roads—we have some really wonderful bargains in good used tires, as well as a complete, fresh stock of new GOODYEAR tires.

"She's a nicely reared girl, don't you think?"

"Yeah. She don't look so bad in front either."

Spare lamps and extra fan belts are mighty handy accessories in a motorist's kit. We have a complete stock of both.

FAMOUS SHORT POEMS "The Antiquity of Microbes" Adam Had 'em.

"The Country's Condition After Several Volstead Years." Wet Yet.

If you are contemplating having your car overhauled this spring drive in and get our estimate. We use the flat rate system and can tell you in advance just what it will cost you—and our new mechanics are courteous and efficient.

There are now more automobiles in use in the United States than there are telephones.

"Ed's Co-Ed" at Star Friday and Saturday

University of Oregon, Eugene. (Special)—Those who think college is a round of rah-rah, jazz and football, with little time for studies, will be in for a surprise when they view "Ed's Co-Ed," a campus movie written, acted and produced by University of Oregon students at Eugene last spring. The drama is feature length and fully up to professional standards. It teems with interest and suspense yet it does not depend on the usual cinema mechanics for any of its appeal. The picture will open March 28 for a two-day run at the Star theater. "Ed's Co-Ed" tells in simple fashion, the story of a frosh who comes down from the woods to go to the university. His reception, which affords the sophomores a bit of real fun, his struggles to win the girl of his heart while seeking to keep up his scholastic standing, the many little instances of college life, all blend to make an absorbing story. With the beauty of the campus as its background, the picture has achieved a distinct success. The historic mill race where so many college romances have started, plays an important part in the beautifully portrayed and interesting student cinema.
