

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HERREIM, Correspondent.

The Home Economics club gave a pleasant card party Wednesday evening at Tom's camp, following a delicious evening meal. This was held instead of the usual afternoon meeting. Ladies high score went to Katharine Brown.

Mrs. Ed Souder's mother, Mrs. Thomas, has gone to The Dalles to spend the summer. Mrs. Thomas has been here with her daughter all winter.

Bethnyrl Miller came home over the week end because of teacher's institute.

Ethel Broyles was also home from La Grande for the week end.

Miss Emma Beavers has gone to Hermiston to work for Frank Blewitt. Alfred Skobo is also employed there.

Noel Klitz started work on the highway this week. He has gone to Pendleton with a construction crew.

Paul Hatch is here from Portland on business.

The Wilson family and McEntires motored to Heppner Friday to attend the funeral services of Robert Wilson's father, who passed away Tuesday at an advanced age after a prolonged illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tagg came last week from Gearhart, for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. W. O. King and family.

Dr. F. V. Prime was down from Hermiston and made a dental examination of the school children. Four children with mouth in perfect condition were found. They were Nellie and Clara Dillon and Ruth and Francine King. All four are children whose teeth have been given proper dental care from the time the first cavity appeared.

Boardman rarely sees any of the county officials with the exception of the always obliging county agent, except around campaign time, but has found two splendid workers in the county physician Dr. Gray and county nurse Miss Stallard, and their efforts in stamping out the whooping cough epidemic here are much appreciated. A wild case of whooping cough which was not recognized until everyone had been exposed and ten or 12 cases were raging, started it. Three trips giving vaccine to children entailed much time and work, and the long siege of whooping cough averted for one child or lightened for another justifies the effort for whooping cough is one of the dread diseases of childhood and often leaves dread after effects.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pyle of Arlington stopped for a short visit at the Y. P. Rutherford home.

Friends of the Humphreys will be interested to learn that they have leased a wheat ranch in the Colfax territory and will again try wheat farming. They recently disposed of their holdings on the project to Nick Ludeman of The Dalles.

A dance was sponsored Saturday night by the P. T. A. for the benefit of Ada Wilbanks who was so seriously injured in an auto accident last fall. Mrs. Wilbanks and Ada are in Portland where the latter will have some of the bones of her face removed, that are causing the painful abscesses.

Those wanting melon seeds from Irrigon are advised to hurry. There will be quite an extensive planting of melons on the project this year. Jack Hale had another siege of the flu last week.

J. T. Healey is having a number of repairs and improvements made on the house on their ranch. New and larger windows have been put in, the porch built into a room and various other changes made.

Mrs. A. T. Herreim, local reporter, has been ill with flu for the past week, hence a scarcity of news.

P. T. A. will meet Friday night. The program is to be given by the seventh and eighth grades. Refreshment committee consists of Mr. King, Mr. Rainville, and Mr. Fortier. The review on character education will be by Miss Henry and George Wicklander.

Miss Helen Cowgill met the club leaders Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Miss Cowgill is the state leader from Corvallis.

GRANGE PLANS ON RADIO.

Work being done by grange agricultural committees in Oregon will be described from KOAC at 7:05 o'clock Monday night, April 21, by William L. Teutsch, assistant leader of county agricultural agents in this state. The county agents have cooperated with the state committee on agriculture in the grange, of which Fred A. Goff of Roseburg is chairman, and in many counties definite programs for agricultural improvement have been laid out by the local grange committee.

Children's Playground Available at Low Cost

While the average family today finds the cost of developing the playground idea in the back yard with commercial equipment prohibitive, the youngsters need not be deprived of its advantages, says Grant Swan of the department of physical education at Oregon State college in a recent discussion over KOAC. It can often be made at home at a nominal cost.

"If father can hit a nail without smashing his finger, he can at a very low cost obtain such equipment for the backyard which will give the greatest returns both in use and pleasure to the children," said Mr. Swan.

For children under six years of age, it is desirable to have the following equipment: a chair swing, a sand box, a small slide, and a simple, low climbing device.

To hold the interest of the more active youngster of from six to 12, requires more complicated apparatus, but even this need not be expensive. The favorite equipment at this age consists of a 12 foot swing, a slide eight feet high and approximately 16 feet long, a horizontal bar and a seesaw.

As an illustration of the ease and economy with which this equipment can be constructed, the following are the specifications offered for the seesaw:

1 piece 2 in. x 12 in. x 14 ft. fir.
1 piece 2 in. x 12 in. x 14 ft. fir.
1 pipe 2 in. x 2 ft.
2 steel half circle clamps.

The two pieces 4 in. x 4 in. x 4 ft. are set in the ground 18 inches to two feet deep and two feet apart, measuring from outside to outside. The pipe is set perpendicular to the posts a couple of inches from the top by drilling holes in the posts.

The piece 2 in. x 12 in. x 14 ft. is finished on all sides with edges rounded. The half circle clamps are fastened in the middle of the board around the pipe. To hold the apparatus firm in place of clamps, a 2 in. x 6 in. x 12 in. tapered can be nailed perpendicular to the board and pipe and run through the latter. Handles may be installed to aid very young children. The approximate cost is $1.25.

Local Concern Adopts Novel Advertising

Inaugurating a plan of advertising that establishes a precedent locally, the Heppner Garage has started the publication of a regular weekly column to be known from now on as "Free Air."

The column will contain a riot of humor and comment that is certain to hold the keen interest of every reader of this paper, according to Dean T. Goodman of that company.

Mr. Goodman, commenting further on this new advertising feature stated, "It has been our observation for some time that advertising copy as is offered in practically every newspaper, concentrates too much on the merchandising angle. The entire effort is to sell, sell, sell. The public surely must tire of this use of printer's ink, and it is with that idea in mind that we hope to add a little seasoning to our advertising in order to hold the reader interest of our friends and customers. We will comment on people and things locally and elsewhere. Where names are mentioned, it will be in the spirit of good humor and with the purpose of offering good wholesome fun."

SEWING CLUB PROGRESSES.

The Eight Mile 4-H Sewing club under the leadership of Miss Alena Redding has advanced well in its work since organization. The club started with five members and now has ten. The charter members were Myrtle Green, Nola Keithley, Jean and Hazel Adkins and Kathleen Furlong. The new members are Edna and Gladys Lovgren, Agnez, Florence and Bernice Demaris. The club has had its fourth meeting and finished with the work of the second group. It is already preparing its exhibit for the fair in the fall.

STATE HIGHWAYS CLEAN-UP MAY 10

Youths and Adults to Join Work Approved by Governor and Other Officials.

Eugene, April 26.—(Special.)—Spring cleaning for Oregon highways has been set for May 10, when Boy Scouts, school children, service clubs and civic organizations of all kinds will turn out to clear the roadways of rubbish. Backed by Governor Albin W. Norblad, state superintendent of schools C. A. Howard, and other state officials, the Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs has instigated the Highway Clean-up day, which it hopes to make annual. Mrs. Jessie M. Honeyman of Eugene is chairman of the movement, and is assisted by Mrs. A. E. Rockey, Portland, while Mrs. G. T. Valliant, Oswego, is president of the federation.

Calling on all civic organizations in the state of Oregon to aid in this clean-up day, Governor Norblad stated, "I believe that Oregon faces a real task in preserving the natural beauty spots along the highways, which make accessible Oregon's vast forest regions, the great plains, the valleys, the snow capped mountains, the wonderful fishing streams, the ocean and beaches, and the one thousand and one wonders of the state. One of the principal methods of adding to these beauty spots is to assist in keeping them clean. May this splendid movement not last for just a day, but continue the entire year. I commend it most heartily to the people of Oregon."

The highway commission, the park commission officials, the utility service, and the Oregon State Motor association have already promised cooperation in the project while volunteer offers of help are coming in every day in larger numbers, according to Mrs. Honeyman.

In order that every possible mile of highway can be covered, the corps of workers will be organized under a uniform plan which is now being outlined by the committee. Each county will be organized with a central headquarters committee of five strong community leaders, who will choose their subordinates. As the dead rubbish is cleared away, the state highway trucks will gather up the piles.

Comedy to be Staged By Lexington Seniors

"What I'd like to know is, what Wilton Crossley, heir to the Crossley fortune, means by masquerading as a hired man—and what he expects to gain by it!" angrily exclaims Aunt Lou Farness, in the three-act comedy, "Watch Your Step, Wilton," which is to be presented Saturday evening, April 26, at the school auditorium by the Lexington high school senior class.

Nor is it probable that Aunt Lou will be alone in her query, when the play is staged. Those who watch the unfolding of this comedy are expected to enjoy the situations which occur when the tables are turned and the haughty Creighton family become the servants of their former hired man.

The seniors, desirous of making as fine a class gift to the school as possible, urge that all that can do so attend the production, for the funds raised are to be used for that purpose.

Announcement

I have added to my line the Horse and Mule Millinery and Auto Top business, Mr. B. P. Stone having retired from this business in Heppner.

I will continue to make a specialty of auto tops and side curtains. You will find here a full line of harness, saddles, and all accessories in horse and mule millinery. Service and satisfaction given in repair work as well as to any new articles turned out by this shop. If there is anything you need in my line that I do not have, I will get it for you, pronto.

With deep appreciation of the long-time friendships made during the last 43 years serving the trade, I will continue to strive to give the same quality of workmanship and satisfactory service that have made these friendships possible. Your business is appreciated.

TRY LAMBBURGER.

Roll ground lamb (from neck and shoulder) to 1 1/2 inch thickness salt, pepper and flour both sides. Cut in oblong pieces for individual servings. Fry quickly on both sides, place in roaster in which a little hot water has been added to the baste three-quarters of an hour. Serve with gravy made in pan, add one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce.

A dish is richer if whole rather than skim milk is used, but skim milk contains not only the protein but practically all the other nutrients of whole milk except the fat and vitamin A.
