

SMOKER STAGED HERE SATURDAY

Hinkle Wins From Carmichael in Main Event, Connecting for KO in Second Round.

"Chick" Hinkle of The Dalles, 135 pounds, won from "Judge" Carmichael of Lexington, 165 pounds, on a knockout in the second round of a fight slated for six rounds at the Fair pavilion, under the auspices of the Heppner Boxing commission and promoted by Gerald Swaggart, Saturday night. Hinkle took the offensive from the opening bell. With one hand free in a clinch in the first round, he jabbed Carmichael with a right. "Judge" dropped to the canvas, but was saved by the bell.

Soon after the second round Hinkle again connected with his powerful right, Carmichael hitting the boards and remaining there to the count of nine. Resuming the battle Hinkle made a pass at Carmichael, who dropped to the floor, apparently unhurt, and took the knockout count.

Gerald Swaggart of Heppner, 142, won from George Moore of Ukiah, 142, on a decision at the end of the fourth round, this being the only bout to go to the full time scheduled. In the first round Swaggart was using his right to advantage. The fighting was about even during the second round, with Swaggart showing aggressiveness as the round closed. The third round was marked by stalling on the part of both boxers. In the fourth Swaggart and Moore were frequently in clinches.

Jimmy Smith of The Dalles, 135, won from Elmer Hake of Heppner, 143, at the end of the second round on a technical K. O., in a bout slated for four rounds. The action of the fighters was slow in the first round. Twice in the second round Hake was down for the count of eight, being saved by the bell on the latter when Referee Fred Hoskins awarded the victory to Smith because of Hake's condition.

Roy Gentry of Heppner, 135, fighting Lee Vincent of Lexington, 138, won in the curtain raiser, when he connected on a right to the jaw for a knockout.

At the conclusion of the smoker a dance was staged with music provided by the Black Cats.

Motorists crossing the pedestrian lane at the Tum-A-Lum Lumber company corner on Main street are asked by William R. Poulson, superintendent of Heppner schools, to drive at a moderate rate of speed when going through this school zone in order that school children may be safeguarded from injury. School children have been warned to keep in the lane, and it is hoped that automobile drivers will cooperate in the safety work. A number of motorists have been observed going past the intersection at excessive rates of speed.

FLETCHER WALKER FIFTH.

Fletcher Walker, Heppner high school entrant in the Oregonian oratorical contest, placed fifth in the state district contest staged in Pendleton last Friday. Those attending reported that he did well on his oration on the constitution. In the extemporaneous feature of the contest he drew one of the most difficult subjects. First place winner had for his extemporaneous subject, George Washington.

Grades putting on the best programs will receive as prizes three framed pictures. At 2:30 o'clock the pupils will meet in competitive outdoor games.

TO GATHER EXHIBITS.

For the convenience of schools of Morrow county, William R. Poulson, Heppner superintendent of schools, will deliver to lone for the teachers' institute, April 25, all art exhibits which teachers will bring to him before Tuesday.

71st Birthday Occasion For Pleasant Surprise

Albert Osmin, pioneer ranchman of Balm fork, was 71 years young on Sunday, and he was not the only person that remembered the date of his anniversary. Other members of the family thought of the event and had arranged to give him a complete surprise. Relatives and friends gathered early on Sunday at the Osmin home, and if Albert had not remembered just how old he was, he surely came to himself when invited to the dining room where the tables were spread with a bountiful supply of good things to eat, the centerpiece being the big birthday cake ornamented with 71 candles. Following the dinner, the afternoon was spent in visiting and the playing of games, the guests remaining until the evening hour.

Mr. Osmin came to Morrow county as a young man 48 years ago. One of his early chums, who had arrived here a year earlier, was D. B. Stalter, who for a great many years ran a ranch up Balm fork beyond the Osmin place. They have been great friends all these years and are the only remaining members of a large number of young fellows coming to this section at about the same time, who in the former years were cronies, enjoying the pleasures and enduring the hardships of those who were instrumental in the development of this community and overcoming pioneer conditions.

Those present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Casebeer and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Bergstrom and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Osmin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Knowles and children, Mrs. Mary Kirk and daughter Mary, Messrs. Dave McCullough, Dan B. Stalter, Roy Holcomb and Lewis, Alton and Leo Osmin. Mrs. Chas. Osmin and Mrs. Claude Knowles were hostesses.

Attend American Legion Auxiliary benefit dance, Saturday, Elks Temple.

Shearing Under Way.

Sheep shearing is under way at several ranches in the county and is expected to become general within a very short time. From reports reaching this paper, there has been no general agreement as between flockmasters and shearers, fixing the price, and the prospects are that there will be a range in price from 12 1/2 to 15 cents, plant charges added. Shearing is on now at the Krebs Bros. ranch, Cecil, and also at some other points in the north end of the county. It is not probable that there will be any particular controversy over the shearing operations in Morrow county, but it appears that each flockmaster is proceeding towards the best price that he can obtain.

ROAD TO AID BUSINESS.

Claude Cox, manager of Morrow County Creamery company, returned to Heppner last Thursday after a business trip to Spray, Kimberley, Monument, Hamilton, Long Creek and Fox valley. Many dairymen in that section expressed a desire to send their products to Heppner as soon as the Heppner-Spray road is completed. A number of producers in those districts have made cream shipments here since Mr. Cox made his trip.

DANCE BEING ARRANGED.

Arrangements for the Easter benefit dance had an important part in the meeting of the American Legion auxiliary Tuesday evening at the Legion hall. The group voted to send 10 cents per capita to the national rehabilitation fund. Mrs. Helen Christenson and Mrs. W. C. Cox were initiated into membership in the organization. Mrs. J. D. Bauman and Mrs. Harvey Bauman were hostesses for the meeting.

TRAFFIC LANE PAINTED.

A pedestrian's zone for crossing Main street at the Tum-A-Lum Lumber company corner for the protection of school children and others, was marked off with yellow painted lines Friday by S. P. Devin, city marshal. He also moved the "slow" signs to the center of blocks on each side of the intersection. Making this change gives motorists quicker warning of the school crossing.

TEETH INSPECTED.

Dr. E. V. Prime, Hermiston dentist, assisted by Miss Edith Stalter, county nurse, inspected the teeth of school children at Boardman and Irriagon las tweek, being at Boardman Wednesday and Irriagon Friday. If sufficient interest in corrective dental work is shown by parents of children inspected, Dr. Prime will establish an office at each of these communities for a short time.

SCHOOLS HAVE PAPER.

Strawberry and Lone Tree schools are the joint publishers of an illustrated newspaper which they circulate a number of times during the school year. The lettering and sketching is all the handwork of the pupils. The needed number of copies are made by the hectograph process.

TYPISTS COMPETING.

Heppner high school will have four entrants in the fifth annual Eastern Oregon Typing contest, to be held this year at Pendleton on Saturday. Jeanette Turner and Louise Langdon are entering the novice class and Evelyn Swindig and Katherine Blabee the amateur class.

Two round-table discussions are slated, one for high school instructors, and the other for grade school teachers. The former is to be led by William R. Poulson, superintendent of the Heppner schools, and the latter by Mrs. Lillian Turner, principal of the Lexington grade school. An invitation is extended the public to attend the meeting.

BE FAIR

Let your local printer figure on your work and you won't find it profitable to send it out of Heppner

Keep your dollars at home and you will see them again. The dollar sent away will not come back.

WHEN itinerant printing salesmen call on you for your printing needs, they generally quote you a price on a large quantity. The price seems low when based on a large order. Too often the prospect compares this price per piece on a large order with the price per piece on a smaller order from the local printer. Naturally the price of the local plant seems high in comparison.

Before contracting for your printing needs, let us give you figures on the same quantity and quality of printing that the visiting salesman offers. Keep your dollars at home and you will see them again. Phone 882 for Service.
