

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HEREIM, Correspondent.

Boardman residents have been busy fanning and trying to keep cool the past week. The old Columbia was a popular place and the scene of several picnic parties. One of the jolliest of these groups was that gathered at the Alderdale ferry Sunday evening. After lunch the evening was spent around a big bonfire, telling yarns and singing. The party was arranged by F. A. Fortier and about 30 attended.

Age Jensen who has been working in the harvest came back Saturday and is again at the I. Skoubo home. Mr. Jensen is a young man who came within the past year from Denmark. He is getting along nicely with the English language and plans to go to Portland in October and attend night school.

John Koski stopped Sunday for a short visit at the Hango and Olson homes. He was on his way to his home in Mayger after working in harvest at Pendleton.

A pleasant time was had Sunday at the Lee Mead home when Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kroon came from La Grande, and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Kortege and family motored from The Dalles accompanied by Mrs. Mead's mother, Mrs. J. A. Fleck. All had a fine dinner at the Mead's and then returned to The Dalles except Mr. Kroon, who went back to La Grande. Mrs. Kortege and Mrs. Fleck, who is a pioneer resident of The Dalles, having come there in the early days when that town was a busy trading center for the freighters and pack trains.

Guy Barlow and Frank Cramer motored to Heppner Wednesday to get Mrs. Elva Perry who is visiting with her daughter for a time.

Mrs. Royal Rands and Donna Jane is with her daughter, Mrs. Roy Howell at White Salmon.

Bert Bennett who has been living on the Fortier place has moved to Willow creek where he has rented a ranch. Mr. Bennett has been out working in harvest and Mrs. Bennett has been looking after the ranch and doing the milking. Not having milked for some time, her wrists and arms swelled terribly after milking eleven cows twice daily, so one of her brothers, Mitchell Ellis, went down to help her until her husband returns from the harvest fields.

Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Watkins who have been house guests at the Dillabough and Wicklander homes left Tuesday for Portland and then to Vancouver, B. C., and on to their homes in Detroit and Milwaukee. The ladies are aunts of Brice Dillabough.

Frances Beebe and family of Portland were recent visitors at the W. A. Price home. Mr. Beebe is a twin brother of the late Mrs. Price. He is a teacher in Benson Polytechnic school at Portland.

Andy Andregg and Trudy Bauman were guests at the Faler home on a long trip to various points in Washington.

The Silver Tea was held last Wednesday at the Price home with Mrs. Lottie Attebury and committee in charge. The spacious lawn made a lovely setting for the tea and 35 ladies were present although it was one of the warmest days of the season. A roll call was started at this meeting and several items of business were discussed. The question of the coming dinner to be served at the fair was among them, and it was decided that the Home Economics club and the Ladies Aid serve the dinner together and divide the proceeds. Dinner will be served on both Friday and Saturday. The club will probably serve the lunch for the dance on Saturday night. Mesdames D. W. Miller and Claude Coats were appointed to meet with the club appointees and make arrangements.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson was appointed chairman of the bazaar committee. Other members were Mesdames Faler, Coats, Hereim, Macomber and Fortier. The next meeting of the aid will be the missionary meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed Sauders. Mrs. W. O. Miller of Umatilla, Mrs. Harold Say of Portland, and Mrs. Linfield Perry of Oregon City were out of town guests present. The committee assisting Mrs. Attebury in serving were the Mesdames D. W. Miller, Guy Barlow, H. E. Waite, C. Coats, Root and Fortier.

Recent guests at the H. E. Bates home were Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Osgood of Portland. Mr. Osgood is the manager of the Labor Loan association of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hedgren and Mr. and Mrs. L. Bickford of La Grande were also visitors at the Bates home.

Lowell Spagle and family spent several days visiting with his parents and other relatives at Hubbard, Ore.

Premium lists for the North Morrow County fair are off the press and have been sent to everyone on

Smartest Boy

Arthur O. Williams, of Providence, R. I., winner of the annual four-year educational prize given by Thomas A. Edison. Young Williams is 17 and won the scholarship over 47 other boys.

Smallest Horse

C. G. Buton, of Independence, Kans., owns a dog that is bigger than a horse, as the picture shows. The horse, "Prince," is 20 inches high and weighs 57 pounds. "Duke," the dog, a Great Dane, weighs 176 pounds. He is the largest dog of his breed and "Prince" the smallest horse in the world.

The project. If you have not received your list call Mrs. Faler or ask Mr. Root. A moving picture show is scheduled for Friday night and a dance for Saturday night, September 12 and 13 are the dates set for the fair. The 4H Club premium list will be printed at a later date and copies sent to all the club leaders in the county. Adolf Skoubo is superintendent of the vegetables, Frank Fredrickson of Irrigation of the fruits and melons, Lowell Spagle of the farm crops, Bob Mitchell of the bees and honey, Geo. Wicklander of the poultry, Mrs. Grace Macomber of the Domestic art, Mrs. Geo. Wicklander of the flowers and plants, Mrs. Nick Faler of the domestic science, and Ed Souders of the livestock.

A number of changes have been made in the domestic art section and several articles eliminated as they were never entered.

The calf club exhibit will be large this year, the present difficulty confronting the directors being where to place the calves so they will have shade during the hot afternoons. The youngsters have worked hard with their calves and sheep and the competition will be keen, as all those who have been fortunate enough to attend summer school wish to do so again, and those who have not are hoping to get the opportunity.

A prize of $20 is offered for the best Grange booth. Four prizes are offered for the best general farm exhibit, which is judged according to varieties, maturity and artistic arrangement. $6, $4, $3 and $2 are the prizes.

Mrs. Harold Say and daughters of Portland were guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Linfield Perry have rented the Robert Rayburn house and will remain here while he is employed on the section.

The Ves Atteburys were pleased to have some old friends stop Saturday for a brief visit. They were Mr. and Mrs. John Burton of Trout Creek, Montana, who were on their way to Salem where Mrs. Burton's mother was quite ill.

Supt. and Mrs. L. E. Marschat arrived Monday from Berkeley, Calif., where they have been since the close of school. Mr. Marschat is working for his Master's degree at the University. They stopped for a few days visit at the C. S. Calkins home at Jefferson. The Calkins were former Boardman residents. The Marschats went on to Idaho to spend a few days with her parents and will then return to get everything in readiness for the opening of school.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter. The wets are ready to make capital out of anything they think might create a prejudice against prohibition, but they do not deceive the people who look into the facts. They seem to think, however, that a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth. When the rebellion of convicts in one of the Ohio penitentiaries occurred a few weeks ago, the wets heralded it as being caused by the over-crowding of the institution by men convicted of violating the prohibition laws. The fact is that out of the 4800 convicts in the prison, only 19 were serving sentences for violating the prohibition laws. According to the official figures published in a recent issue of the Congressional Record, only three and one half percent of the convicts in the state penitentiaries are serving sentences for violating the prohibition laws. This does not look like a serious over-crowding from this source.

Government control of liquor in Canada is not all that many people think it is. In Vancouver, B. C., in addition to the government stores where whiskey and beer may be purchased under government permit, there are eighty places where beer is sold by the glass. These places are licensed as cafes or restaurants with the privilege of serving beer. Both men and women frequent these places. All the evils of the old beer saloon are present.

Have you noticed how dry it got after Prohibition enforcement was changed from the Treasury Dept. to the Dept. of Justice? Saturday night won't mean much in those dry Middle West States unless they get rain pretty quick.

Ad in a Westport, Ill. paper: "Wanted—Man for gardening, also to take charge of cow that can sing in the choir and play the organ."

There are numerous bootleggers operating there also. The bootleggers are able to make a profit on the "hard liquors," because the rum-runners' price is lower than the government price. Whiskey is shipped in bond from the old countries to Montreal on vessels, thence in bond on the railroads to Vancouver. There it is loaded upon one of the rum ships which is cleared for Mexico. Outside of the twelve mile limit, it is transferred to the rum runners who deliver it to the bootleggers in Victoria, Vancouver, and points in the United States. One ship carrying a cargo of liquors, cleared for Mexico four times in 22 days. The government uses several power boats, operated by three crews daily, each crew working eight hours, to keep the rum runners off Vancouver Island, and they do not succeed by any means. Government control does not stop bootlegging, and a cafe licensed to sell beer by the glass is nothing but a beer saloon.

Norman Larabee, Pendleton insurance man, was a visitor here Friday in connection with placing a Morrow county agency for his company with Hollis Bull of Lexington.
