A guest at the Frank S. Parker home on Thursday and Friday was Howard Parker, brother of Frank S., who is on a journey to the Pacific Northwest from his home in Birmingham, Alabama. This is the first meeting of the brothers in 40 years, and the reunion was a very pleasant one. With Mr. and Mrs. Parker he departed on Saturday to take the train at Pendleton for the return journey south. Mr. and Mrs. Parker proceeded on to Joseph for a visit at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dorris Mitchell, and returning home they were accompanied by Mrs. Sarah Parker, who had been visiting at La Grande, and their daughter, Katherine, who had spent a couple of weeks at the Mitchell home near Joseph.

Mrs. V. C. Belknap of Nampa, Idaho, who has been spending a few weeks visiting with relatives at Pendleton and Walla Walla, drove to Heppner on Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Josie Jones. The ladies spent a couple of days with friends and relatives here, returning to Pendleton on Tuesday evening.

Pioneer Sold Wheat For 26 Cents in 1895
Oregon Farmer.

"In 1895 I got 26 cents a bushel for wheat, delivered at Heppner," says Theodore Anderson, whose farm is in the Eight Mile district, about 20 miles from Heppner. Mr. Anderson says he had but little then, expenses were light and he did not feel the low prices as he would now. But the crop was raised at a loss.

The highest price Mr. Anderson ever received for wheat was during the World war. He sold a little at $2.85 a bushel, before the government set the price of $2.20. He sold his entire next year's crop at the government price, which netted about $2.05 at Heppner. He sold last year's crop at 90 cents a bushel, about the middle of April.

Mr. Anderson left Sweden in 1883 and came to Oregon in 1889. In 1891 he bought the place on which he now lives. He bought another man's improvements and filed on the land as a homestead. When he homesteaded this 160 acres he filed a timber culture claim on the 160 acres adjoining. He has bought three other pieces of land since and now has 1440 acres. He paid $25 an acre for the last half section. He has harvested as high as 42½ bushels per acre on 110 acres. Last year he harvested 48 bushels.

Mr. Anderson married Miss Norma Beckett in 1897. He built a handsome 11-room house, in 1907, when wheat prices were pretty good.
