

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HEREIM, Correspondent.

Ed Kunze and family have moved to Messner where Mr. Kunze is employed on the coal chutes. Guy Barlow was at Heppner during the Rodeo where he acted in his official capacity as deputy sheriff.

Walter Denson, who has been so seriously ill at La Grande from blood poisoning which was caused from having some teeth extracted, is much improved.

Miss Ethel Beougher will be a week-end guest at the L. E. Marschat home and will attend the fair, and so have an opportunity to see her many friends. She is teaching home economics at Hermiston this year.

A pleasant party was given Saturday night at the Miller home, commemorating the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Martha M. Titus. The Kings and Marschats were guests at a lovely dinner and later in the evening they were joined by the Misses McMahon, the Dillaboughs, Shellenberger, Brown and Orla Bollen for an evening of cards. Bridge was played, or attempted. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the game.

The September Silver Tea was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. M. Allen. The day was extremely warm but all present had a pleasant time, the Mesdames Myers, Saunders, Mitchell, Kiltz, Chas. Wicklander and Allen were the committee serving, but for various reasons three of them were unable to attend. Plans for the fair dinner were discussed and also bazaar plans and fancy work for the bazaar distributed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Wicklander. This is the missionary meeting. The October Silver Tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Marschat, unless plans are changed. Mesdames Flickinger, Hereim, Ellis, A. Skoubo, Hango, Healy, and Marschat are members of this committee.

T. E. Broyles and family returned the first of the week from a trip to Colfax, Wash.

Mrs. Ed Saunders has her mother, Mrs. Thomas, with her for a time. Farleys attended the Rodeo on Saturday at Heppner.

The George and Milton Shanes were visitors at the Wilson home on Sunday.

Mrs. Anthony Corbett of St. Helens was an overnight guest at the home of her brother Wm. Wilbanks Saturday. Mrs. Wilbanks drove to Salem, taking her daughter Ada to the state school for the blind. They made the trip in the Carrick car. Mrs. Carrick remained here with her father until Mrs. Wilbanks' return.

Emma Agee had a serious operation for appendicitis at the hospital in College Place near Walla Walla a week ago. She has been at Hermiston where she was to reenter the Adventist school this fall when she was taken ill.

L. V. Root has purchased the cows from Frank Cramer and will supply the town with milk.

Mike Cassidy was an overnight guest at the I. Skoubo home Friday, driving over in his new coupe.

The Marschats were pleased to see some old friends, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Means of Boise, who stopped Sunday for a short visit on their way to Corvallis.

Delbert Johnson was home a few days while the Western Union crew with whom he is employed were waiting to be moved from Celilo to Willows.

D. W. Miller accompanied Roscoe Williams of Irrigon to Portland Sunday evening, going down to see about the melons belonging to the association. It was reported there were five cars of melons on the tracks, each drawing a large demurrage charge daily. Melons are so much work to raise and to see the time, money and labor wasted in this manner is indeed discouraging, but such it seems is another incident in the life of a farmer.

Tom Hendrick took Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bennett to Portland to see about the settlement of the case resulting from the auto collision about a year ago when Mr. Bennett collided with a truck near Tom's camp, completely wrecking the Bennett car. Ruth Breeding, who has been visiting at the Hendrick's home went back to her home in McMinnville. Mrs. Wilkins also went along.

Howard Ellis is driving a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hadley entertained a group of friends at a Bug party on Monday evening of last week for their house guests, Mrs. Gribble and children of Oregon City, and Mrs. Margaret Elder of Monument. Others present were the Packards, Spagles Chester Packard of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burnell of Longview and Howard Packard. Mrs. Burnell received high honors and Chester Packard the consolation. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Andy Brown and son of Condon were guests at the Spagle home for several days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Spagle and baby went to Condon with them for a few days, coming home the first of the week. A congenial group picnicked at Castle Rock for the pleasure of Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Chester Packard came Monday from Seattle for a visit at the Leslie Packard home. Her husband preceded her and has been visiting his brother for a week. Mr. Packard, who is on the police force in Seattle, states that times are very hard in the city and that people on the project do not know the meaning of hard times; that there is no one here who does not have sufficient food and that there are many in the cities that are struggling for their very existence, some of them of course not wanting work, but many of them willing and seeking employment which they cannot obtain.

The Pruters have a vineyard of the finest grapes that one could see in many a day. They are disposing of them on their truck route and Mrs. Pruter who has a stand at Condon, sells many of them in this way. Pruters also had very fine melons which they have sold from their truck.

FARM POINTERS.

A cover crop grown and plowed under the year previous to planting berries, bulbs, bush fruits or tree fruits is good soil management.

Standard varieties of barley are cheaply produced in Oregon and make better feed than much of the corn or barley that is shipped in, says the experiment station. Late summer is a good time to lay in a seed while there is plenty and the price is reasonable.

Ordinary 1 x 12 inch boards are used for blanching celery in Western Oregon, one being placed on each side of the row and held at the top by a bent piece of heavy wire. Boards are not left in place long after it is ready for harvest as the celery becomes pithy, says the experiment station.

LEGGE SAID TO BE A HARD WORKER

Hyslop Recounts Experiences With Farm Board Leader in East; Discusses Wheat Plans.

Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board is a picturesque character who talks straight from the shoulder, and is a hard worker who gets to his office early, says G. R. Hyslop, head of the farm crops department at O. S. C. who met the chairman in Washington last winter and appeared on the program with him at the recent Pendleton meeting.

"A story is told about Legge attending a Washington function at which the president was a guest," recalled Hyslop. "About 9:30 or 10 o'clock he started to leave but was advised that no one left such a function before the president. 'Well, if that's so, I'll see him about it,' said Legge, and proceeded to do so. After a short conference he apparently convinced the president that it was time to go home so he was soon able to leave in accordance with Washington custom."

Chairman Legge believes that much of the marketing difficulty with grain comes from dumping such a large percentage of the crop on the market within a few days after harvest, reports Professor Hyslop. When asked why the farm board didn't stop futures trading in grain, Legge replied that the board had no such authority and would not use it if it had under present conditions.

Professor Hyslop differs somewhat with the board chairman as to acreage limitation in the northwest, pointing out that on the dry lands with less than 18 inches of rainfall production of wheat is the most successful type of agriculture.

"The most feasible program for this area," he says, "appears to be along the lines of cheaper production, better control of smut, further reduction of cash costs, better assembling and marketing methods, more work toward cheap water transportation, and equitable distribution of costs of government so that agriculture does not carry more than its proportionate share of the load."

Hood River—More reduction of potato yields from virus diseases than from any other factor was shown to exist here by a field tour of the potato region near Parkdale made by 35 farmers and 4-H potato club members, in company with Professor G. R. Hyslop of O. S. C. Professor Hyslop advised frequent introduction of certified seed from districts with less aphid activity and consequently less spread of virus diseases.
