

Poison Gas War Against Vermin

Regular war-tins gas is being used to kill rats on Riker's Island, New York, and the same method is effective against gophers, woodchucks and other burrowing rodents.

As a result of the rains of the first of the week, the fire hazard has been greatly reduced in the timber area. Harry French states that there was about an inch and a half of rainfall at his mountain ranch and this is sufficient to give the grass a good start. He was in town Wednesday looking after business affairs.

ELECTION OVER Tum-A-Lum Wins

Now that our election edition of the Tickler has been run, and we were unanimously elected to be the Building Headquarters of Heppner we want to thank all of our supporters, including Paris garters, and the foundation of our home.

Several candidates running for office here have asked us to support them and run their ads. Being an independent paper, we had to turn them down, but we did offer to help them with any building problems.

One Plan for Farm Relief—

Jeff Beamer has suggested that much of the time wasted looking for eggs could be eliminated if the hens were crossed with parrots. After laying an egg, the hen would walk up to the farmer and say, "Hank, I just laid an egg in the barn. Go get it."

The only relief we can offer is that you get your winter coal in now and be sure of it.

Judge: The police say that you and your wife had some words. Prisoner: Well I had some, but didn't get a chance to use them.

WE RECOMMEND CELOTEX INSULATING CARB BOARD

ALBERT ADKINS, Manager, Editor.

If we might get in a word or two about insulation. It will cut your fuel bill in half, but twice as much wouldn't eliminate it entirely. As much as we like to sell coal, we would like to give you an estimate on insulating your home.

We see by the papers that the Soviets have been selling wheat short on the Chicago market. They had better not try to sell lumber short. We have found that it takes 12 inches to make a foot, and every one would boycott them if they tried to sell 10 inches for one foot.

Local Happenings

Grandma Sarah Booher of Lexington is visiting this week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Beymer on Hinton creek. She just recently returned from a visit of several weeks with relatives and friends in Washington and Idaho, going as far north as Bonners Ferry. Mrs. Booher states that she had a grand time, enjoying every minute of her visit, and has returned home in time to get ready for the reunion at Lexington on the 18th of this month.

Alcott Lundell of Ione, looked in on us for a few moments while at Heppner Tuesday. Somewhere he had got hold of a couple of "bucks" and feeling rich he remembered the editor to the tune of a year's subscription. He has our thanks, and if there are a few hundred more scattered about who should be as fortunate as to become possessed of a little extra coin of the realm and will do likewise, is will shorten up the long faces of the G. T. force very materially.

Plenty of rain to bring up the weeds is the report of Bert Johnson, farmer of the north Ione section, in the city on Wednesday to look after some business before the county court. While some of his neighbors seeded in the dust not waiting for rain, Bert thought it better to hold off. He will now get after the weeds as fast as they appear and have plenty of time to get in his fall seeding besides.

C. L. Sweek, Jos. J. Nys, S. E. Notson and Jesse O. Turner were Heppner attorneys in attendance at the meeting of the state bar association in Pendleton on Friday and Saturday. They report a very interesting and profitable meeting of the legal lights of the state, every corner of which was represented by members of the association.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Devine were Lexington people in the city for a short while on Tuesday afternoon. While there has been much work of seeding in their vicinity during the past few weeks, many farmers had been delaying for the rain. This has come now and the work of putting in grain will be general from now on.

Dwight Mimer has been a busy man during the past few weeks, getting in some 1100 acres of wheat, not waiting for the rain. He was in town Tuesday evening and says the big rain has been just what was needed to bring the grain up.

Claude Cox, manager of Morrow County creamery, was in Echo and Stanfield on Wednesday forenoon, where he has some good customers for the creamery product, than which there is none better.

J. G. Doherty, pioneer ranchman of Blackhorse was looking after business affairs in the city on Monday, and was rejoicing over the splendid downpour of rain that visited his section.

Morrow county flockmasters are rejoicing over the big rain of Sunday and Monday, that continued well into Tuesday. It has been a great help to the range, and the fine weather that is prevailing will bring the grass along rapidly. They were facing a serious condition by reason of the long continued drought which had caused a scarcity of both feed and water in the mountains and has caused them to move the sheep home about a month earlier than usual.

Hornae Yoakum has been spending several days in town this week from his timberland ranch near headwaters of Willow creek. At his place logging operations have been going on for the most of the summer, the timber being trucked to town and shipped by train to the Milton box factory. Those in charge contemplate enlarging operations quite materially.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Nichols were Lexington people in the city for a short time on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Nichols coming to the city to consult her physician. Mr. Nichols reports a splendid rain all over the Lexington wheat belt which will be of immense benefit to the sown wheat and put the ground in good shape for continuation of fall seeding.

Ed Clark conducted a party of three Hood River ninners to the mountains the end of the week and chased out a "forked horn" which fell victim to one rifle of the party. The Hood River men were Clair Bickford, Mr. Clark's brother-in-law, Lee Kelley and Percy Laraway.

David Hynd and his sister, Miss Annie Hynd of Rose Lawn ranch, Sand Hollow, were visitors in the city on Wednesday. The big rain out their way will bring along the grass on the range and they are greatly pleased with the prospect.

Rain was the means of laying off many farmers from their seeding operations Monday and Tuesday of this week. Among these were Leo Gorgor of the north end who reports a splendid rainfall over his section of the county.

Marshall Devin got busy on Monday, following Sunday night's rain, and with the assistance of Lee Slocum and team, bladed numerous city streets heretofore covered with crushed rock. This put them in good shape again.

Ed Clark, who for several years held the Maytag washing machine agency at Heppner is again identified with the Maytag company, covering Morrow county as sales and service man.

It is reported that much early fall seeding in the Heppner hills is now coming up in fine shape, following the big rain of Sunday and Monday.

L. A. Palmer, Lexington wheat-raiser, was transacting business in the city Saturday.

The Case Mortuary

In the judgment of Mr. Coultor, who represents The Undertakers' Supply Co. and who travels through Oregon, Washington and part of Idaho: "The Case Mortuary is the most strikingly beautiful in exterior plan and location I know of." Even greater pains is being taken in the interior furnishings and decoration.

The Chapel, Family Room and appointments offered our citizens are the consummation of twenty-seven years of study and planning of the ideal services of such a place
