

U. OF O. PRESIDENT OUTLINES POLICY

Dr. Hall Addresses Dads, Mothers, Alumni at Meeting Monday.

START STUDY GROUP

Mrs. W. P. Mahoney is Local Head; State Officers and Dean Powers Have Part on Program.

That the University of Oregon may have a background of traditions, ideals and those spiritual values that go to make up character, Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president, told a group of forty mothers and dads of university students, alumni and friends at the Episcopal parish house Monday evening, that the "Mothers" and "Dads" organizations were not a mere fad but a part of a real administrative program, the effect of which has already been felt on the campus life.

Dr. Hall headed a party of six persons who visited Heppner on a tour of principal cities in the interest of promoting mothers and dads associations. Other members of the party were Mrs. Walter M. Cook, president of the state Oregon Mothers association; Mrs. J. F. Hill, president of the Portland Oregon Mothers; Mrs. F. W. Bond of Pendleton, state vice president; Mrs. Paul Ager, executive secretary of the association, and Alfred Powers, dean of the university extension division.

Textbook is Popular.

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, acting for the mothers and dads, and W. R. Poulson for the alumni. The program included a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, prepared by ladies of the Episcopal church and served by members of the local school faculty; vocal solos and a vocal duet by Miss Esther Wood, director of music in the Heppner schools, and Laurel Beach of Lexington, with Miss Helen Palmer, accompanist; a short, inspiring talk by Mrs. Cook; the address by Dr. Hall, and a message from Dean Powers. Mothers met with the visiting ladies at the adjournment of the dinner session, and Mrs. Mahoney was put in charge of a local Oregon Mothers study group. This group will use a book describing the Oregon Mothers and Dads movement, unique at the university, which has gained world-wide circulation and popularity. Mrs. Mahoney invites any ladies interested to join the group whether or not they have children attending the university.

In outlining the administrative policy, Dr. Hall named five projects being undertaken for character building at the university of which the mothers and dads movement is the fifth. He named first the selection of faculty members who will provide a high type of leadership besides being well versed in their particular subjects. To get this type of instructor it is necessary to do considerable "scouting" and to locate them during their college years, as every university president in the country is looking for instructors of the same type and Oregon is not able to compete effectively on the "open market" from a salary standpoint.

Promotes Art Appreciation.

Stimulation of participation in activities by the undergraduate was named as the second project, to develop a sense of responsibility, proprietorship, and qualities of leadership among the students. He stressed development of appreciation for good literature, art and music, as the third project, to create a desire for the finer things of life. Selection of freshman courses, looking to guidance of pupils to a desire for the nobler things, and to help entering students to reap the most profitable results from their studies, he cited as the fourth project.

The dads and mothers movement fits into the administrative policy by promoting a closer contact between home and student, thus especially aiding freshmen in orienting themselves among brand new surroundings at a time Dr. Hall declared to be the most critical period in the child's life.

Board's Work Cited.

Dr. Hall touched briefly on the work of the state board of higher education, which he said is composed of capable men who are attacking their job intelligently. Members of the board are now occupied with surveys looking to economical and efficient administering of the state schools, and he is confident this will be the result, at the same time eliminating the use of state schools as a political football. That no reduction in millage for educational purposes can reasonably be expected, he asserted to be true, due to constantly increased demands being made on the resources of the institutions by ever larger student bodies and more refined educational tastes, in line with the American desire for better things in the home and elsewhere. People would not think of returning to the habits of home life prevailing in 1914, nor can they reasonably expect the educational institutions to return to the status then existing.

POMONA GRANGE INITIATES FORTY

Greenfield Grange Wins Pennant for Attendance; Power, and Income Tax Talks Heard.

(Grange Correspondent)
Pomona Grange met Saturday with Rhea Creek grange as host at its hall. The business session began at 11 o'clock. Registration books for the travelling banner closed at 12 o'clock and Greenfield grange of Boardman won with 42 members present. This being the third successive time Greenfield has won, the pennant is now theirs for "keeps."

Dinner was served at the noon hour to 200 people. At a round-table discussion by the subordinate executive committees and lecturers, it was decided that the subordinate granges would sponsor community programs for Dr. D. V. Poling of Oregon State college, about the second week in November. Details will be worked out later.

The afternoon program to which the public was welcomed was well attended. Disappointment was felt because of the inability of Julius L. Meier to be present. However, a very splendid program was enjoyed. There were musical and reading numbers from the subordinate granges, but the main time was taken up by the outside speakers.

S. E. Notson gave a brief introductory talk to these speakers. George W. Joseph, Jr., representing Mr. Meier, gave his regrets that Mr. Meier was unable to be present, and briefly outlined the Meier gubernatorial platform. The next speaker, Homer T. Bone, gave detailed information regarding private and public ownership of water-power. His talk created not a little interest. George A. Palmeter, ex-state master, gave a talk for the income tax.

During the evening session resolutions were brought forward thanking the organizations who had given help toward giving Pomona grange, and a resolution favoring the retaining of the county nurse.

A new contest among subordinate granges, to run 15 months, was worked out. The Pomona degree was conferred on more than forty candidates. Pomona grange meets next with Greenfield grange at Boardman January 3.

EDUCATION TREND NOTED BY SPEAKER

Dr. J. R. Jewel, O. S. C., Tells Of an Educated Man.

In the last few decades no institution in America has undergone a more profound change than education, declared Dr. J. R. Jewel of Oregon State college in an address before the Lions club Monday. In the good old days what was good enough for one was good enough for all, Dr. Jewel pointed out, and brother and sister were given the same subjects, and the one who made the better grades was considered the better educated.

"If one were to ask who is the best educated person in this community, he would probably receive many different names. And if one were to inquire why the person named is the best educated, the answers might be rather amusing." The measure of an educated person has changed materially in the last few years, said Dr. Jewel, who recognized the person who is the best equipped to do the thing he is attempting to do as being the best educated.

That in effect is what the modern school of education is attempting to do, he said. Pupils are drawn out in those subjects for which they show preference and special adaptability, in order to prepare them to do better those things which they choose to do. He cited as an example of the old erroneous theory of a well educated person, a certain man whom he had occasion to know quite well who was graduated with honors in Greek from an eastern university. The family was proud of that man. He was considered to be well educated. But that man chose farming as a profession and made a complete failure of it. He was not equipped to do the thing he chose to do.

Dr. Jewel's talk, feature of the luncheon program, was spiced with witticisms throughout and received hearty applause from his listeners. He was made available to the club by being in the city for teachers institute, in which he took a prominent part. Laurel Beach of Lexington favored with vocal numbers, accompanied by Miss Helen Palmer, also of Lexington. E. F. Carleton, secretary of the Oregon State Teachers association, was also a guest.

Miss Lillian Allinger gave her review of the great Passion Play of Oberammergau as she witnessed it this summer while on her European journey, before a large and appreciative audience at the Methodist church on Sunday morning last. She recounted this experience in a very attractive and instructive manner.

Noah Clark of Eight Mile was in the city for a short time today. Lots of rain out his way has been the order this week.

AS THEY WILL APPEAR BEFORE BRIGHT LIGHTS

A real college comedy is Aunt Lucia, starring prominent local people at the Heppner school auditorium, October 21 and 22. One hundred and fifty or more home-folks will appear on the stage in all, but only the big six of the cast are shown here.

CITY EGG SUPPLY LESSEned BY FIRE

Arnold Pieper Loses Fine Pullets, Chicken House, in $1000 Blaze On Farm Sunday Morning.

"Heppner's winter egg supply went up in smoke." Thus announced Arnold Pieper who farms in Pieper canyon northeast of the city, in telling of the fire which consumed a new chicken house and 160 pullets on his place about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, netting him a loss in monetary value of $1000.

Mr. Pieper at least hoped to supply a good part of the local egg market from his brood of White Leghorn pullets which he obtained as day-old chicks this spring and had reared to the point where they had just started producing. He had moved the chickens but two days previously into the recently constructed winter quarters, to keep their feet dry and otherwise facilitate production in the egg factory, the equipment for which he believed to be quite modern. That everything was in shape to start production on a quantity basis was evidenced, he said, by the mass of cooked eggs found amidst the wreckage. From his fine poultry flock, he now has but one survivor.

Mr. Pieper said the fire was caused by either rats or chickens scratching out some matches, stored with winter supplies in a pile of sawdust adjacent to the chicken house. He was absent at the time, and his young son announced the fire to Mrs. Pieper in words something to the effect, "Mamma, what's the fire burning out there?"

Fire Permits No Longer Necessary in Forest

People going into this division of the Umatilla National forest now are not required to have fire permits, announces F. H. Wehmeyer, district ranger at Heppner. The recent rains have alleviated the danger of setting out fires to such extent as to make issuing of permits unnecessary.

Mr. Wehmeyer says the district has been very fortunate this season, especially with the extreme dryness of the forest, in not having any extensive fires. Some forty fires all told were reported with the largest burning over 10 acres and this was outside the national forest boundary.

MISS DIX PLEDGED.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, October 8.—Miss Virginia Dix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dix of Heppner, has been pledged to the Whitman chapter of Phi Mu, national sorority, it was announced following the rush week activities. Miss Dix is a freshman in Whitman college, and attended Heppner high school, and St. Paul's school, Walla Walla.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Morning worship hour at 10, message, "Standing in the Breach." Epworth League, 6:30. Song service and message at 7:30, topic, "Seven Reasons Why I Know the Bible is True."

DEER SEASON CLOSES 20TH.

The final hunting date for horned deer will be October 20 in this district. Many nineros who have not been fortunate enough to use their tag so far, are expecting to make another attempt before the closing.

Charley Vaughn and Charley Cox left this forenoon for the mountains fully prepared to get them each a buck. The boys took a couple of horses along in the truck, to be used for the climb into the timber. Their destination is the head of Willow creek, and if not successful there, they contemplate going on over to Ukiah.

For Sale—35 fine ewes, 5 Ram-bouillet bucks, two blackface bucks, W. H. Cleveland, Phone SF11, Heppner, Ore. 30-31p.

COUNTY TEACHERS CLOSE MEET HERE

Uniform Grading System Adopted; Back County Health Program.

The annual Morrow county teachers institute closed two-day sessions at the local school auditorium Tuesday evening, with but one name of the entire county teaching staff missing from the rostrum of attendants. Miss Helen Wells of Lexington was unable to attend due to illness.

Outstanding on the program were three lectures on "Character Education" delivered Monday by Dr. J. R. Jewel of Oregon State college. More and more emphasis is being placed on development of character in the schools, and Dr. Jewel expected provision for courses of this type of education would be included in the state course of study next year. He has written a book on the subject that is widely distributed.

Elmo Stevenson of the Eastern Oregon Normal school conducted a course in the teaching of nature study Tuesday, using the play method, which proved of unusual interest. Other instructors included Miss Kate L. Houx and John M. Miller of the E. O. normal. E. F. Carleton, secretary, told of the work of the Oregon State Teachers association, and C. W. Smith, county agent, discussed 4-H club work. Miss Henrietta Morris, health education director of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, and Miss Edith J. Stallard, county nurse, met with sectional groups in the discussion of health education.

W. R. Poulson, retiring chairman, presided at the meetings of the county unit O. S. T. A. A 100 per cent sign-up was recorded again this year. New officers elected are George E. Tucker of Ione, chairman; Edwin T. Ingles, Lexington, vice-president, and Audrey Beymer of Davis school, secretary-treasurer. One of the most important steps of the institute, according to Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, county superintendent, was the adoption by the teachers association of a uniform grading system and report card for their grade schools of the county. These will be put in use in all schools as soon as present supplies are exhausted. Resolutions presented by Edwin T. Ingles, chairman, L. E. Marschat and Geo. E. Tucker, committee, were adopted as follows:

We, the school teachers of Morrow county in convention assembled, hereby offer the following resolutions:

That we extend to our county superintendent, the officers of the county teachers' association, the local school board, and the various committees our appreciation for the arrangement and execution of an excellent program.

That we pledge our support to the local, state and national associations in securing such legislation as will further the educational interests of the county, state and nation.

That we desire that teachers' credentials should be based on a minimum of three years' study for the grade school and five years of study for the high school teachers;

That we desire to integrate character education with the general curriculum;

That we favor a substantial state fund for the purpose of equalizing educational opportunities in poor districts;

That we pledge our active support to the declamatory and spelling contests of the county.

That we favor the proposed Oregon educational plan of organization.

That we favor the abolition of the state examination for the eighth grade;

That we favor a more extensive program in physical and health ed-

LEXINGTON TAKES PIGSKIN FRAY, 6-0

Lane Scores Lone Touchdown in Town Game; Sprouls Does 70 Yards on Passes.

Lexington got the jump on Heppner in the first five minutes of play and scored a touchdown which resulted in their winning the first town football game of the season on their field Sunday afternoon by a 6-0 score. Vester Lane scored the lone touchdown, following a series of line bucks featuring large gains by Nichols, Baker and Drager, other backfield men.

Heppner then began to get organized and until the final whistle no great odds were shown by either team. Only once did Heppner seriously threaten in Lexington territory. Crockett Sprouls, quarter, received a neat toss from Shurman, half, and raced seventy yards to the ten yard line before he was downed by Lane. The ball was lost on downs and Lex kicked out of danger.

Both teams showed good timing and teamwork for the amount of practice, which in the case of Heppner was nil, as the whole team had not been together until an hour before the game. Next Sunday Lex is slated to play Arlington on the Lex field, and Saturday, the 18th, they will mix it again with Heppner.

Tucker of Ione refereed Sunday's game, with "Wick" Parrish, Arlington, umpire, and Ralph Jackson, head linesman. Among those who elected the Heppner aggregation were Paul M. Aiken, fullback; Lester Neel, half; Henry Robertson, half; Neil Shurman, half; Crockett Sprouls, quarter; Gene Doherty, center; Frances Doherty, Clarence Moore and Clarence Hayes, ends; Paul Menegat, Bernard Doherty, Vawter Parker, guards; Homer Hayes and Paul Jones tackles.

Among the Lexington players were, backfield: Lane, Drager, Baker, Nichols and Wright; linemen, Carmichael, Allyn, Warner, White, Stocum.

New Creamery Building Will Rise Immediately

W. Claude Cox, manager of the Morrow County Creamery company, and Clair Leannah Cox, his wife, have awarded the contract for construction of a modern reinforced concrete building to house the creamery on the lot recently purchased from the city of Heppner on the corner of Center and Chase streets, to Harry Johnson and Henry Crump, local contractors. Work will start immediately, Mr. Cox announced.

The new building, 40x60 feet, with a boiler room, 20x24 feet, will have 2400 square feet of floor space. Its arrangement has been carefully planned by Mr. Cox to provide modern accommodations for machinery, storage and office. From more than fourteen years experience in the creamery business in Heppner, for the past several years of which Mr. Cox has been planning the construction of such a building, he has plans of what to him is an ideal arrangement. The business of the creamery has expanded yearly since it was taken over by Mr. Cox. That it is a real asset to the community is evidenced by the fact that $75,000 was distributed among local farmers last year.

DEDICATION POSTPONED.

Dedication of the Case mortuary, announced last week for Sunday, October 12, has been postponed by M. L. Case, proprietor, to Sunday, October 19, as it was found impossible to have the building in complete readiness for the earlier date. Rev. F. R. Spaulding of Hood River, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city, will deliver the dedication address, and special musical numbers are being arranged.

That we heartily endorse the present work of the county health nurse, and realize that this office is a vital necessity to the county school system.

CONTRACT GIVEN FOR HAULING PIPE

J. O. Hager Submits Low Bid to Council; Resolution Passed for Sale of Property.

J. O. Hager was awarded the contract for hauling the new pipe to be placed in the city pipe line down Willow creek, at council meeting Monday evening. Mr. Hager had the low bid of $1.65 a ton. The estimated weight of the pipe was 266,000 pounds. Mr. Hager's bid was but one of several received. Work on the new pipe line of 13 miles, it was announced, will begin immediately under supervision of the water department with James Gentry, foreman. Eight inch cast iron pipe will be used, guaranteed to withstand 150 pounds pressure, though actually tested at 300 pounds.

Council passed a resolution for sale and transfer by deed of a lot on the corner of East Center and Chase streets to W. Claude Cox and Clair Leannah Cox.

Freeholders appointed on the budget committee to act with the finance committee of the council and to report at the November meeting were B. G. Sigsbee, Walter Moore and Charles Thomson.

Work of blasting out a rock bluff near the corner of Main and K streets was announced as completed, and bill allowed for same. The matter of removing a light pole at this place, considered a menace to public safety since widening of the street, was discussed and order given for changing location of same.

Besides transaction of current business the quarterly report of the treasurer was read and placed on file. Officers present were W. G. McCarty, mayor; C. L. Sweek, Gay M. Anderson and Claude Cox, councilmen; E. R. Huston, recorder, and W. O. Dix, treasurer.

IONE

By JENNIE E. McMURRAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stout of Heppner have moved to Morgan, and have rented the Palanuck house. Mr. Stout is employed in highway work.

Mrs. Walter Puryear of Clarkston, Wash., has been in Ione visiting her many friends. Mrs. Puryear and her family moved away from Ione ten years ago and it has been seven years since her last visit. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bowerman, also of Clarkston. Mr. Bowerman was here on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morgan of Cecil were Sunday guests in the Hal Ely home on Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. George U. Krebs returned to their home in Portland the first of this week after a pleasant two weeks' visit at the homes of their three sons at Cecil.

The O. E. S. Social club of Ione elected the following officers: Mrs. Carl Feldman, president, and Mrs. John Krebs, secretary-treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Ely of Morgan are the proud parents of a daughter born Saturday, September 4, at the Jas. Gentry home in Heppner. The young lady weighed ten and one half pounds. She has been named Elaine Maxine.

Mrs. J. W. Howk and son Alan returned Sunday from a shopping trip to Portland. Mr. Howk met them in Arlington.

Mrs. Etta Shippey has been visiting friends in Arlington.

Miss Crystal Sparks who has been spending the summer with Mrs. Katie Pettys on her Willow creek ranch, has gone to Everett, Wash., for a vacation.

Dr. Clark of the Clark Optical company of Portland will be in Ione Saturday on his regular monthly visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henstead who have been spending the summer in Ione, are leaving this week for Seattle. If they fail to find suitable employment in Seattle they plan on returning to Ione for the winter. Mr. Henstead has recently been doing some cabinet work and other repair work for Mrs. M. Jordan.

Miss Olive Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Anderson of the Eight Mile district, and Lee Sparks of Ione were married in Heppner on Monday, October 6. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sparks departed by auto for Seattle and Everett, Wash. These young people are well known here and have the good wishes of the entire community.

Mrs. E. R. Lundell and son Norton, and two small daughters, Mildred and Helen, took advantage of the short vacation at school and journeyed to Walla Walla for a visit with friends.

Mrs. Maude Pointer of Salem who has been in Lexington looking after her farming interests near that place, visited briefly in Ione Monday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swanson. Mrs. Pointer was on her way home. She was accompanied by her two children, Harriet and Fred.

Mrs. J. H. Blake returned to her home in Klamath Falls the first of last week after a pleasant visit at the home of her son, Earl Blake, and with other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dick of Pomeroy, Wash., were recent over-night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mason. The Dicks were on a vacation trip and planned to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bullard at Gold Beach before returning home. Both the Dicks and Bullards are former Ione residents.

'AUNT LUCIA' DATES SET FOR OCT. 21-22

Lions Start Hard Work On Community Play Of College Life.

150 PEOPLE INCLUDED

Lead Parts Picked; Men's Glee Club, Flapper Chorus, Baby Pageant Will Appear.

A week from this coming Tuesday and Wednesday nights, October 21 and 22, the famous collegiate comedy, "Aunt Lucia," will be staged at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Lions club. The committee from the club met last night with the director and started work immediately on the selection of the cast proper. It promises to be the biggest home talent ever given in this community and includes a cast of more than 150 local people. It is a burlesque comedy of American college life and has a number of hilarious comedy spots. The show has been staged throughout the middle west and has been a tremendous success wherever played.

Has College Setting.

The play proper deals with the homecoming of Bula Bula college and the setting of the show is a fraternity drawing room. The whole story revolves around the school, anxiously awaiting the arrival of an old maid, Lucia Wakefield, whom they hope will donate enough money for a new football stadium.

Jerry Watson, played by W. R. Poulson, one of the college boys, with the help of his two room mates, Dick and George, played by Stanley Reavis and Paul Marble, dresses himself as an old lady for the entertainment of his fellow fraternity brothers. While in this outfit he is mistaken for Lucia Wakefield from Florida and is introduced as such all over the campus. Once in this dilemma it is impossible for him to explain without getting in bad so he is carried on throughout the story masquerading as Lucia Wakefield when in reality he is Jerry Watson.

Love Scenes Comical.

Around this fake "Aunt Lucia" are the fun and comical situations of the play. The "Big Butter and Egg" man from Omaha, played by Claude Cox, falls in love with her and proposes to her, as does Professor Gaddis and Collins, the father of Dick. Then there are the two freshmen, played by Earl Gordon and Raymond Ferguson, who find out that college life isn't all it's cracked up to be, and furnish a lot of laughs with their crazy pranks.

Besides the play proper there are a number of special features, such as the men's glee club, the famous flapper chorus of Bula Bula college, the baby pageant and the girls' chorus. All these will be announced later in detail, so watch closely. All in all Aunt Lucia is a well rounded production, so start planning on coming to see her in person on October 21 and 22.

Bishop Remington and Company Visit Heppner

Those attending the potluck supper at the parish house on Tuesday evening in honor of Bishop and Mrs. Remington and their company, had a very enjoyable time, reports Rev. B. Stanley Moore, missionary-in-charge of All Saints Episcopal church. The meal was fine and satisfying, followed by singing led by Mr. Moore of popular and some of the old time songs everybody knows. Bishop Remington gave entertaining word pictures of his experiences in Europe, from which journey he but recently returned.

Rev. Mr. Bartlett of the National Council of the church told of the great work throughout the world, stressing the fact that his church was seeking for young men and women who will later become leaders of their peoples, and how successful this has been all over the world; the creating of native leaders in both church and state wherever the work is carried on. The Ven. Archbishop Creasey told of his success in raising funds for the advance work of the church.

Mrs. Remington delighted the company with a talk on what she termed "Romance Experiences." The trip recently taken by Rev. and Mrs. Remington was in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and they determined to find romance wherever they went, and she gave evidence that they had found it in a very delightful way.

Mrs. Creasey was also in attendance to share the pleasant evening. Bishop Remington took some 2000 feet of film while on the journey and hopes to have it developed so that he can show the pictures here at some other time.

TO HOLD SALE.

At a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening it was decided to hold a cooked food sale in the window of Frank Turner's office, Saturday, Oct. 11, from 19 a. m. to 12 noon.
