METSCHAN CAN BEAT MEIER.

WITH the height of the Meier boom reached two weeks ago and with subsidence of the hysteria that was created by showering the state with publicity and propaganda the head of the electorate has begun to clear up and sound-thinking folks are seeing the flimsy material of which the boom was made.

Either Bailey or Metschan could beat Meier if the election were held tomorrow. If the anti-Meier sentiment could be lined up solidly behind either of them. But were this vote evenly split, Meier might be elected.

FROM SMALL BEGINNINGS—THE old adage, "from little acorns great oaks grow," has proved true again when applied to boys' and girls' club work in Morrow county. Three years ago the 4-H clubs in the county were struggling for existence, and much time and effort was given by the county agent's and county school superintendent's offices in bringing the work to a plane of real accomplishment.

OVERPRODUCTION. THE business stringency from which the United States has been suffering for the past year, and from which recovery is now slowly setting in, is not confined to this country.

THE first European settlers in America found a curious animal in the New World. The beaver, which builds its nests like little log houses, in the middle of a stream or swamp, and then bulges twelve years ago, its effects are still being felt, as they will be felt for a generation to come.

During the war every form of production of raw materials was immensely stimulated in the countries outside of the war zone. Immediately after the war there was a tremendous demand for copper, tea, rubber, coffee, sugar, cotton, wheat, corn, beef, silver, wool, and so on through the whole list of raw materials.

Of course, prices began to fall. Worse than that, producers of some commodities found themselves with hardly any market at all. In many other lines, prices fell below the cost of production.

This overproduction is the underlying cause of all of the world's economic troubles, in the opinion of some authorities. It certainly has a great deal to do with it.

NEWS ITEMS BRING AID TO SCIENTIST

Blackberry Stories in Weeklies are Cause of Discoveries; Other Public Help Asked.

Strange and unusual blackberries from Grants Pass to Puyallup, Wn., have been reported to the Oregon State college in a steady stream of letters since the appeal of Dr. George M. Darrow, head of the federal-state berry experimental work, issued largely through the weekly papers of the state.

AMONG the most promising developments in a blackberry reported from Salem that gives every promise of having the flavor of the Himalaya and the yield, size and firmness of the Oregon Evergreen—just the thing in view when the public announcement was made. It is being propagated by the owner and will be increased and studied carefully at the experiment station.

MARRIAGE

Two elements are at work in every legitimate marriage contract, "sex-urge" and "love." The physician, in his daily round of service to humankind, observes many phenomena which enter mightily into human existence for better or worse.

SIMON PETER—FROM WEAKNESS TO STRENGTH Mark 8:27-29; Luke 22:31-34; John 18:25-27; 21: 15-17.

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Peter was the popular one among the twelve apostles. More is known about his life than any other and, in part, this is because he was the frequent spokesman. He was invariably human and because he made so many mistakes we find comfort in studying his life.

It is significant that problems arose for Peter as an adult. It is much easier to develop a worthy character when the task is entered upon in childhood. Here we have the training of an adult and the slogan is still true. "It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks." Jesus had been the teacher of Peter in his early teens the work would have been less difficult and more re-
