Mr. and Mrs. Max Wilson of Joseph arrived in the city Tuesday evening for a short visit with friends, leaving for home yesterday. Mr. Wilson, an attorney in the Walla Walla county town, journeyed to Pendleton Saturday to present a case before the state supreme court, and took advantage of the opportunity to pay Heppner friends a visit. Mr. Wilson being a veteran sportsman, reports landing one of the biggest buck deer taken out of the Walla Walla mountains this year, an animal which would weigh over 300 pounds, he said. He enjoyed a pheasant hunt here Wednesday morning. The Wilsons were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ferguson.

Mrs. French Burroughs is "finishing off" about two hundred head of very fine turkeys at the home ranch on Rhea creek, and expects to have the most of them ready for the Thanksgiving market. The birds seem to be in prime condition at present and should prove top-notchers when dressed. The turkey market gives promise of being on a par with last year, Mrs. Burroughs states, and should this prove true the returns will net a nice profit.

Harry French reports splendid growing weather in the mountains. The rains have brought the grass up in fine shape and range conditions are the best for several years. He also reports work on the Heppner-Spray road is progressing rapidly, the contractors hoping to get pretty well done with the grading of the new unit before bad weather sets in. Mr. French was looking after business here on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rotzein and son Junior and Mr. Rotzein's sister, Miss Violet Rotzein, were in Heppner over the week end from their home at Salem, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwarz. Mrs. Rotzein is a sister of Mr. Schwarz who was taken by surprise when they arrived, having no knowledge that his relatives would make him a visit at this time. They returned to Salem on Monday.

Dan Stalter arrived home the end of the week after spending the summer as usual at the mine in the Greenhorn, where he reports that work has moved along well. Mr. Stalter states that the shaft in the mine is now down more than 400 feet and some wonderfully rich rock is being uncovered. The summer has been a pleasant one in the high mountains, though pretty dry.

J. A. Adams and wife who just recently returned from a visit in the east, are guests this week at the home of their son Floyd Adams, in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Adams visited the old home in Missouri near Kansas City, and they took in other points of interest while away, greatly enjoying their trip.

Howard Lane, Lexington merchant, was in the city for several hours Monday on business. An enthusiastic supporter of athletics in the home town, Mr. Lane was pleased by the Lexington boys holding The Dalles to a 0-0 score in the town football game played at The Dalles Sunday.

The impression that an admission charge would be made for the party at Eight Mile on the evening of November 1, is a mistake. Miss Alena Redding asks that we state no charge is to be made; everything is free and everybody is invited to come.

Gus Williamson, veteran flock caretaker, spent several days in the city this week on his annual vacation, having just come out of the mountains with the R. A. Thompson sheep. He is now located at Mr. Thompson's Balm fork ranch.

Carl F. Peterson and Charles McElligott, farmers of the Ione section, were transacting business in the city Tuesday. They report wheat growing rapidly with the fine sunshine of the last few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Celsus Keithley of Pendleton enjoyed greeting many old time friends while in the city Tuesday in company with Mrs. Bailey, mother of democratic gubernatorial nominee Ed Bailey.

French Burroughs of Jordan Siding has been absent from his home for ten days, a patient at Hot Lake, where he was taking treatment for an attack of rheumatism.

George N. Peck, republican nominee for county commissioner, was greeting friends in Heppner Monday.

Mal Humphreys and Egbert Young were Eight Mile farmers in the city on Wednesday. Grain is coming along well out their way, though more moisture at this time would be appreciated. Mr. Humphreys expresses the opinion that the month of November will prove to be dry, basing his predictions upon observations made through a series of seasons.

C. A. Hales of Waitsburg, Wash., was here the end of the week receiving a bunch of some 1000 head of sheep for the Hale brothers' ranches at Pasco. The sheep, handled through the F. S. Parker feed lots, were shipped out Saturday night. Mr. Hales was at one time engaged in ranching in this county but moved to the Washington country many years ago.

Stephen Thompson, local boy majoring in animal husbandry at Oregon State college, made the stock judging team, and this week has been at the international stock show in Portland, assisting with the work of judging stock there. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson.

Hon. Fred E. Kiddle of La Grande was shaking hands with the voters in Morrow county on Wednesday. Mr. Kiddle is republican candidate for joint senator, Morrow, Umatilla and Union counties and is going over the district in the interest of his candidacy at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Turner were Ione people in the city for a while on Wednesday, while Mrs. Turner was receiving treatment at the hands of the dentist. E. H. reports the Ione country showing up fine now, the hills green with the growing grain and grass.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Turner departed in their cars on Wednesday morning for Portland to take in the stock show. The latter will go on to Salem for a short visit, all expecting to return by Saturday or Sunday.

Deciding to give up the life insurance game, Glen Young this week moved his household effects to the Jake Young farm on Eight Mile, where he will take charge as foreman, believing farming to be the best vocation after all.

D. S. Barlow has changed his mail address from Heppner to Ione, finding that with improvement of the road leading from the latter place, mail reaches him quicker from that point. He was in the city Monday.

C. G. Blayden, democratic nominee for county commissioner, was visiting the Heppner electorate Monday in behalf of his candidacy.

Lee Savely, extensive alfalfa raiser of lower Butter creek, was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday. He reports good hay crops at the mouth of the creek this season and since the good rains range conditions have greatly improved.

Arlington post American Legion announces a Halloween dance to be staged by them at Arlington Friday evening, Oct. 31. The Blue Devils will play, and there will be songs, stunts and favors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hoskins of Stanfield were visitors in Heppner for a short time on Saturday. Mr. Hoskins is quite extensively engaged in the sheep business in Umatilla county.

Mrs. P. S. Poulson departed on Saturday after a visit of a week at the home of her son, Wm. R. Poulson, and wife. She went to Baker for a visit with a daughter residing there.

Arthur Boyd, who runs a feed yard at Baker, was in Heppner on Saturday receiving a bunch of lambs shipped out Saturday night from the feed lots of Frank S. Parker.

LEXINGTON NEWS

The dues of Lexington grange, which have in the past been a little higher than those of the other granges in this vicinity, are now exactly the same as those of Rhea Creek and Willows granges. For membership, $1.00 is charged. This sum includes a membership fee of $1 and payment of dues for six months at 45 cents a quarter. After that the dues are payable quarterly at 45 cents, or one dollar and eighty cents a year.

The Lexington football town team played The Dalles American Legion team at The Dalles Sunday. Although The Dalles has an exceptionally good team, the Lexington eleven was able to hold them to a scoreless game. Most of the yardage gained by Lexington was made by forward passing, five out of seven passes being completed. Those playing for Lexington were Gentry, Lane, Drager, Korell, Allen, M. Palmer, E. Palmer, Burchell, Ingles, Halvorsen, White, Muller, Nichols and Dean. A number of Lexington fans also made the trip to see the game.

Mrs. Edwin Ingles is visiting in Portland this week.

On Friday the L. H. S. football team defeated the Ione Hi football team at Lexington by a score of 13-7. The L. H. S. players were Evans, Gray, Valentine, Moyer, Reaney, Munkers, Lane, Warner, Kuns, Peck and Scott.

Lexington P. T. A. met Tuesday evening. Talks on subjects of interest were given by members, and the grade school pupils gave a short program. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

At 11 o'clock last Sunday morning Miss Lillie Allinger spoke at the Christian church, her topic being her trip to Oberammergau where she saw the Passion play. The talk was made doubly interesting by the pictures and the wood-carving that Miss Allinger brought with her. Among the pictures was a snapshot which she herself had taken of Anton Lang, who took the part of the Christ in the play this year.

Wayne McMillan, who has been attending school at Decker's Business college in Portland, was in The Dalles Sunday for the football game.

On Saturday, Nov. 1, Lexington grange will meet in the Leach Memorial hall. At 8 o'clock the lecturer's hour, open to the public, will begin. The program follows:

Song by grange; piano solo, Helen Falconer; talk on Boy Scout work, Adrian Bechtold; musical number, grange; vocal solo, Ruth Dinges; reading, Rose Thornburg; discussion of grange measures by Charles Wicklander; guitar solo, Bert Peck; pantomime; song by grange. After the program, the regular grange business session will be held.

On Thursday, November 15, the Home Economics club of Lexington grange will hold an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. George Peck.

WATER LINE PROGRESSING.

Work of replacing 1.3 mile of pipe in the city water line down Willow creek is progressing rapidly, reports James Gentry, foreman. Unless something unforeseen happens, the work should be completed within the next two or three weeks. Osmun Hager, who has the contract for transporting the pipe, is busily engaged at the work.

Lexington town gridiron warriors

Journeyed to The Dalles Sunday in inferior numbers and held The Dalles pigskin heavers scoreless in what is reported a hard fought tussle. Coach Bob Murray, maker of many football stars who got their start in The Dalles high school, sent 26 men into the game in an effort to repel the invaders. The game ended 0-0.

What we like about the modern apartment is that you can answer the door, kick the dog, open a window, look in the refrigerator, and turn on the radio without getting out of your chair.

ALBERT ADKINS, Manager, Editor.

Tum-A-Lum does not recommend a house built with these conveniences. We believe in utilizing all waste space yet giving plenty of room to turn around.

See us now for plans and figures. NOW is the time to BUILD.

Luck like that will be good compared with the citizen who forgets to fill his coal bin with Tum-A-Lum before Old Man Winter gets here.

Since the play "Aunt Lucia" Charley Smith has been busy receiving congratulations on his good looks as a flapper. Cal Sweek says that he wasn't sick that made him that way.

The farmer sat in his house and moaned at the so-called Business Depression. The reason it was plain to see His hens were on Vacations.

Which is tough as Al Rankin says when he bites into a tough steak, but you can't expect a hen to lay when trying to keep warm. A chicken house properly insulated will keep hens cackling all winter.

We were in favor of awarding the world's Hard Luck championship to the man who contracted sleeping sickness but was so troubled with insomnia that he couldn't sleep a wink. Then we heard of the fellow who had seasickness and lockjaw at the same time.

Frank Parker is building a new cackle-berry factory. Johnson & Crump are pouring the concrete for the walls of the creamery this week.

If you like to raise flowers—

This is the time to put in small cold frames and hot beds for keeping flowers through the winter and for starting seeds. We have the materials.
