THE CONFERENCE IS OVER.

EASTERN OREGON wheat growers who met in Heppner last week end are to be commended on the intelligent and business-like manner in which they attacked the difficult problems confronting them, with a display of fighting spirit and a commendable lack of resentment.

Harry Pinkerton, president-elect, spoke for the majority when he said, "We're down but we're not licked." John Withycombe, who presided, proved capable of handling every situation which arose and kept the conference moving speedily and efficiently.

Much constructive work was accomplished, with the institution of a program for the coming year to which every grower may readily subscribe. Even though error of judgment as to some detail may have been made, on the whole a far-sighted and practical line of attack was developed, which, with united effort should result in real betterment for the industry.

MOST DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

THE AUTO accident, resulting in the tragic death of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ashbaugh, Tuesday evening, was a most distressing one. It was terrible to see and think how the lives of these people were snuffed out. They had made the turn, said Floyd Officer here yesterday, and were running on a straight away, narrow road as the car went down the bank, and they would have made it except for the fact that at the bottom of the embankment the car struck a huge boulder.

KEEP THE MONEY MOVING.

THE PRESIDENT of the American Bankers Association said a mouthful the other day. "It isn't how much money is in circulation but how fast it circulates, that counts," he said, in substance. "One dollar will do the work of two dollars, if it moves from hand to hand twice as fast."

Money lying idle in bank is not working. It is only when money is being spent that commodities move, factory wheels revolve, workers are kept on the payroll. In the reaction from an orgy of reckless spending, we seem to have swung all the way to the other extreme, into a state of mind which can only be called miserly.

which there are not some repairs to be made, some contemplated additions or improvements to be installed, some new furnishings required. To attend to those things now means putting money into circulation at a time when it is actively needed.

We have said it before, but it is still good advice. Take advantage now of the low cost of almost everything and do those little things around the house that will not cost much but which will help move merchandise and put money into workers' pockets.

JUDGE THE FUTURE FROM THE PAST.

IT IS a common human failing to believe that whenever a lull occurs in the progress of humanity, conditions are going to continue to get worse instead of picking up again and going on as before.

Human progress, whether in material achievements or social morality, is continuous. It has been continuous from the beginning of time and will be continuous to the end of time. But we do not always move at the same pace. We might liken the path of the human race to a flight of stairs on which, at irregular intervals, there are long landings across which we must proceed without gaining height, until we come to the next flight of stairs.

CONGRESS.

THE CONGRESS now in session is the same that sat last spring. The new Congress does not take office until the fourth of March. This is a survival of ancient days, when it took weeks or even months for members of Congress to reach Washington from their homes, and the men elected in November could hardly be expected to get to their new job under three or four months.

To change the present system would require an amendment to the Constitution of the United States. We think that everybody would be in favor of that. There is no place in the United States from which a member elected the first week in November cannot get to Washington in time for a session beginning the first week in December.

IMMUNITY

It's a mighty comfortable feeling during these winter months, especially in the northern states—the consciousness that one is immune from "taking cold." Infections of the respiratory tract are so distressing, not to say dangerous, that one dreads them naturally, and would do most anything to prevent their occurrence.

IONE

A few days ago Joe Gibson was displaying some strawberries in Ione. They were full grown and almost ripe enough to eat. They had been raised unprotected in the garden on his ranch about three miles northwest of town.

The Wets are continually asserting that statistics show that conditions are growing worse under prohibition. The census figures just issued show that the number of deaths from the effects of alcohol was 4.1 per 100,000 population in 1928, while in 1929 it was 3.7.

Gilbert Petteys came down from Walla Walla the first of the week and is visiting relatives in and near Ione.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Balsiger and Mrs. Paul Balsiger motored to Pendleton Monday, returning the same day.

Sixteen ladies were guests of Mrs. M. R. Morgan Monday afternoon at her pleasant home on Willow creek. The time was spent in quilting. Mrs. Morgan served a most delightful luncheon.

The community Christmas tree this year is being sponsored by the members of the American Legion and the Legion auxiliary. An interesting program is being worked out. The exercises will be in the school gymnasium Wednesday evening, December 24. Christmas eve is busy time for Santa Claus, but he is trying to arrange things so he will be able to be present for a short time at the close of the program.

George Horsemann of Portland spent a few days the first of the week in Ione. His first brother, Gene Corley, who is working on Butter creek, met him in Ione for a short visit.

Mr. Horsemann informed friends here that Mr. and Mrs. Ike Howard are now located on a farm two miles south of Molalla. Mr. and Mrs. Howard are former residents of Ione who have been living at Newberg.

Walter Roberts arrived in Ione Saturday and is with Mrs. Roberts at the Frank Engelman home. Mr. Roberts has been in poor health for some time but is now much improved.

Dwight Misner has been called to Flint, Mich., by the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Nettie Wyatt, who was injured in an automobile accident. Mr. Misner made the trip by airplane, leaving the Pasco airport at 5:30 Saturday evening. He went to Pasco by auto in company with Mr. and Mrs. John Bryson.

After many, many days of fog and gloom the sun is shining again in Ione. Considerable rain fell during the past week and the wheat fields are looking fine.
