New Traffic Districts Beneficial, Says Hoss

That the creation of seven traffic districts in the state with responsibility in each vested in one officer to be designated as a captain, which was put into effect last month, will be productive of satisfactory results in traffic enforcement and investigatory work is the belief of Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, who has supervision of the state traffic division.

"The plan of establishing smaller districts with a greater centralization of authority has been adopted to cope with the growing traffic problem," states Hoss. Closer contact between captains and patrolmen is afforded under the new plan and responsibility is definitely placed for more effective control.

Division captains will be as follows in the territory indicated: District No. 1, Captain J. J. McMahon, headquarters, Portland; counties of Multnomah, Clackamas, Washington, Columbia and Clatsop.

District No. 2, Captain Earl B. Houston, headquarters, Salem; counties of Marion, Tillamook, Yamhill, Polk and north Lincoln.

District No. 3, Captain Jay Saltzman, headquarters, Eugene; counties of Benton, south Lincoln, Linn, Lane and north Douglas.

District No. 4, Captain Charles P. Talent, headquarters, Medford; counties of south Douglas, Coos, Curry, Josephine and Jackson.

District No. 5, Captain E. R. Thurber, headquarters, The Dalles; counties of Hood River, Wasco, Sherman, north Wheeler, west Morrow and Gilliam.

District No. 6, Captain O. O. Nichols, headquarters, Klamath Falls; counties of Klamath, Lake, Deschutes, Crook, Jefferson and south Wheeler.

District No. 7, Captain C. L. Lieuailla, headquarters, Pendleton; counties of east Morrow, Grant, Umatilla, Harney, Wallowa, Baker, Malheur and Union.

SEES ORIGINAL SCHOONER.

S. E. Notson, in commenting on the birthday of Ezra Meeker and the wind-up of the Oregon Trail centennial celebration on Monday, said that while in Sheridan last week he had the honor of sitting in an original covered wagon or prairie schooner. People there claimed that it had actually crossed the plains in the historic days of yore, and he affirmed that it did have all the earmarks. Especially did the wooden pin hitch, used to connect the wooden yoke of the oxen to the wagon, serve to convince him of its genuine originality.

Auditing of the county books was in progress this week in charge of Mrs. Daisy Noe of Vale.
