TWO GREAT MEN

THERE will be few who will scoff at the award of the prize of $10,-000 for the greatest "current achievement in the field of science" to the two eminent medical men who discovered the cure for pernicious anemia. Only three years ago physicians knew that every victim of that terrible disease was doomed to early death as certainly as if he had been sentenced to the electric chair. In the best hospitals only two or three out of every hundred cases of pernicious anemia admitted ever left the hospital alive. Now the whole picture is changed. Many physicians have reported 100 per-cent of cures; some of the hospitals have had a similar experience.

The man or men who make a discovery like that, which lengthens in those footsteps, will meet the life and relieves suffering, is surely entitled to honor above the mere inventor of a machine, no matter how useful the machine may be. He is doubly to be honored, for his work is unselfish and without pecuniary reward. Under the code of the physician, he may not take money for his discovery, except as it may come in such form as the prize just awarded to Dr. Minot and Dr. Whip-The medical man may not patent his discovery, or take a fee or percentage from its sale, directly or indirectly. He must publish it to the world, for the benefit of his fellowpractitioners and the public whom he serves. The inventor of a new machine is entitled to make all the money he McCoy. can from its development and use. It may revolutionize the world, but the motive back of the invention was a selfish one. He is entitled to honors, but not to the degree to which the medical discoverer is en- being 15-19 in favor of Irrigon. titled to them.

UNCLE SAM GETS AFTER RACKETEERS

(Autocaster Service)

THE word "racketeer" is a comparatively new one, but the thing itself is as old as any other form of robbery. The racketeer preys upon legitimate business by threats of damage to life or property if his demands for tribute are not met. He levies an illegal tax upon the privflege of doing business.

sets fire to a store whose owner has day. efused to pay for "protection" is usually organized in gangs, and so far police and citizens organizations have been powerless to curb him. Few men will risk their lives for the sake of their dollars, and enough business men have been murdered by racketeers to make others fearful of resisting their demands.

The Federal Government is tak-ing steps to curb some forms of racketeering, which can be reached by Federal laws and agencies. Every shipper of farm products to the larger markets is a potential victim of the racketeers who pray upon the commission houses and dealers. The Federal laws requiring every commission merchant handling per ishable foods in interstate com-merce to have a Federal license, and giving shippers a remedy in the Federal courts if they do not obtain the proceeds from the sale of their shipments, have already had a wholesale effect in putting many crooked commission houses out of business, or holding them to the straight and narrow path.

The radio as an advertising medium has seen its peak. A recent survey showed that 60 percent of the radio audience turns the dial onto something else when an advertising talk is on. You cannot turn off the home town paper. You can throw it away but you throughout.

Ask any rural mail carrier what the mail patrons do with purely advertising matter that patrons have ot written in for. He will tell you that they are invariably thrown away at the box or on the way to the home, which shows conclusively that that kind of advertising has o appeal.

The merchant who reasons that he is so well known that he does not need to advertise is courting a visit from the sheriff. Older readers will recall St. Jacob's Oil, a remedy that was in the medicine cabinet of nearly every home in Amer-ica thirty years ago. It had been placed there by the excellence of the product, aided by a great and intelligent campaign of newspaper advertising that extended over a period of many years. We can visualize their ads even at this late day. Finally, the original owners of St. Jacob's Oil reasoned that the product was so well known that further advertising was throwing money away, and by discontinuing the use of newspaper space they could effect a saving of something like two million dollars per year, the sum the former owners been spending to keep their product before the public. What happened? Sales immediately began to fall off and in a few years St. Jacob's Oil became but a memory with the old timers. The owners, of course, went to the wall. Countless others have met with the same experience, and yet others, who persist in following same fate.

Newspaper advertising brings buyer and seller together at less ex-pense and with much greater effect than any other medium. Why not use it?-Congressman Harold Knutson, Pioneer-Journal, Wadena, Min-
