Mr. and Mrs. P. Hanlon, photographers who left Heppner early last week for the home of their daughter at Tenino, Wash., met with a serious accident on the highway about 12 miles beyond The Dalles, according to report reaching Heppner late Thursday evening. Owing to frost on the highway, the car left the road, was upset and badly wrecked. Mrs. Hanlon had three ribs broken and was taken to the hospital at The Dalles for necessary surgical attention, and recovered sufficiently to allow Mr. and Mrs. Hanlon to proceed on their way to Tenino. Mr. Hanlon escaped injury.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Zinter and daughter were among Eight Mile people in this city on Saturday. Mr. Zinter reports good rains out his way and grain coming along well, with every prospect of an abundant yield the coming season and grain to "burn" in case there is no better price than offered at present. In some sections of the northwest wheat has been used as fuel, being pronounced better than coal, and cheaper, but Mr. Zinter is hopeful that the Morrow county farmers will not have to resort to this method of disposing of the chief product of our section.

Mrs. Mark Merrill was taken suddenly ill on Monday afternoon while with her husband at the lunch room in the Elks building. She was rushed to a physician and upon examination her life was despaired of. Later going to Morrow General Hospital, Mrs. Merrill was operated on. Dr. Gray of this city being assisted by Dr. McBee of Pendleton. Her condition is very grave.

Walter Luckman, Lena stockman, reports that conditions have been ideal for sheep and other stock this winter, and there will be a large saving in hay and other feeds if present conditions prevail a few weeks longer. Mr. Luckman was looking after business here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pieper were visitors in town Saturday afternoon as were also Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Pieper. The winter has been ideal for the wheat out his way, states Mr. Pieper, Sr., and the crop is making satisfactory progress.

Geo. W. Dykstra, who has been a patient for some time at Morrow General Hospital, underwent a major operation Tuesday. Because of his age, Mr. Dykstra is in a serious condition and under care of two special nurses.

Dr. G. A. Clarke has severed his connection with Clarke Optical Co. Watch paper for "Clarke" Optical Co.'s next trip to Heppner in February. Dr. Fred W. Clark, 202-3 Market Trust Bld., Portland, Oregon.

Paul Marble departed Tuesday for Portland where he will attend a meeting of the employees and managers of Pacific Power & Light company. He was accompanied to the city by Mrs. Marble.

Matinees Saturday and Sunday, Star Theater, at 2:30.

Ture Peterson of Ione Market was in town a short time Tuesday forenoon, consulting a physician regarding a lame hip from which he has been suffering for a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred E. Farrior and son Freddie were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, returning to their Pendleton home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Scott Brown was brought in from her Rhea creek home the first of the week, and on Tuesday entered Heppner hospital where she underwent a major operation.

Egbert Young was visiting in town Saturday from his Eight Mile home, where he states everything is moving along OK so far as crops are concerned.

N. M. Johnson, farmer from the west side, was a visitor here Saturday, remaining in the city for a few hours while attending to business affairs.

Ernest Lundell, Ione garage man and car dealer, was a business visitor in this city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson were Eight Mile people in the city on Saturday afternoon.

R. A. Thompson and Cleve Van Schoack shipped out a couple of cars of top cattle Saturday night. The stock went to the Portland market.

William Doherty made final proof on his homestead before Clerk Anderson Tuesday, his witnesses being Wm. Rudy and Wm. McDaid.

Captain Cecil Lieualen of the state traffic department, accompanied by Mrs. Lieualen, made Heppner an official visit Tuesday.

Ed Engelman made a business call to Heppner Monday from his farm home in the Ione district.

H. E. Warner, north Lexington wheatgrower, made a hurried trip to Heppner Tuesday on business.

R. B. Rice of Artesian Well farm was looking after business in this city Saturday afternoon.

Joe Devine, north Lexington wheatraiser, was transacting business in the city Monday.

Presents Piano Students In Recital on Saturday

Mrs. Wm. R. Paulson presented a large number of her piano students in recital at her home on south Baltimore street Saturday afternoon. Parents of many of the children besides a number of friends of Mrs. Paulson were invited guests, and the pupils performed in such a manner as to bring credit to themselves and their teacher. Mrs. Charles W. Smith and Mrs. Russell Pratt poured, and the rooms were tastefully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, daffodils and carnations. Because of illness, Mary Adkins, Katherine Healy, Harriet Hager, Virginia Cleveland and Mary Driscoll were prevented from being present. Those taking part were Patty Cason, Shirley Wilson, Betty Marie Adkins, Alice Latourell, Robert Marble, Marie Barlow, Mary White, Francis White, Nancy Jane Cox, Jeanette Turner, Marjorie Parker, Lucille Hall, Viola Brown, Roberta Thompson, Mae Gentry, Katherine Thompson, Margaret Becket, Louise Anderson, Katherine Parker, Irene Beamer, Pauline Piercey, Howard Cleveland.

Matinees Saturday and Sunday, Star Theater, at 2:30.

NEW YORK NURSE

MISS EDNA WANNENBERG says no one can take course of Sargon without being greatly benefited.

"For three or four years I suffered from sluggish liver and constipation. My skin was sallow. I had no ambition or desire to work. I was nervous and dizzy, had severe headaches and could not sleep. "It is nothing short of remarkable the way Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills relieved me of these troubles. I am now simply bubbling over with new energy and vitality. I do not believe it possible for anyone suffering as I was to take a course of Sargon without being greatly benefited."—Miss Wannenberg lives at 112 E. 81st St., New York City. Sold by Patterson & Son, Drug-gists, Heppner. (adv.)

Enjoys Visiting Schools On Trip to California

Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, county school superintendent, who has but recently returned from an enjoyable trip to the Bay region in California, remaining for the most part with relatives at San Leandro, reports that she had a very interesting and profitable time visiting the city and rural schools in Alameda county. The system of the city of Oakland was especially interesting, and the courtesies extended to Mrs. Rodgers by the superintendent of schools of the county were greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Rodgers found that the work of the rural schools was carried on under the direction of five supervisors, these being under the county superintendent, and it was her privilege to call on each of the fourteen rural schools of the county accompanied by the superior of the individual district under his or her charge. While the system varies greatly from that used in our own state, Mrs. Rodgers was greatly impressed with its value and success, and feels that she received a lot of valuable information as well as new inspiration for her work among the schools of this county.

HURT IN FALL

Andrew Baird sustained painful injury to his head and neck when he fell down some steps at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. Hager, early in the week. A skin laceration on the forehead necessitated a bandage for a time, but the bandage was removed shortly as the wound knitted rapidly. Mr. Baird, past 80 years of age, was not deterred for long from making his daily trip to the postoffice, and his usual erectness of posture did not belie the stiff neck of which he told.

The axiom, "We ourselves the better serve by serving others best," was never more true than today. This implies a busy life. Our combined lines are such that we do not need to spend days or even hours waiting for something to do. We maintain stock, equipment, and most important of all, quality service, at a minimum of overhead. Our slogan for 1931: Keep busy; keep down costs; keep up superior service.

SCHOOL LUNCHES.

Putting up lunches for school children is no easy task. During the first few weeks of school it isn't quite so hard because the weather isn't so cold that one finds cold food unappetizing, more fresh fruits are in season to supplement the lunch, and the monotony of making sandwiches has not become fully developed.

In order to plan lunches with variety it is better not to have too many kinds of food in one day, since this makes it hard to have variety from day to day.

Always try and include in the lunch some kind of fruit, either fresh or dried—if the children like dried fruits such as raisins, apricots, or prunes. If possible give them at least a cup of milk or have them buy chocolate or soup at school. A lunch never seems complete to children without some sort of sweets. Cookies are made to order for the lunch as they can be made in quantities and kept for several days. Other simple sweets are drop cakes, gingerbread, snails, baked custard or one or two pieces of candy to be eaten last.

Sandwiches are the staple article for the lunch box since they are easy to carry, easy to prepare, and afford much variety. The following are a few suggestions for sandwich fillings:

1. Ground carrots and shredded lettuce, salted slightly. If you have never eaten raw vegetable sandwiches be sure and try them before saying, "Oh, I know I wouldn't like them."
2. Hard-cooked eggs chopped very fine and seasoned mildly.
3. If the children are tired of cold sliced meat sandwiches, try grinding it and adding a little sour pickle.
4. Peanut butter is an old standby. Perhaps the addition of a little honey or orange marmalade would give it more interest in the lunch.
5. Crisp bacon broken up in tiny pieces makes a delicious sandwich filling for those who care for bacon.
6. Chopped nuts added to American cheese which has been creamed with butter is also good.

Double-deck or even triple-deck sandwiches are very good for the school lunch. These may be made from rye, white, or graham bread.

Raisin bread also offers another possibility for variety.

Double-Deck Sandwiches

1. Tuna fish, lettuce and mayonnaise
2. Cold boiled ham, minced egg and lettuce.
3. Pimento cheese, cold boiled ham and lettuce.
4. Chopped pork, chopped pickle and olives and lettuce.
