

Local Happenings

C. W. Smith, county agent, was at Irrigon on Tuesday and until Wednesday morning. He reports a heavy rain over the north end of the county Tuesday night, and this apparently reached from the Columbia south. At Cecil there was also a lot of rain and good showers have been coming along since that time, the entire county receiving the needed moisture.

Pomona Grange will meet at Irrigon on March 28, reports C. W. Smith, county agent. This will be an all-day meeting and a very interesting program is being prepared. This meeting had been fixed for April 4th, but the date has been changed because of conflict with other matters coming up to hinder holding the meeting as originally planned.

Howard Keithley, who has been very ill at the Heppner hospital for the past three weeks, suffering an attack of pneumonia, is reported to be on the road to recovery, though it will be some little time yet before he is able to get about. Mr. Keithley took sick about four weeks ago while at work at the R. A. Thompson ranch on Rhea creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Akers motored up from Portland Wednesday and will spend a few days visiting with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barlow in Heppner. Mr. Akers reports that the past winter has been a very pleasant one in Portland, with more than the usual amount of sunshine.

The 70th birthday anniversary of R. W. Turner was remembered by a fine dinner given in his honor on last Thursday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter La Dušire. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Turner, John Turner and Wm. V. Pedro.

Richard Peterson was in the city Wednesday from his home at Kimberly. He reports the past winter over that way as having been mild; spring appears on the way with vegetation putting forth in a fine way and range conditions much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd were visitors in the city on Saturday from the Cecil ranch of Hynd brothers. Mr. Hynd reports that lambing is progressing in fine shape at this ranch, weather conditions so far having been all that was desired.

Cole Smith was a visitor here on Tuesday afternoon from his home at Ione, as was also John Louy. These gentlemen were expecting rain for their section according to all indications Tuesday, and it would be a welcome visitor.

Jake Pearson, who has been on the sick list for a time at his Butter creek home below Lena, was in town Thursday afternoon last to consult with his physician. He stated that he was well on the road to complete recovery.

Mrs. N. S. Whetstone, who has been quite ill at her home in North Heppner for several weeks, during which time she was confined to her bed, is now slowly convalescing and able to be up part of the time.

Paul G. Balsiger, implement dealer of Ione, was looking after business matters in this city on Wednesday forenoon. He reported that his section received a mighty fine rain Tuesday night.

There will be a business meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening, March 17. Final plans for our Easter Monday ball will be completed at this meeting—Secretary.

Jesse Lower and C. G. Blyden were prominent residents of Boardman who were in the city for a short time on Wednesday while looking after business interests.

Percy Jarmon, ranchman of the Pine City district, was in Heppner for a short time on Monday, while attending to matters of business.

Mrs. Russell E. Pratt was called to Salem the first of the week by illness of her mother.

Good 3-bottom, 16-in. John Deere plow for sale—hardened shears. Frank Shively, Heppner, 521f.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwarz and son Billy were week-end visitors with the family of E. R. Merritt at Wapato, Wash. Mr. Schwarz reports that the orchards in Yakima valley are coming along in fine shape, having been thoroughly cultivated and treated for insects, and it will not be long until blossom time, if present weather continues.

Frank Ginder, who has been a visitor the past week with the family of Henry Schwarz in this city, departed for his home at Prosser, Wash., this morning.

W. Claude Cox, manager of the Morrow County Creamery, and Earl W. Gordon, Heppner druggist, spent Tuesday afternoon and evening in Arlington.

Lon Markham of Freewater was visiting in the county Monday, and while in Heppner purchased a new Chevrolet sedan from Ferguson Motor company.

CHURCH OF CHRIST.

JOEL R. BENTON, Minister.
Bible School at 9:45 A. M. If you are not attending Bible school at present, by all means begin here and now, and bring your children and young folks with you. You will all like the spirit of this up-and-doing Bible school. We want you to come and share with us the splendid opportunities afforded here for the careful unfolding of the Word of God. Come, we invite you.
Morning Worship at 11:00. In this hour of real Christian fellowship and worship together you will find that restoration of spiritual morale, uplift and re-energizing which we all need and must have if we are to live up to our best in every way. Two outstanding men in the world of today, in business and engineering achievements, Roger W. Babson and Thomas A. Edison, have very recently said that we are lagging behind just now materially BECAUSE for too long we have been lagging behind SPIRITUALLY! You are invited to come and fellowship and worship with us, and do YOUR part in the restoration of our local and national and worldwide lack of spiritual morale. "No man liveth to himself alone." Come and worship with us. We invite you.

The Christian Endeavor society of young people meets at 6:30 o'clock each Lord's Day evening. TO YOU, YOUNG MAN, YOUNG WOMAN, is this invitation: If you are not now aligned with some group of young folks, somewhere, in the service of Jesus Christ, then we urge and invite you to come and take YOUR PROPER PLACE and PART in the Christian program of today, so that you will be fully ready to take a real place in the world of tomorrow. Come, we invite you.

Evening Worship at 7:30. In this, the closing, crowning service of a day of Christian worship, an honest effort is made to thoroughly interest YOU in the very best things of life; to so interest YOU in the program of Jesus Christ for this world, for YOUR community, that YOU will, without hesitation, align YOURSELF with Christ and His Church. Come, we invite you.

For the next Lord's Day, the sermon topics are: For the morning worship, "The Church of the New Testament." For the evening worship, "The Restoration Movement." It will be the hope and purpose in the series of sermons now planned to set right many misapprehensions regarding the Church of Christ, and to set at rest many mis-statements often made regarding the Church of Christ. "That they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me." John 17-21.

ABOUT The HOME

CHASING DIRT EFFICIENTLY.

Now comes spring pouring a flood of light upon surfaces which somehow don't look as bright and shiny as they seemed to during the winter months. The spirit of "Old Dutch" catches us and we must get in and chase those smudges.

Let's see—I wonder what to clean first—and how to start. Thank goodness! There are no carpets tacked down or pieces of ornamental furniture and heavy, festooned draperies, such as grandmother had to wrestle with. And no, I'm not even going to attempt to clean house the way she did—by tying on a dust cap and then begin to strip the room of every bit of furnishing from the smallest calendar on the wall to the china plates on the plate rail.

We shall clean in the modern, efficient way of absorbing the dust by suction cleaners rather than scattering the dining room dust to the living room and so on through the house.

First we will begin with the ceiling of the room, using a hair brush, the ceiling being the logical place to start since any dust that may drop will be collected as we proceed down the walls. The hair brush is used rather than a covered broom because the broom handle is not long enough, it is hard to keep the cloth on the broom, and it smears the walls rather than dusts them.

After the walls come the framework of the windows, the light fixtures, pictures and wall hangings, then the furniture is dusted, the rugs vacuumed and lastly the floors dusted. These last two may be reversed in order depending on the type of floors and the rugs. However, it is usually best to do the floors last.

In cleaning several rooms the most efficient method is to do one process in all the rooms and then change. For instance, do all of your vacuum sweeping or all of the dusting, etc. This is justified by the fact that the change of shift, that is, changing tools, etc., is a change of muscular action causing fatigue. An exception may be made if the rooms to be cleaned are far apart or on different floors in the house. A change of shift is both fatiguing and time-taking, wasting both motion and effort.

To save energy one should have long-handled tools—about five feet in length. This applies not only to brooms and mops but also to scrubbing brushes to be used on the floor, dust pans, etc. Why break one's back scrubbing a floor on hands and knees when a long-handled brush will do the work for you? The straightener the handle of a brush, etc., is held, the greater are the results of any given amount of pressure. Thus if you hold a mop perpendicular to the floor you can accomplish more due to the greater pressure than if you hold it at a 45-degree angle. Always remember to bend from the waist and not from the back, which is very tiring.

An important item in your cleaning equipment is the dustcloth. An easily prepared and inexpensive polish may be made from fifty percent oil and 50 percent turpentine or kerosene. Mix the two and keep in a bottle. Place one or two table-spoonsful in a tin can. Shake it around and pour out superfluous amount. Place your dustcloth in the can but do not use it for 24 hours. By this time it has absorbed enough polish to make it work effectively. Keeping dustcloths in tightly covered cans is an excellent practice, since it keeps them supplied with a sufficient amount of polish and keeps them out of sight on the shelf for cleaning supplies.

More than 73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan has driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure—to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

LOW PRICES OF FORD CARS $430 TO $630

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

A PEPTIC ULCER.

A man sixty years old came into my office about three months ago. He was short, "tubby" in build, and complained of full stomach, shortness of breath on exertion, and vague, neuralgic pains that flitted about through his lungs when he ascended the stairs. He said the symptoms were sometimes relieved by eating a little; that most of his "fullness" was felt when he was sure the stomach was empty. He was disabled from work by reason of this thing which had been creeping on him for something like a year.

He had been studiously eating "roughage," as well as every sort of "health food" that he could hear of, had avoided meat, believing that it was deadly poison for him. In fact he had arrived at the point when he was suspicious of all foods.

Without resorting to X-ray, I diagnosed ulcer of the stomach; in fact, I did not even pump out and analyze the gastric content. I simply put him on SMOOTH diet, telling him boiled or stewed meats
