

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HEREMIA, Correspondent.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ware were visitors at the Strobel home this week. Mrs. Ware and Mrs. Strobel are sisters. The Wares have been living in Eugene this winter.

Death again invaded the family circle of the Bennett family when the wife, Myrtle, aged 27, was taken Thursday night after a long illness. Her mother, Mrs. Henry Ellis, was with her at Willow creek for three weeks, then she was brought here but later taken to The Dalles to the hospital where death came as a result of dropsy and other complications. Her husband, Bert Bennett, and a daughter Alice, 7 years of age, are left to mourn her early passing, as well as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ellis, four brothers, Howard, Mitchell, Elmer and Cecil, and a sister, Mrs. Joe White of Willow creek. A son Jesse was killed by a passing car in September two years ago when the Bennetts were living at Messner. Funeral services for Mrs. Bennett were held Sunday at the church with the Nazarene pastor in charge. A quartet consisting of Mr. Barlow, Mrs. Coats, Mr. Marschall and Miss Schellenberger, with Mrs. Titus at the piano, sang. Pallbearers were Mr. Cooney, Neils Kristensen, Wm. Strobel, A. T. Heremia, L. V. Root and H. V. Tyler. Interment was in the Boardman cemetery.

The Marschalls were visitors in The Dalles Saturday.

Truman Messenger and family were here from La Grande over Sunday and visited at the Messenger and Barlow homes. The Messengers have been living in Pendleton this winter but have been transferred to La Grande where he will continue his work with the highway department.

Mrs. Marie Shane was pleased to have her father here from California for a visit with her. They drove to Portland Friday.

Friends were glad to welcome Rev. Miller back to the pulpit Sunday evening after his recent illness with pneumonia.

Messrs. Frank and L. Hiatt of La Grande were visitors at the Rands home Monday on their way to Bend.

Mrs. McGoon who is in charge of the Highway Inn gave a pleasant party Saturday night for her son, Jack Sayers, having the high school students for guests. A most delightful evening was spent with games and music, followed by a delicious lunch.

Services were held Sunday in the Catholic church. The priest from Hermiston now has charge of the services here.

The Packards extended their hospitality Sunday at a bounteous dinner. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Porter and Victor Porter of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jenkins and Elvira, Mr. and Mrs. Spagle and Robert Dye of Seattle and the hosts. Mr. Dye is a nephew of the Jenkins and Packards and was a house guest at their homes for a few days this week, leaving Monday for his home.

Boardman is becoming quite sophisticated since its pioneer days and the Senior Frolic, which is an annual event anticipated with many heart flutterings on the part of the younger set, and many new gowns are to be in evidence on that auspicious occasion.

Mrs. Roy Howell visited in Hood River, returning Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Liye Blayden went to their home in Spokane after a few days' visit at the C. G. Blayden home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Kroon stopped for a short visit at the Mead home Thursday on their way to The Dalles.

The government landing field near Tom's Camp is taking on the appearance of a city field. It has been nicely leveled and a row of lights placed around the field. The beacon has been casting its rays about for several months.

Elizabeth Kristensen has been having a severe case of whooping cough and has been unable to retain any nourishment for so long that she has become very thin. It is indeed a dread malady for the little people. No new cases have developed for some time so it is hoped that it has run its course.

The Palera family Saturday from Lexington where they visited at the Schriever home, and on Saturday and Sunday they were at Stanfield visiting friends.

Heremia's were guests Sunday at the Cooney home at a lovely dinner.

Lee Mead and family are planning to move shortly to their ranch, which they have been getting in readiness.

Friktion at school and over school matters was formerly the common thing here, but for the past three years there has been comparative peace and quiet. The climax came when a young high school girl spoke in a rude and disrespectful manner to Miss McMahon, the matter was taken to the board and being dissatisfied with their findings in the case, Miss McMahon resigned, leaving Monday for Spokane where she will visit. It is indeed unfortunate to have difficulties of this sort in the school. The girl was suspended, and there are three or four more youngsters in the school who might well be, or perhaps receive an old fashioned application of "hickory oil" or birch, to remove some of the super egotism with which they feel endowed. When children defy a teacher the modern methods of education might well be dispensed with for a time and some of the older methods used. The board handled this matter in a very discreet way and no favoritism was shown whatsoever. Miss Marian Campbell of Portland is here and has taken up Miss McMahon's work.

G. A. Harju and son John left Saturday night for Mass, Mich. The family has been there for the past year and like it very much. They have a farm there and already have 8 or 9 cows. William, the eldest boy who was here with his father, left the first of the year. Mr. Harju thought he had the Boardman ranch sold when he bought the one in Michigan, but the deal fell through, so the family was divided for a year. The Heremias have moved on to the Harju place.

BOARDMAN SUNDIAL

Meadow Larks—Eleanora and Astor Skoubo had their birthday cakes at School Friday. They were out with whooping cough at the time of their birthdays. The cakes had seven candles on them.

The Snappy Snippers held their fourth 4-H sewing club meeting at the Howard home Saturday evening, March 14. The members were pleased to have Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers, county school superintendent, and Miss Edith Stallard, county nurse, with them. Mrs. Rodgers presented the club with its charter. She also presented members and leaders of last year's Strawberry and Lone Tree joint sewing club with club pins. The club came through 100 percent. Members receiving achievement pins were Doris Klinger, Edna Rauch, Margaret McDaid, Annie Doherty and Henry Rauch. Co-leaders Nora McDaid and Mae Doherty received silver leadership pins. Arrangements were made for all the members of the club to meet with Mrs. Rodgers and Miss Wynken, state assistant club leader at the Strawberry schoolhouse on Monday or Tuesday of next week. Dancing was enjoyed after the meeting by the young people of the community. Refreshments were served. A pleasant evening was reported by all present.

The high school divisional declamatory contest for north Morrow county will be held at the Alpine schoolhouse on Saturday evening, March 28, at 8 o'clock sharp. Come and bring your friends. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Coffee and sandwiches and cake will be served in the basement of the school after the speaking.

the college economists, but poultrymen apparently plan to raise fewer pullets than usual. Commercial hatcheries in the United States turned out 50 per cent fewer January chicks and around 40 per cent fewer February chicks than last year. The cut was even heavier on the Pacific coast. Poultrymen have also marketed so many hens that the number now on farms is somewhat less than a year ago.

Egg production has been unusually heavy during the winter months because of the mild, open weather, but the recent trend has been toward normal production. The use of eggs by consumers, however, has increased substantially because of the low prices.
