Official Paper for Morrow County.

A FARMER PROPOSITION.

CHARLES COOK has offered a plan that apparently would remove the exportable wheat surplus from the domestic market and give the wheat grower the benefit of the tariff, now 42 cents. In effect that has been the aim of every plan so far devised to give the farmer a better price for his wheat.

The Cook plan appeals more than the rest because of its simplicity, and the assurance it gives of succeeding in its purpose if the weight of the growers is thrown behind it. Its success hinges entirely on the support given it by the growers, and it is to be recommended more highly because of this.

There has been dissatisfaction in certain circles because of the government husbanding the farmer. And while the same people who have made this complaint would probably squirm should the Cook plan be adopted, there would be no chance for them to do anything about it, as adoption of the plan would eliminate necessity for any governmental aid whatsoever aside from the tariff, which protection is an established governmental policy. It would be handled entirely by the Farmers National Wheat Marketing association and its subsidiaries, a purely farmer organization, and the Grain Stabilization corporation, a branch of the national marketing association.

The plan in effect would enable the wheat grower to do exactly what the manufacturer of farm machinery has been able to do for a long time. Just as the machinery man has been able to keep down his operating costs through quantity production by making his profit on the machines sold at home while selling the surplus at cost or less than cost abroad, so would the farmer be enabled to operate on the most economical basis by being assured at all times the protection of his wheat consumed at home.

It remains for the farmers to say whether or not they want the Cook plan.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

(Autocaster Service) IT COSTS the average American family a little more than one-third of its income for food. The average wage-earner has an income of $1,519.29 a year, or just under $30 a week, out of which he spends $94.83 for food, according to the most recent statistical compilation of figures on the cost of living. Rent, whether in the form of maintenance and taxes on a home, or in actual rent paid to a landlord, averages a little over one-fifth of the

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for May 24. JESUS PREPARING FOR THE END. Luke 22:7-23

REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D. D.

At all times Jesus of Nazareth was loyal to His Jewish extraction. He observed the Sabbath, made full use of the synagogue and kept the Hebrew feasts. His work during recent weeks had the Jewish Passover as its objective. Preparation was made on Thursday of what we now call Holy Week. With His disciples He proceeds to Jerusalem and instructs how they may find the room where they will keep the feast. It was easy to follow the lead for they were to find a man bearing a pitcher of water, whereas water carrying was the job for women. It is thought that John Mark was the young man and that he led them to the house of his mother, Mary. A most significant act took place when Jesus washed the feet of all, since each one of the disciples purposely avoided this customary duty lest he appear to belittle himself and have a lesser place in the Kingdom they expected the Leader to establish.

Following the Passover meal and the departure of Judas, Jesus performed one of the few acts that deals with organization. He took some of the unleavened bread and gave to it the significance of His body that was about to be yielded up on the cross. The cup typified His shed blood. These emblems were to be taken by His disciples throughout all time as memorials of the gift of Self on the cross on the morrow. Thus we have the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, through which we make confession of Christ as our Saviour. Read the table conversation in John 14, 15, 16, and note the prayer of Jesus in that upper room as recorded in chapter 17. "This do in remembrance of me" is the abiding command to all believers.

total income, or in the case of the average wage-earner, $342.14. Clothing for the entire family, on the same scale, comes to $237.60, leaving $885.04 out of this average wage earner's income for miscellaneous expenditures.

That is substantially a quarter of the average worker's yearly earnings, out of which he has to pay doctor's bills, cost of educating his children, all amusements, his life insurance premiums, if any, and everything else that he spends money for. On the same basis of figuring the average wage earner spends $16.33 for automobiles. Since the cheapest automobile sells for around $500, this means that only around one given year. With ordinary care, however, even a cheap car will last for years. It is a safe assumption that at least one out of every ten wage workers in America owns an automobile.

Doctor's bills for the average family run nearly four times the cost of automobiles. Insurance accounts for $43.28 a year out of the average family income. And after paying for all of these things already mentioned, this average American working man has $90 a year left for cigarettes, Christmas presents or other non-necessary expenditures, besides putting $78.93 in the savings bank.

Those are figures which cannot be matched anywhere else in the world. Nowhere has the man who works with his hands such a surplus above his actual living as he has in America. For that matter, no worker under any other flag has as comfortable living quarters or as good and ample food. It is this surplus of earnings above expenses that has enabled American workers to carry through a long period of depression and unemployment without being reduced to beggary and starvation.

THE PEACETIME COST OF WAR.

(Autocaster Service) THE whole subject of war and its cost has been brought into the arena of public discussion in the United States as a result of the recent meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Washington. As is always the case when the subject is discussed, everybody agreed that all nations are spending too much money on their military and naval establishments, but nobody was willing to commit his own country to a reduction in this terrific charge upon the taxpayers.

President Hoover, however, took the first step by summoning the Secretary of War and the Chief of Staff of the Army into conference and asking them to figure out ways whereby the cost of maintaining the military establishment of the United States can be reduced without impairing its efficiency. This is a move in a direction which most Americans will commend. There is no doubt in the world, in our own minds, that we are a peace-loving nation. The peoples and governments of other countries do not always believe us when we say that, but every American knows that it is true. Mr. Hoover, by reason of his Quaker birth and upbringing, is naturally opposed to war as the means of settling international disputes. And it is reported that he found the heads of the Army in accord with his desire for economy.

The money spent by the War Department in time of peace, is of course, very largely for internal improvements. The development and dredging of harbors, the building of bridges, everything that has to do with keeping navigable rivers in their channels, and many other government engineering projects, are carried out by army engineers. There is no idea of cutting down on any of these activities, which are now providing employment for tens of thousands of men who would otherwise, perhaps, be out of jobs. Nor is it planned, according to the information from Washington, to reduce the army personnel. But there are expenditures in connection with the upkeep of the military establishment which, it is believed, can be reduced or suspended to result in a saving of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 a year.

Such a saving would go a long way toward making up the nation's billion-dollar deficit, and it would also be a gesture toward the rest of the world in the way of proof that we have no immediate war-like aims.

"ROUGHAGE"

We hear it, read it, sense it in the very air, "roughage." It's the slogan of the swivel-chair patriot, whose colon has been on a strike for the last twenty rubber-tired years. Treat 'em rough, these tired, lazy-stuffed colons; just get to have roughage! Well, the prodigal son ate the husks which the swine didn't take—and repented of his sins right away,—the first victory for roughage, so to speak. Then he lost no time getting back to the fatted calf—the smooth diet.

Let's talk about bran—shorts, "fallings," husks of wheat, or what have you? The sort recommended by solemn physicians, smug dietitians and artful manufacturers; and, let's talk sense. I have not found one in twenty-five routine investigations, upon whom bran had the least effect in

STYLES RULE MARKETS.

Changes in the manner of living are reflected in the markets of the world to a remarkable degree. So gradual do these changes come that they are seldom observed before the growers suffer keen depression in markets for their products.

Changes in styles of dress and living conditions have during the past few years cut down on the volume of wool used for clothing and stimulated the markets for rayon and silk especially. The incoming of furnace-heated apartments, factories, homes and closed automobiles has also been accompanied by the use of lighter-than-wool dress materials for both women and men. "Wear More Wool" is a practical slogan.
