

Local Happenings

Commissioners Bleakman and Peck, Roadmaster McCaleb and George McDuffee motored over to Ritter on Monday where they met with the Grant county court, to talk over the Heppner-Ritter road. Grant county has some money to spend on their end of this road at the present time and wished to consult with our officials regarding the work. Mr. McCaleb and Mr. McDuffee remained to assist with the preliminary survey and location of the proposed Grant county extension, and the commissioners returned home Monday evening.

Otis Welch, former resident of Heppner, was shaking hands with numerous old time friends on our streets Friday. He was on his way to the old home over in the John Day valley, and remained over here for a day. Mr. Welch is in the employ of the U. P. railway company at Portland, and it had been some 16 years since he last visited this city and was pleased to note the many substantial improvements made here.

County Clerk Gay Anderson and family motored to Portland Friday going to the city to attend the funeral of Mrs. W. S. Anderson whose burial took place there Saturday afternoon. She was a sister-in-law of Mr. Anderson. While below Gay visited with his mother at Vancouver, Wash., whom he reports to be somewhat improved in health. They returned home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson spent a short time in the city on Monday from their farm in the lower Gooseberry section. It is quite dry out that way, and Mr. Johnson expressed the opinion that rain must come shortly if any good is done to the rapidly maturing grain. Wheat is headed out and now filling, but needs moisture.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stevens and son Arlon were visitors in the city Tuesday from the farm home near Hardman. Eston, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, recently went to Meacham where he will pack during the summer for two bands of sheep belonging to Fred Hoskins.

Troy Bogard who has been raising wheat for several years in Eight Mile is moving onto part of the John Kilkenny land up Hinton creek, on what is known as the Healy place, formerly farmed by Mike Healy. Troy was transacting business in the city Tuesday.

Paul Webb came down from his Walla Walla home Tuesday to spend a few days at the Webb ranch on Thorn creek. Mr. Webb can't help but look upon Morrow county as "home" and is always glad to be here, if but for a short few days at a time.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson, accompanied by Miss Helen Curran, departed Monday for Pasadena and Los Angeles, Cal., on a vacation trip. Joe Dagenais, Portland druggist, is in charge of the Patterson & Son store during Mr. Patterson's absence.

Anson Wright was in the city Tuesday from his home up Hardman way, where, just at the present time weather conditions are pretty dry and rains are needed by both grain fields and range lands.

Mrs. E. W. Gordon returned Monday from Salem where she attended the state convention of Business and Professional Womens clubs as a delegate from the Heppner club.

Dan Stalter, president of the Heppner Mining company, left the first of the week for the properties of the company in the Greenhorn mountains near Austin.

Miss Minnie Hawthorne and niece Marie Sweek, departed Tuesday for Eugene for a few days' visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wilcox were in town for a short time Wednesday from their farm near Jordan Siding. Mr. Wilcox thinks a good rain right now is needful and hopes its coming may not be too long delayed.

R. B. Wilcox and son Charles from the silo farm northwest of Lexington were business visitors in the city Tuesday morning. Charles is one of the mainstays of the pitching staff of the Heppner baseball club.

D. A. Wilson, Gay M. Anderson and Gay Jr., Lester White and Ed Bennett motored to John Day the end of the week and enjoyed fishing over the week end.

Miss Adele Nickerson left the Heppner hospital Monday, being well on the road to recovery from her recent operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard French of Gardane attended the convention of stockmen held at John Day last week end.

Mrs. Delois Chapel of Hardman is in Seattle for the summer where she will attend summer school at the University of Washington.

R. J. Carsner, register of the U. S. land office at The Dalles, was a business visitor in the city the first of the week.

Wilbur Swaggart was a visitor in the city from Pendleton Wednesday.

SUMMER SCHOOL SET FOR CLUBBERS

Largest Attendance on Record is Promised for Session to Start June 8.

Between 700 and 800 4-H club boys and girls, ranging in age from 12 to 20 years, and representing more than 30 Oregon counties will arrive on the Oregon State college campus June 8 for the Seventeenth Annual Club Summer session.

Despite the much-talked-of economic depression, both the total attendance and the number of boys and girls attending on scholarships awarded by the state fair and by various service clubs and other organizations of the state will be considerably larger than in any previous year, according to H. C. Seymour, state club leader.

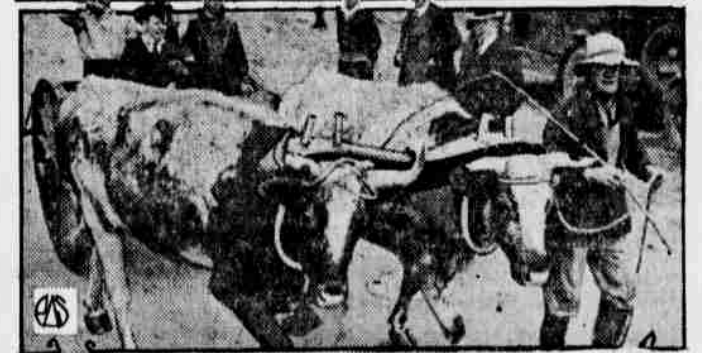

Regular classes in agricultural and home economics subjects, games and all forms of supervised recreation, daily assemblies with prominent men of the state as speakers are provided for the boys and girls during their two-weeks' stay on the campus. Classes in forestry and training in fire prevention are among work offered for the boys for the first time this year. A number of additions have also been made in classes for girls.

The club members will live in the college dormitories again this year, will have the use of the regular college laboratories, and will be taught by members of the college faculty. In addition to the broadcasts put on by certain counties each evening over KOAC, the college radio station, one class will be broadcast each day, so that parents and others interested may hear the actual work the clubbers are getting.

C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction; C. L. Starr, chairman of the board of higher education; and O. M. Plummer, are among the prominent speakers who will address the club members during the session. An invitation has also been issued to Governor Julius L. Meier.

The supply of beef in storage is light compared to last year and to the average, the college report points out. Holdings of pork products, except lard, have increased until there is now more on hand than last year and the average at this time of the year. Stocks of lamb are light, but the supply available for market is expected to be ample. Wool markets are showing some firmness because of better demand and a slight reduction in the clip in southern hemisphere countries where 70 per cent of the world supply originates.

CO-OP VOTES TO ACCEPT CONTRACT

Obtaining Handling Facilities Aim of Farmers National Corporation; Objections Offered.

Spokane, Wash.—Directors of the North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., in session last week in Spokane, accepted a contract with the Farmers' National corporation of Chicago. Under the new arrangement the Farmers' National corporation will acquire grain elevator and warehouse facilities, and provide for the direct marketing of the grain of the local cooperatives through the national corporation.

This decision was not reached without heated dispute and notice of appeal to the Federal Farm Board from the action of the North Pacific Grain Growers' board was served shortly before the final adjournment of the directors was taken.

The appeal reads: "To the board of directors of the North Pacific Grain Growers' Inc. We, the undersigned directors of the North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc. hereby serve notice that we will immediately appeal to the Federal Farm Board setting up our objections to the changes in our contractual relations with the Farmers' National Grain corporation, which were urged by them and which largely centralizes the control of our local affairs in the Farmers' National Grain corporation. Signed: F. J. Wilmer, Rosalia; W. J. Sutton, Cheney; O. T. Cornwall, Walla Walla; A. E. Olson, Pullman; B. R. McAllister, Kalispell, Mont.; T. S. Hedges, Waterville."

Heretofore this grain marketing has been done through the North Pacific, the farmers regional organization headquarters of which is in Spokane.

The directors who voted for the contract are Orris Doorman, LaCrosse; George Ausman, Asotin; Troy Lindley, Dayton; O. O. Haga, Boise, Idaho; Edwin Nelson, Fenn, Idaho; A. C. Linham, Genesee, Idaho; R. W. Ritner, Pendleton; W. S. Powell, Moro; E. M. Hulden, Blalock; A. R. Shumway, Milton. Opposed to the contract: F. J. Wilmer, Rosalia; W. J. Sutton, Cheney; A. E. Olson, Pullman; V. R. Hyslop, Deep Creek; T. S. Hedges, Waterville; O. T. Cornwall, Walla Walla; B. C. McAllister, Kalispell, Mont.

The Store of Personal Service

An English cub reporter, frequently reprimanded for relating too many details and warned to be brief, turned in the following: "A shooting affair occurred last night. Sir Dwight Hopeless, a guest at Lady Panmore's ball, complained of feeling ill, took a highball, his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that."

The schoolmaster was explaining to his class of small boys the nature of common fractions. "If I take a potato, cut it in half, then in quarters, and then in halves again, what shall I have?" "Chips, sir," was the unexpected response from one small boy.
