CHEERFUL PHILOSOPHER SPEAKS AT CHAUTAUQUA

John E. Aubrey of New Jersey is a famous man, and particularly famous with the young men and women who have heard him in thousands of addresses that he has given to schools throughout the country. Mr. Aubrey has the distinction of having spoken in over eighteen hundred schools, and for twenty-six seasons has been in Chautauqua work during the summer time for the Redpath-Vawter, White & Brown, Radcliffe and other systems.

In some places he has been called to speak as many as fourteen times. He is listed in "Who's Who in America," the "International Blue Book," and has been given the unusual distinction of being given a life membership in Rotary International. He is also a member of the Academy of Letters and Sciences at Naples, Italy, a most outstanding honor which only a few Americans have shared. Among these have been Woodrow Wilson, Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, and Thomas A. Edison. The Academy was organized many years ago by forty-six men, the greater number of whom were professors in the Royal University of Naples. It is now composed of men who have made reputations as writers, orators or scientific leaders. Dr. Aubrey was elected as a result of his wide reputation in education work and popular speaking. He has delivered altogether over eleven thousand addresses in every section of America and is particularly noted for his interest in educational work. Students, parents, college and high school alumni and good citizens who are interested in America's continued development along idealistic lines find his address on "Coming Across" a memorable treat. Two million people, mostly young folks, have heard this address. It is an address primarily for the young men and women of the community, although chock full of interesting matter for everybody who enjoys association with a good thinker.

"Hey! how about some hot water?"

So you're going through another summer beginning each day with this cry. You understand, of course, that it isn't at all necessary. Install an electric water heater and you'll have plenty of hot water at the turn of the tap—night and day. No range or furnace fires to make. Not even a heater to turn on and off! Cost? About 10c a day for all the hot water you need! Safe? Safe to the nth degree—there is no open flame, no overheating, no forgetting.

There's an electrical water heating system for every home and every family. No matter how large your demands for hot water, we can furnish you an electrical heating system that will be entirely adequate and satisfactory. The complete equipment and installation may be had for as low as $5 down.

Modernize your present system. If your present water heating system, whether fuel or electric, is unsatisfactory, we can modernize it so that it brings you all the conveniences of the modern electric system. Call our office today.
