

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HEREIM, Correspondent.

The Fourth of July community picnic, parade and program was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd at Warner's camp park. There were two divisions of the children's parades, the pets and the vehicles. In the latter division Billy and Bobby Morgan, grandsons of Mrs. Weston, received first prize. Their vehicle was a little express wagon portraying the "Spirit of 1776" in the form of a covered wagon. Bobby was dressed as the man with a long beard and wearing overalls and straw hat. Billy was dressed as the woman with a gingham dress and bonnet on. The two boys pulled the wagon. Janet Gorham won second prize and Echo Coats, third. Both of the girls had their doll buggies, prettily decorated with crepe paper. In the pet or animal parade Dorothy and Donnelly Channing received first prize with their lambs and lion. Two of their pet lambs were hooked to a small wagon on which their dog rode in a cage. The large dog was sheared to resemble a lion. Donnelly led the lambs and Dorothy followed carrying a bottle of milk for the lambs. Frances Skoubo, who was awarded second prize, carried two baskets of little kittens, three in each basket. The baskets were draped with red, white and blue crepe paper. Vernon Russell won third. He was dressed as a clown and carried his pet kitten. After the picnic several patriotic songs were sung by the crowd and then Rev. W. O. Miller delivered the Independence Day address.
