JONATHAN BOURNE TAKES ON MIGHTY TASK, 1932.

ONATHAN BOURNE, erstwhile United States senator from Oregon, and we are not all sorry that he is "ex," has now donned the role of president maker. He has announced the candidacy of ex-sena-tor Joseph I. France of Maryland for the nomination on the republi-can ticket. Bourne claims to be a republican, though he supported Al Smith against President Hoover and he now proposes to beat the presdient within his party's ranks.

Bourne says the dominant questions in the next campaign, 1932, tor from Pennsylvania to Califor will be liquor, power, farm relief and avoidance of foreign entangle-ments, and that Mr. Hoover is all wet" on each of these.

Ever since the memory of man in these United States these have been political issues. Foreign entanglements was an issue when Washington went to the first White House and liquor was always a political issue, even in the days of the colony government. Farm relief was an ssue when Elisha made two blades grow where one grew before and for his efforts received the jeers of the young hoodlums who cried after him as he ascended the mountain to offer thanks to God: "Go thou up baldheaded, go thou up. Utility power and operations of trusts is a bit more modern, but all of the Bourne-France issues are as old as the hills and furnish a lot of buncombe for political shysters.

publicity. In this respect the late P. T. Barnum had nothing on Oregon's ex-senator. He rode into office in Oregon through advertising, but like all other products which fail to stand the test he crumpled and went into the discard. Mr. France, no doubt, is a very capable man, but after the convention has met and nominated, it will again be Mr. spoken at the polls it will still be President Hoover.

II Corinthians 9:1-7. Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Christianity is far more than an ideal. Its principles can be put into practice. Calvin Coolidge recently said in one of his daily messages: "It would be difficult to find anywhere on earth a human being whose life has not been modified in some degree by the influence of the Christian religion." Thought of others rather than of self is basic. This began with the Founder and every true follower has the same idea.

Today the world still needs the fullest expression of Christian so-cialism. As people had need in the Jerusalem congregation, provision was made by turning into a com-mon fund whatever could be spared. Many quarrels resulted over the dis- the great contributions to civilizatribution of money. Daughtery has made good with a vengeance if his access is to be measured in dollars and cents. He has built up a giant organization and has gather-ed under his control millions upon nillions. He has driven the small utility out of the field wherever he has gone; he has ruined the small and independent promoter of oil and gas companies; he has financed and dictated Better Business Bu-reaus from New York to Texas and through these agencies he has sought and obtained the ruin of nen and investments of thousands The bureaus have acted as the stool pigeons for the postal inspectors and they have brought about ruin of hordes of concerns that no doubt would have made good and created new wealth for the country and their stockholders. He has juggled rates to suit himself and has inflated his stocks and deflated them at will. He has operated the great in restment house of Daugherty at the expense of his investors and one of these days his house of cards will fall about his head. These are charges that have been made many many times through the public print and they are charges that are today being made by practically every independent oil and gas opera-

His stocks were boosted beyond all reason. They were sold by Daugherty high pressure methods using Better Business Bureaus throughout the country to boost their sale. He is a fox, but it is our prediction that other states will follow the lead of Kansas and there will be a lot of water squeezed out of Daugherty securities.

There is every reason in the world for the operation of utility organizations. This paper believes that they are a benefactor to mankind. We still believe that private ownership is far better than government in business and prefer our public utilities privately owned, but we cannot endorse the Daugherty stripe of utility management. the United States is proposing to Daugherty makes his money selling do now in the case of our neighbors his own securities, not in manage-But Jonathan knows the value of ment and through the rendering of that sort of thing constitutes the service.

Medical facilities in the United States are adequate in the aggregate, perhaps. The committee has found that 1,500,000 people devote their full time to medical care There is one physician to every 126 inhabitants. Over 7,000 hospitals and one-half days occupancy a year. But neither physicians nor hospitals are evenly distributed; there are places that have too many, and many more that have too few What can be done about seeing that everybody in the United States has sure and convenient access to the medical care to which he is entitled? What can be done about seeing that those who furnish this care are adequatley rewarded for their labor? What can be done about seeing that the means of pay ing for this care are provided for all the people?

In the four years which it has already put in upon its task such progress has been made that ans-wers to those questions will soon be ubmitted to the people of the United States. There is promise that the formula which will result will be workable. If it is, then one of "Prohibition," says Henry Ford, was intended to save the country and generations yet to come. There are a million boys growing up in the United States who have never seen a saloon and who will never know the handicap of liquor either in themselves or their relatives; and this excellent conditions will go on spreading itself over the country when the wet press and the paid propaganda of booze are forgotten. There should be no mistake about it. The abolition of the commercialized liquor trade in this country is as final as the abolition of slavery. These are the two great reforms to which moral America committed itself from the beginning of its his-

The fact that such a large numer of our young people have never seen a saloon and do not know how nideous it was makes it easy for the wet propagandist to persuade many of them "that things are worse than they were in the old saloon days." This lie, and everyone with a memory worth calling a memory, who lived in those days, knows it is a lit, should be combatted by all who know the truth. The great pity is that many good people who have forgotten the past, or who were poor observers in the past, are ready to echo this wet lie. Conditions are not ideal and there is more liquor in evidence than good citizens probably thought there would be after ten years of prohibition, but giving currency to wet lies does not aid the cause in the least.
