Mrs. Ernest Lundell who recently underwent an operation in a Heppner hospital is making a satisfactory recovery and plans on returning to her home this week.

W. H. A. Smith was an outgoing passenger Friday bound for Seattle where he went to stay for some time with his daughter, Miss Marcia Smith.

W. K. Honey and son John Honey of Gresham were in town the first of the week looking after their business interests here.

Charley McElligott who has been very ill with pneumonia is improving. He is being cared for in a Heppner hospital.

Mrs. Louis Bergevin was severely injured early Sunday morning. She had placed the meat in the pressure cooker, but had not fastened on the lid, when sufficient steam was formed in the cooker to blow the lid off with great force. Mrs. Bergevin was knocked to the floor, receiving burns on her face, right arm and breast and also bad bruises on her face and arm. First aid was given by Mr. Bergevin and later Mrs. Del Ward came to assist. Mrs. Cole Smith is cooking for the harvesters on the ranch while Mrs. Bergevin is unable to work. On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Bergevin took his wife to Pendleton where she took stage for Baker and will visit for a few days with her mother, Mrs. J. C. King and with her sister, Mrs. Robert Newhouse, whose home is in Stockton, Calif.

At the meeting of the Ione school board held last week, bids on the bus routes and janitor work were opened. The north of Ione route was given to Fred Mankin at a salary of $50 per month. The Willow creek route went to Ernest Shipley, salary $85 per month. Route one, which serves the Beckner and Bergevin children and those living on Rhea creek, was not let. The two low bids were a tie between Lowell Clark and James Warfield. This matter will be settled later by the board. The janitor work and care of school grounds was given Charles O'Conner, salary $500 for the year.

Mrs. Charley Allinger has been visiting in Portland. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lillie Allinger, cashier of the Farmers and Stockgrowers National bank at Heppner.

Leona Sweeney Christopherson, wife of Clifford Christopherson, died at Walla Walla, Tuesday, July 21, at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Christopherson had been ill since the first of the year. She received treatment for some time in a Heppner hospital and later was moved to Walla Walla. We were unable to learn the funeral arrangements.

Laxton McMurray has been named by Governor Meier as the third member of the Morrow county tax conservation committee, the other two members being Charles Wicklander of Boardman and W. P. Mahoney of Heppner. On Tuesday Mr. McMurray met with Mr. Mahoney at Heppner and discussed plans whereby the county tax levy might be cut the desired 20 percent. Mr. Wicklander was not present.

Ione was represented by five players in the Heppner-Ontario American Legion junior baseball game played Sunday at La Grande. The final score was 16-6, with the big end of the score going to Ontario.

Miss Margaret Crawford, Milton Morgan and Carl Lindken were Ione young folks who motored to La Grande to witness the game.

The O. E. S. Social club met last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Krebs at Cecil. Mrs. Krebs was assisted in entertaining and serving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Krebs. At the close of a pleasant afternoon spent in sewing, dainty refreshments were served. Ladies present were Mrs. Fred Mankin, Mrs. Dwight Misner, Mrs. Earl Blake, Mrs. Ella Davidson, Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Mrs. Peter Timm, Miss Opal Finn, Mrs. Carl Feldman, Miss Kathryn Feldman, Mrs. Jack Hynd, Miss Geneva Pettijohn, and Mrs. R. E. Harbison.

While at work in the harvest field, Kenneth Akers received a broken bone in one of his hands. He went to Heppner where the injured hand was dressed by a physician. The accident happened Saturday.

M. R. Morgan is having new floors placed in his building on Main street. This building is occupied by the telephone office and the R. E. Harbison grain office.

Mrs. Robert Zinter went to Portland Monday to be near her son, Sidney Zinter, who recently received serious injuries when he was hit by a falling tree limb. The young man is in St. Vincent's hospital.

Cite Proper Sanitation for Drinking Fountains

(From State Board of Health)

The danger of the common drinking cup has long been recognized in the war against communicable diseases. State laws in Oregon prohibit the use of the common drinking cup in public places. In place of this health menace, we now find in schools, factories, and other public places, individual drinking cups or the so-called "sanitary" bubbler or drinking fountain.

Unfortunately many drinking fountains are decidedly insanitary. It is a common sight to witness children and adults placing their lips against the metal or porcelain around the jet of a drinking fountain. Moreover, many fountains allow water to run from the mouth of the drinker back over the nozzle of the fountain. Such insanitary arrangements may spread disease germs.

Committees of the American Public Health association and the Conference of State Sanitary Engineers have recently made a final report embodying the following recommendations as to essential features of design, construction and operation of drinking fountains:

- 1. The fountain shall be constructed of impervious material, such as vitreous china, porcelain, enameled cast iron, other metals, or stone-ware.
2. The jet of the fountain shall issue from a nozzle of non-oxidizing, impervious material set at an angle from the vertical. The nozzle and every other opening in the water pipe or conductor leading to the nozzle shall be above the edge of the bowl so that such nozzle opening will not be flooded in case a drain from the bowl of the fountain becomes clogged.
3. The end of the nozzle shall be protected by nonoxidizing guards to prevent persons using the fountain from coming into contact with the nozzle.
4. The inclined jet of water issuing from the nozzle shall not touch the guard, thereby causing splattering.
5. The bowl of the fountain shall be so designed and proportioned as to be free from corners which would be difficult to clean or which would collect dirt.
6. The bowl shall be so proportioned as to prevent unnecessary splashing at a point where the jet falls into the bowl.
7. The drain from the fountain shall not have a direct physical connection to a waste pipe unless the drain is tapped.
8. The water supply pipe shall be provided with an adjustable valve fitted with a loose key or an automatic valve permitting the regulation of the rate of flow of water to the fountain so that the valve manipulated by the users of the fountain will merely turn the water on or off.
9. The height of the fountain at the drinking level shall be such as to be most convenient to persons utilizing the fountain. The provision of several steplike elevations to the floor at fountains will permit children of various ages to utilize the fountain.

10. The waste opening and pipe shall be of sufficient size to carry off the water promptly. The opening shall be provided with a strainer.

An Extravagant Waste.

Not so many years ago a certain university professor made the startling statement that after forty a man ought to be chloroformed. We may be glad the great apostle Paul was not chloroformed at forty. It was after he was far past that age that he wrote his immortal epistles and did his greatest work. It would have been a great loss to the whole world if Alexander MacLaren had been chloroformed even at eighty-five. It was after he had passed eighty-five that he wrote his wonderful "Expositions of Holy Scriptures," consisting of many volumes, and generally recognized as one of the best contributions to Biblical literature.

Dr. William A. N. Dorland has studied the lives of four hundred famous men of history and has found that it was beyond fifty years of age that these men did their greatest work. This list includes such men as Lincoln, Washington, Webster, Blackstone, Hawthorne, Irving, Keats, Milton, Greeley, Barrett, Thackeray, Wordsworth, Newton, Byron, Verne, Whittier, Hus, Wolff, Rubens, Mozart, Bunyan.

What if these men had been chloroformed at forty? Who can estimate the loss the world would have suffered? And in view of Dr. Dorland's findings, what a lamentable folly is the present day urge to retire men because they have passed middle age. The result is to deprive society of their service just when their years of experience have equipped them to do their best work. Surely it is an extravagant waste.

"Yet for love's sake I rather beseech thee, being such a one as Paul the APOSTLE," Philimon, 9. We cordially invite you to come and worship with us if you have not a Church home. You will enjoy our Bible School and services. COME!

For the coming Lord's Day the sermon topics are: Morning, "A Perfect Law." Evening, "Until." Our church is cool, but not cold; and through these hot days fans are provided for the comfort of those who worship here.

pretty good round, the birds were separated. They belonged to Wills Cowsins and Towns Matthews, and while Wills has the larger of the two, Towns boasts of the finest looking one.

Charley Jones is having his new bath tubs, porcelain lined, placed in position. They are dandies.

The Counter Jumpers ball given last evening will be remembered as one of the most agreeable affairs ever given in Heppner. The music, which was excellent, was furnished by our Messrs. H. McFarland and J. C. Hart, assisted by Prof. Burgfeldt and Karl Gottfried, of The Dalles. These visitors were accompanied by Messrs. Ed Williams and H. Blanchard. Success to the manipulators of the yard stick.

The Puyallup Citizen, edited by J. W. Redington, formerly editor of the Gazette, says that Heppner was at one time the gayest of wild and woolly towns, but that eastern innovations have made the place quite prim and old maidish, because only a few days ago our marshal tried to catch a fellow who had fired his pistol off on Main street and then rode out of town. Well, yes, a few years ago it was slightly different. The biggest tye then was the man with the gun and a "jag on."

Under the title of "Fall Poetry" appears the following: A friend of ours who knows something about the town cow, composes the following: Oh, the cow, the beautiful beast, chewing her cud and enjoying the feast, defying the law for her corn and wheat; romping, at large through every street; hunting, bowing, nosing around till the open front gate is sure to be found—with hinges broke and ruined quite, by lovers who hung there Sunday night; it won't stay shut, it won't hang level; so in goes the cow and raises the devil.

Capt. John E. Scott, after 13 years, has been granted the D.S.C. for saving the lives of an entire American regiment. He is on the Washington, D. C. police force.

Willow creek, Dave Herrin, however, still claims the belt for having the biggest and best arranged sheep barn in the country. Let the work go on. The more protection our lambs are given the smaller the loss.

Wallace Smead is looking after the warehouse during the absence of Mr. Fell.

A big dance was given out on Black Horse at the residence of Jas. and Burney Doherty last Friday night. Some of our town folks were there, and we are informed that the big brother of one young lady went out and brought her back, leaving her escort to come back alone.

At a special session of our town council last Thursday evening, that body passed the new saloon license, providing for payment quarterly but requiring bonds for a year's license. The ordinance also provides for a transfer of license.

St. Bennet is a free man again on condition that he goes away from Heppner and does not return. This is the result of trouble last week in which St. Bennet and Joe Grebbel became involved. Three citizens of Heppner made affidavit that they considered Bennet a dangerous man, hence his arrest, but instead of having him placed under bonds to keep the peace, was asked to leave by the authorities, to which he consented. The less rowing one does, the better they are off.

Marion and Jefferson Evans, who live northeast of Lexington, were up from their ranches Tuesday. They are sowing 200 acres of wheat for next season's crop, besides 25 acres of fall oats. Their last crop of oats, 26 acres, yielded 1,181 bushels, and 380 acres of wheat, oats and barley piled up to the amount made here seven years ago with $30, of 10,106 bushels. Marion Evans a cayuse, but insists that he had no rope; has struggled along under adverse circumstances, but now finds himself with good ranches and considerable money ahead. The rustler always gets there.

The lime has also proved beneficial to root crops.

Ontario Malheur farmers growing Baby Lima beans are finding that it is best to delay irrigation of the crop as long as possible without injury to the plants.
