Official Paper for Morrow County.

THE GREATEST MAN OF HIS TIME.

SIXTY years ago a young telegraph operator named Thomas A. Edison invented a method of sending messages in both directions at once on a telegraph wire.

He began experimenting with other electrical inventions, and before the Centennial of 1876 his name was a household word all over the world.

The great electrical wizard's serious illness at 84 has again focused the eyes of the world upon him.

WAGES AND DIVIDENDS.

IT IS A MOST significant sign of the times that the directors of the United States Steel Corporation, confronted with diminishing profits, elected to make their stockholders instead of their employees stand part of the loss.

Sunday School Lesson

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR AUGUST 23

A GOSPEL FOR ALL MEN Acts 11:15-18

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Here is a lesson with an unusual amount of action. The Bible is far from being a dull book.

Cornelius is a Roman centurion who had found the emptiness of the Roman mythology for purposes of religion and had developed faith in Jehovah as the only God.

Now Peter was a devout Hebrew as well as a growing Christian. National customs were part of his very life.

When Peter preached the full gospel as it is in Jesus Christ there was a renewal of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, as on the day of Pentecost.

ing expenses by reducing wages. On the whole, however, wage scales have been maintained throughout the business depression in a way that clearly indicates that any degree of prosperity depends upon the purchasing power of the common people.

We do not know how much Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., actually has to do with the management of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, but we hope that he will use his influence to restore the wages paid by that company to the former scale, as he has been petitioned to do.

SUMMER FIRST AID

The day's outing for Mamma and the kiddies... Over on the creek four miles west. Shade and grass; trees and flowers; and—emergencies. Red Cross Day too—for Mamma. She should be prepared, wisely.

For there's Bob, he just will drive and he's on the sunny side of the Ford; gets sunburn on the left ear, till it looks like a wheat cake right off the griddle.

Then Junior, always an explorer, picks up a locust thorn in his most prominent muscle—it penetrates half an inch.

And Charlie, fond of butterflies, gets stung on the upper lip by a new species that she finds buzzing over the horse-mint bloom.

Little Mary insists on carrying the lunch basket many times too heavy for her—trips over a bump—takes off a section of epidermis from one fat knee.

Tom, the profound, none too energetic and peppy—picks up at least a pint of chiggers—and they ALL depend on MAMMA for first aid. All run to Mamma when in distress.

On that day's outing take along a kit containing: (1) scissors; (2) a roll of clean adhesive plaster; (3) a bottle of mercurochrome; (4) clean muslin or gauze for bandages; (5) a splinter forcep; (6) a bottle of carbolated vaseline; a can of antiseptic dusting powder. Don't rely on liquid vegetable antiseptics—most of them are powerless for killing germs.

If a cut finger, let it bleed for awhile; then pour mercurochrome into the cut and around it. Dry quickly and apply adhesive plaster to close the wound. Treat "skinned" abrasions much the same, except carbolated vaseline on gauze next to the wound.

For the thorn in Junior's flesh—pull it out with splinter forcep; soak the puncture with mercurochrome; cover with adhesive. Treat the chiggers and sunburn at home. Carbolic soap and cold cream applied freely. Watch this column for next.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

MARY A. NOTSON, Reporter.

The following was addressed to the American people: "This government, the offspring of your own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and support.

Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of liberty. The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government. BUT THE CONSTITUTION WHICH AT ANY TIME EXISTS WILL CHANGED BY THE EXPLICIT AND AUTHENTIC ACT OF THE WHOLE PEOPLE UPON ALL. The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government. All obstructions to the execution of the laws, all combinations and associations, under whatever plausible character, with real design to direct, control, counteract, or awe the regular deliberation and action of the constituted authorities, are destructive of this fundamental principle, and of fatal tendency.

In view of the above statement, which is undoubtedly a true statement of the rights and duties of citizens as respects the constitution and the laws, who can doubt that the forces working for the destruction of the federal constitution and the amendment to the state constitution are wholly within their rights to offer measures for the repeal of those amendments, but that they are wholly in the wrong in their methods when they base their plea for repeal of the amendments upon the ground that they can not be enforced. If these wet agitators will take the attitude of good citizens and obey the constitution and the laws as long as the same are in effect, then they may consistently move for the repeal if they think the amendments and laws are wrong. But, if they obeyed the injunction above set forth, very few doubt that the amendments and the dry laws would prove to be the correct method of dealing with the liquor question. It ill behooves those who violate the laws, making of themselves criminals under the law, to claim the right to change the constitution and laws because they do not intend to obey them.

The statement quoted above was not written by any fanatical dry, but was written by one whose interest in the welfare of his country was paramount and at a time when he could have nothing ulterior in his heart or mind. It was written by George Washington and is a part of his farewell address.

Optimistic Outlook Seen In Farm Market Advance

Further improvement in the egg and poultry situation and signs of the turn toward better conditions in the dairy and sheep industries are seen in the annual summer outlook report of the college extension service just issued.

Prices for eggs and chickens, although still low compared to recent years, have made strong seasonal advance during the past few weeks. Fewer hens are in prospect to go into laying houses this fall, and demand is expected to increase as business conditions improve.

As to the dairy industry, the report says, "The outlook appears to be on the side of moderate improvement." Some increase in demand is expected, but production is likely to continue relatively heavy for some time. Figures are given showing that dairymen have been saving fewer heifer calves and that the rapid increase in the number of milk cows on farms has probably been checked.

Record marketings of sheep and lambs are being made this year and conditions indicate that sheep numbers will be further reduced in this country and abroad. Demand is expected to increase as business conditions improve. The report points out that world-wide conditions of supply and demand affect wool prices in this country and consequently have a bearing on the sheep and wool outlook in Oregon. North America has but 8 per cent of the world's sheep.

Wanted—300 sheep, 4 years old or younger. State kind and lowest cash price. Chas. Benefield, Irrigon, 23-25p.
